GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

GUIDE ROCK

(From the Signal.)

Already a baseball game between lean and fat Odd Fellows is being planned for the I. O. O. F. picnic here this fall. Other interesting features will be announced later.

The families of Henry Oberheida, George McCall, Walter Oberheida, Max Euder and William Vonderfecht, held a reunion at Mr. Oberheida's Wednesday, in honor of C. Starke and wife, of Milwaukee.

Miss Cora Simpson expects to depart for Foochow, China, about September 1, where she will be connected with the Liangau hospital. Miss Simpson has chosen a noble life-work and the Signal wishes her unbounded success.

SMITH CENTER

(From the Messenger)

A six-year-old daughter of John Sells, southeast of town, while coasting down hill in a little wagon, fell and broke her arm Tuesday.

Schoolmams are already placing applications for schools for the coming winter. Smith county is reported as being short at least twenty teachers.

James Makinson, an old settler near Cedar, died Thursday of this week from injuries received from falling from the roof of a house a few weeks ago.

A funnel shaped cloud was seen by a number of people in the northeast country last Sunday. It appeared to be in the Cora neighborhood, but no one has been found yet who saw it at close range.

SUPERIOR

(From the Express.)

A loss of $15,060 at Mt. Clare Tuesday, lightning striking the Aabal store and then communicating to other buildings.

Someone has been poisoning dogs, and J. S. Galbreth has offered a reward of $50 for the apprehension of the guilty party. Galbreth, R. W. Hunter and L. Goodhue have lost dogs the past week by poisoning.

G. E. Rice, who lives in the Sweet house in the Lost creek bend, had quite an exciting time Sunday morning with high water. The flood came down in a wall several feet high and completely surrounded the house, the rabbits, chickens and cats of the neighborhood taking refuge on his porch.

LEBANON.

(From the Argus.)

Twin girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. John Dudley, Monday evening.

Frank Shook returned from Kansas City the first of the week, where he has been for some time for medical treatment.

As Ben Franklin and family were returning home Sunday, his team became frightened and broke the tongue from the buggy and returned to town. Ben followed them up, borrowed a wagon and finished the trip home. No one hurt.

As Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter and their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Oren Van Dusen, were driving home from Downs Friday, their carriage was overturned by being backed over an embankment, horses, carriage and occupants being piled up together. Van Dusen suffered a fracture of two ribs, the others escaped with a few bruises.

FRANKLIN

(From the Sentinel.)

Quite a laugh was caused among the postoffice clerks recently by receipt of a letter addressed to H. G. Law Book.

Watson Chitwood, one of the group who went west on the Hildreth automobile excursion, returned on the train Monday morning with a game foot. In attempting to board the auto his foot slipped and was sprained.

RIVERTON

(From the Review.)

Dan Smith has a black eye, which is also skinned to some extent. In telling his friends how it happened, he said, "I got hit with a hyball."

Last Friday evening about a dozen young men of this place volunteered to polish the basket ball grounds. The entire grounds were cleaned with shovels.

Ralph Johnson, eldest son of A. P. Johnson, who has not been in this locality for fourteen years, arrived the fore part of the week for a visit with his father.

Last Saturday Sam Conner appeared on the streets without any whiskers on his chin—we hardly knew him at first. This is the first time Sam has been without his chin whiskers for more than forty years, having had them shaved off the last time at Mobile, Alabama, in 1865.

MANKATO

(From the Monitor)

Just as we go to press a letter from Fred Beeler conveys the sad news of the death of Walter Scott in New Mexico. Mr. Scott was a pioneer of the Limestone country and one of its most prominent citizens.

Clifford Brinkworth, a boy about thirteen years old, son of T. H. Brinkworth, who lives north of Ionia, met with a painful accident Tuesday. Jumping from the hay rope in the barn to a pile of hay, his foot turned in such a manner as to dislocate the joint and also break the bones above the ankle, the bone protruding through the skin. Dr. Reynolds was called and took the little fellow to Burr Oak for medical assistance. At last reports it was not decided whether an amputation of the foot would be necessary or not.

BLADEN

(From the Enterprise)

Miss Isadore Payne had the misfortune of having a ladder fall on her, striking her in the back and laying her up for a day or two.

Last week H. B. Boyd purchased the quarter section of land belonging to the Harding estate, which has been farmed several years by Jonas Williams, the purchase price being $1200.

Tuesday of this week a deal was made whereby the firm of Wright, Whelan Bros. & King, take possession of the large stock of farm implements, buggies, engines and well and windmill stock of R. C. Chevalier.

Last Friday as Messrs Lindquest and Anderson were at work on Mrs. Marker's barn, the scaffold gave way. Mr. Anderson saved himself from falling, but Mr. Lindquest only got hold with one hand and could not hold himself, and fell to the ground about 12 feet below, and got badly bruised on one hip and is not yet able to walk.

CAMPBELL

(From the Citizen.)

Z. Boudreau, who has been here visiting his son Leonel and family, left for his home in Missoula, Mont., Tuesday morning.

Three candidates for hospital treatment went down to Omaha Monday. Mrs. George Worley, Emile Delmars, and Alice Riber.

A. J. Gaudreault, whom the boys call "Chos," left for a two-weeks vacation Tuesday, which will be spent at Saratoga, Wyo., near the haunt of the mountain trout.

THE BAY HORSE.

An Old Arab Legend That Tells of His Unmatched Speed.

The bay colored horse is said to be the swiftest of all the horses. A story to illustrate this is told of a certain Arab sheik who, having been engaged in a fight with another tribe, was taking his flight with his little son.

They were both mounted on a magnificent white mare which belonged to the sheik and which had always been highly valued on account of the great speed at which it could go. After having ridden some little distance the sheik asked his son to look around and see if they were being followed. The boy replied that there was some one riding after them on a black horse. The sheik seemed satisfied on hearing this report, but presently repeated his question. The boy answered that they were still being pursued, but that this time the horse was white. "Never mind," said the father; "mine is faster."

In a few minutes he asked for a further report, and the reply was the same, with the difference that the horse was a chestnut. The sheik, however, put his question a fourth time, but upon being told by his son that the pursuer was mounted on a bay he cried out, "Then we are lost, for there is no horse which it cannot overtake." His words proved to be true, for in a short time they were caught up with and captured.

LEATHER BOUND BOOKS.

A Little Vaseline Improves and Preserves the Binding.

An official of the Congressional library was talking with a friend who recently had purchased a handsome set of leather bound volumes and said: "You had better examine those volumes carefully to see if the leather needs feeding. If it is new stock they will be all right let alone for several years, but if they have been on the shelves for some time the leather will have lost most of its natural oil and become brittle. This applies especially to books kept in private houses, which are as a rule much hotter than the book stacks of a large library. There is nothing more attractive than a fresh, well preserved leather binding on a volume and scarcely anything less so than a dilapidated, cracked one.

"You can add years to the life of a leather binding and a hundred per cent to its appearance by rubbing in a little vaseline with a piece of raw cotton—not too much, just as much as the leather will thoroughly absorb. Where the binding bends is where it is most likely to crack. The leather will not be greasy, as the vaseline will be absorbed. One treatment every year or two is sufficient unless the books are unduly exposed to heat."—Washington Star.
