WEST WEBSTER.

H. DeBrunner is threshing for Ole Erickson. A heavy rain visited this section Saturday night. Elzy Pierpoint will hold his closing out sale soon. J. Gharst sold a load of hogs to E. E. Harvey last Saturday. Henry Stiefel sold a load of hogs to N. E. Harvey Tuesday. J. M. Burgess and son called at Elmer Harvey's Sunday. Everybody is attending the street fair in Riverton this week. Ole Bergman and wife were shopping in Campbell Monday. John Mattison threshed 70 acres of wheat which yielded 2140 bushels. Mrs. Emma Harvey attended the society at Otto Skjelver's last Thursday. C. L. Herrick has closed out his cattle business and entered the matrimonial circles. Mrs. Bergman was visiting in Riverton at the home of her daughter, the first of the week. Cyrus Hannum has returned from the western part of the state, where he went to purchase land.

WALNUT CREEK

A number of our people attended the street fair at Riverton. T. F. Jones sold a driving horse to Chauncey Miller a few days ago. Ed Jones and H. Vanderburg have gone to the eastern part of the state. A heavy rain Tuesday night. The creek is overflowing and much alfalfa will be ruined. Frank Vandike is slowly improving. A number of his kind neighbors cultivated his corn. Joe Holcomb is in Clay Center, where they have a good track, and he is training his trotter. Mrs. G. N. Blankenbaker will take a trip to Oregon, where she will visit her mother and other relatives, and stop at Portland to attend the exposition. Last week as they finished stacking alfalfa for Mr. Sutton, H. Vanderburg and Alfred Coulson attempted to ride to the ground on the stacker when the arm of the stacker broke, letting them down with such force that both were insensible for a short time.

GUIDE ROCK.

How We Catch Cold.

The rationale of the causation of the ordinary "cold" is pretty well understood at the present day, and it is generally conceded that when circulatory disturbances or vital depression is produced as the result of localized or general chilling of the body surface newly entered or already present pathogenic bacteria are enabled to attack the body with very good chances of success. At such times it is said that the powers of resistance are below par, and consequently the bacteria gain an easy victory. This point was illustrated in telling fashion by Durck, who found that rabbits infected with pneumococci developed pneumonia if they were subjected to severe cold, whereas unchilled control animals survived.—Medical Record.
