

Newsy Notes From Neighboring Towns

GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGE

GUIDE ROCK.

(From the Signal.)

Carlos Largent sold a team of mules this week to Tremour Cone of Wahoo for the nice little sum of $350.

A few months ago H. F. Cobbe brought a consignment of hogs to town which netted him about $1,000. Wednesday morning he brought in another lot which netted him a little better than $500.

Word came this week that the youngest son of H. D. Fishburn was dangerously sick in Denver hospital with typhoid fever. Mrs. Fishburn and another son from Burr Oak, Kan., departed at once to attend the bedside.

BLADEN

(From the Enterprise.)

An accident that came near resulting in the death of Ellis Crom happened to him in the H. Gund & Co. elevator Wednesday. Mr. Crom was up oiling the shafting when his clothing caught on a set-screw. The force was so great that his clothing was wound around the shaft and he was lifted and whirled around and around the shaft until he caught hold of a projecting beam and held himself. Persons hearing his cries ran over and stopped the engine and it was found necessary to cut his clothing from his body to remove him from the shafting. Curious to relate, except a badly bruised arm and a few minor bruises on the body, he was not hurt. It was a close shave to death, however.

LEBANON.

(From the Argus.)

In setting the glass in the new jewelry store one of the two large plate glass was broken.

Lightning struck and demolished a chimney on Harve Dunton's residence Wednesday night.

A part of the east wall on the Skillin building was thrown down Tuesday night, breaking off the water pipe and flooding the basement.

Eleven of the sixteen Farmer phone lines were burned out Wednesday night. Forty fuses on the Exchange line were burnt out the same night.

During the storm of Wednesday night lightning struck the barn belonging to Dr. Henry Dykes, burning the building and a part of the contents.

August 23, 1857, in the state of Wisconsin, occurred a wedding in which Mr. Thomas Burgess was the groom and Miss Lydia Schermerhorn was the bride. This marriage notice would be considerably out of date were it not for the fact that the couple still live, their home being in South Lebanon, and celebrated their golden wedding Friday of last week.

FRANKLIN

(From the Sentinel.)

The fine big red automobile seen on our streets reunion week belongs to the father of Photographer Brown. It cost $3,000.

The drayman hauled a whole dry load of scientific apparatus over to the schoolhouse Saturday (eight big boxes) which have been purchased for our laboratory.

By an overwhelming majority the people of Franklin by Monday's election voted in favor of municipal water works. The vote "for" was a landslide exceeding the fondest expectations of those who had labored hard to bring about the desired result.

Karl Spence, editor of the Bladen Enterprise, attended the reunion in his father's automobile. Now if we were as mean as Frank Lantz of the Telescope we would further inform our readers that he came to see his best girl; but we won't do that.

RIVERTON

(From the Review.)

E. T. Rasmussen was on the sick list the fore part of the week, but is able to be about again.

Eliza Pierpoint returned the latter part of last week from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, with a bride. Mr. Pierpoint was married Aug. 13 to Miss Varnes.

A wave of civic pride struck Riverton early Tuesday morning and until nearly noon "The man with the hoe" was abroad and active. Likewise the man with scythe and rake.

Just after the reunion at Franklin we noticed Geo. Conner with two black eyes, and Isaac Sherdson with one. Just what they bumped up against is more than we catell, but it was strong, whatever it is.

Harry Banks came into the Review office the other day and informed us that he was going to build an ark and he wanted us to pray to enter it at the proper time. Had he expected a flood.

BLUE HILL

(From the Lier.)

The B. & M. depot this place is undergoing much needed repairs.

E. Montgomery, who came out from Paterson N. J. several weeks ago, sold his farm Monday to T. Nichols, receiving the neat sum of $10,000 for it.

During the rain Tuesday night lightning struck a barn owned by Dave Waderman, living seven miles southwest of town. He had it filled the barn with hay; this at some grain was destroyed, and lucky no stock was in the barn or they would have probably been burned. The loss will total about $1,000, which is partially covered by insurance.

BLOOMINGTON

(From the Advocate)

There were four Holms autos in town last Monday at one time.

Yesterday for a short time, Cross thought his wife was going to collect his life insurance. He was in the laboratory of his shop filling a little lamp with alcohol when in some manner the can exploded in his hand, scattering fire all over the room and throwing the can across the room.

SUPERIOR

(From the Express.)

The Hennings Produce Co. have completed their building for the poultry-dressing department of their egg plant.

The First National bank corner apparently is not a good place to leave a bicycle, as there have been five wheels stolen from there in the past few years. Tuesday B. F. Vail left his bicycle there and it came up missing, but he found it next day at the house of young man across the lower bridge who owned up to taking it.

Miss Ina Gittings is home from Lak Chautauqua, N. Y., where she was at instructor in the physical training department.

It is one of the peculiar characteristics of the human family, men and women, to delight in witnessing hazardous exhibitions of daring skill and expertness, exploits in which chuckling death is disappointed and grim destiny is defied by human nerve and science. In the arena program of the Gollmar Brothers' Greatest of America Shows this season prominence has been given to a series of specialties which will prove of thrilling interest to every circus goer. Marvelously astounding is the work of the Flying Nelsons, the great European family of aerial acrobats, engaged by the Gollmar Bros. direct from the world famed Circo Russe, St. Petersburg, Russia. These wonderful people appear for the first time in America, introducing an act so replete with sensation, thrill and spectacular effect as to put entirely out of question any effort of would-be imitators to duplicate their exploits. They are more than past masters in the art of aerial exercise, and their long distance flights, 60 feet in mid air, passing each other in vaults, demi-vaults, pirouettes and twisters, with the grace and precision of winged creatures, charms the eye and delights the senses. These Nelsons are wonders and their act the acme of artistic performance, but there is a diversified repertoire of feats, exploits, deeds and acts in equestrianism, acrobaticism, gymnastic and athletic sports in arena and hippodrome, which marks the Greatest of America Shows as the most complete traveling amusement enterprise in the world today. The great circus, museum, hippodrome and $1,000,000 menagerie comes to Red Cloud next Wednesday, two performances daily, doors open 1 and 7 p. m. Grand, gold glittering and glorious free street parade 10 a. m. Don't fail to see it.

A REWARD OF FAITH.

The Story of a Church Twice Struck by Lightning.

A congregation in a hilly district in Ohio, says the Youth's Companion, bought a small tract of land and erected a church building upon it. Then the question of insurance came up. Mr. Sipes, the wealthiest member, who had contributed more than half the money needed for the new structure, declared that he did not believe in insurance. "This is the Lord's building. He'll take care of it," he said.

His view prevailed, and there was no insurance. In a few weeks the building was struck by lightning and almost totally consumed by fire. Another one was erected, Mr. Sipes contributing the greater portion of the fund as before. This time the demand was almost unanimous that it be insured, but Mr. Sipes again objected on the same ground.

"If it burn down again, brethren," he said, "I'll agree to rebuild it myself."

Again he carried his point. In less than a month the new church was struck by lightning again, and although strenuous efforts were made to save it, the loss was almost total.

"There must be some reason for this, brethren," said Brother Sipes. "I am going to find out what it is."

Thereupon he employed a force of men to sink a shaft on the site of the twice destroyed church. Within a few days a rich vein of ore was found, and the church property was sold for many times the amount needed to buy land in another locality and build again.

"I tell you, brethren," said Brother Sipes, "it pays to trust the Lord. He's a great deal better business manager than anybody in this congregation."

OLD CARLSBAD.

In Ancient Times the Cure Was Somewhat Violent.

Carlsbad, that fashionable resort in Bohemia, is a very ancient cure place. It has held a royal charter from Kaiser Carl IV, since 1401. History has it that it was the mighty leap from rocky heights to the depths below of a hunted deer pursued by the hounds of Kaiser Carl IV, that led to the discovery of the Sprudel spring and that the deer hunting emperor was the founder of the health resort to which he gave his name.

Originally the Carlsbad cure and the mode of life there, a mode which remained in fashion for at least two centuries, consisted solely in the use of the baths. This, however, was so energetic that we children of the twentieth century are overcome by a feeling of admiration for the doctors who ordered such cures and still greater honor for the patients who could undergo them, for the bath treatment was so severe that it was not inaptly called the "hauffresser," or skin eater. It was only about the year 1500 that Dr. Payer, the town physician of Elbogen, near by, ordered the Carlsbad water to be drunk as a cure. Quoting from the publications of the period and Dr. Payer's remarks:

"I have said that this water must be drunk, and as hitherto it was not usually employed for drinking, but only for bathing, this will appear new to many." The quantity of the water prescribed was in handsome proportion to the "skin eater"—twenty, forty and up to sixty cups of a morning regularly.—Town and Country.

A Cardboard Planet.

One remarkable achievement of Sir William Herschel was in connection with the planet Saturn. He had arranged to erect his telescope at Windsor castle to enable Queen Charlotte and the ladies of the court to see the wonders of the ringed planet, but on the evening arranged for the observation great banks of clouds covered the sky. However, he explained that that would not matter, and after the instrument had been carefully directed the queen and her attendants looked through it and saw the great planet and its marvelous rings quite distinctly. Herschel, it seems, had expected bad weather and during the day had made a cardboard model of the Saturnian system and erected it in the grounds a lamp at the back providing the necessary illumination.—Westminster Gazette.

He Wasn't a Gormand.

That wary old fellow, Baillie Macduff, was enticed into a friend's house the other night, and his host managed to win 50 shillings from him at "nap." What is more remarkable, when the baillie had parted with his last shilling he rose, full of wrath.

"Won't you stay to supper?" pressed his host. "We have a fine bit of ham waiting."

"No, not I. Dae ye think I eat 50 shillings' worth of ham?"—London Answers.

Our Language.

"He's the coming man."
"Yes; he's one of the best fellows going."—Baltimore American.

The great republic shall live as long as the poorest citizen freely expresses his personal and political opinion, and no longer.—Baltimore American.
