

Newsy Notes From Neighboring Towns

GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

BLADEN

(From the Enterprise.)

Rev. O. G. Ponath, the new Methodist minister, arrived last evening with his emigrant car containing his household goods, and will take up his residence in the parsonage today.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kaufman departed Thursday morning on an extended visit in Ohio and Tennessee, where they will visit the scenes of their childhood and at the homes of a number of relatives.

J. A. Wolf moved into the property recently purchased by him from Mrs. Miriam Wheeler, just north of the G. A. R. hall, Wednesday. The property owned by Mr. Wolf south of the track, will be occupied by Dr. Brown, the dentist, and family, in a few days.

P. H. Sailor this week purchased a half interest in the general merchandise stock known as the Corner Store, from Charles Copley, who recently purchased the stock from A. F. Davis, and will at once actively engage in the business. Mr. Sailor is an old time merchant of Bladen, having been engaged in business before the town was moved up on the hill from what was then known as Fickleville.

BLOOMINGTON

(From the Advocate.)

J. Rittenour, of Red Cloud, was in the city yesterday.

W. A. Cole is getting ready to build a 16x32 two-story addition to his house.

The town has been full of people the past week, drawn here by district court.

Attorneys B. McNary and E. U. Overman, of Red Cloud, were up this week attending court.

Rev. C. S. Cole left this morning for Nora, Nebr., where he has been appointed pastor of that charge.

Last Friday night Rev. Joel Warner was installed as regular pastor of the Presbyterian church at this place.

W. O. Rankin, the barber, moved his family to Arapahoe the first of the week, where he has a position in one of the barber shops.

Jim Wintersteen, the old reliable solicitor for the State Journal, was in town last Wednesday, and as usual unworked a few new jokes.

Miss Bertha Bauer returned from her summer visit with her sister in Wyoming, last Saturday night, and has taken her old place in the telephone office.

M. D. Griffin went to market last Wednesday with a few loads of fat cattle, and when he returns he will go out to Colorado to purchase a lot more that he will put into his feed lots.

BLUE HILL.

(From the Leader.)

Dr. Asher came up from Red Cloud Friday.

E. T. Foe, of Cowles, was in Blue Hill a few hours last.

Mrs. Tabor, of Red Cloud, was here last week and the first of this week visiting her son, O. W., who accompanied her home Tuesday.

P. T. Martin, who has been filling the pulpit at the Christian church the past year, will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday evening, and will then take up a charge at Guide Rock.

Wm. F. Arndt has moved his stock of general merchandise into the Jacob Goll building recently occupied by T. A. McDonald. Mr. Goll has just finished quite extensive improvements on the interior of the store, necessitated by the recent fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Claus Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Bisking returned the first of the week from Germany. They spent several months in that country, which is their old home, visiting many places which still remained familiar in their minds, and spent a pleasant time with relatives who reside there, and renewing old friendships.

A change has been made in the pulpit of the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. Taylor, who has had charge of it, going to the north part of the state, and Rev. T. C. Priestly, of Cowles, taking his place. Rev. Taylor resided at Roseland, having charge of the two pulpits, but Rev. Priestly will take up his residence in Blue Hill, and will occupy the parsonage.

Four companies of soldiers, A, B, C and D, of the 7th Cavalry, numbering about 200, were camped in Blue Hill Tuesday night on their way to Hastings to be in attendance at the Frontier festivities. The soldiers will engage in a siam battle there each day with the Indians. They expect to return through here again some time the fore part of next week on their way to their station, Fort Riley, Kans.

CAMPBELL

(From the Citizen.)

Dick Rippen went to Red Cloud, Monday, on a matter of business.

Gold, it is claimed, has been discovered on the farm of J. W. Stansbury, near Deweese.

Mrs. J. E. Fish, who has been visiting relatives at Guide Rock for a couple of weeks, came home Saturday.

William Koch and family arrived safely at Campbell, Tuesday evening, having completed the long journey from Russia. They have relatives here and expect to make their home in this vicinity.

Gus Olsen, who left a week ago for Excelsior Springs, Mo., in company with his sister-in-law, Mrs. William Pierson and his mother, Mrs. Mary Olsen, of Red Cloud, returned home Saturday. His mother remains in Missouri for the present.

FRANKLIN

(From the Sentinel.)

Mrs. Blackledge, the wife of Webster county's county attorney, enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Perry Hildreth's home Saturday.

Elias Williams, the son of S. H. Williams of this city, took his promotion last week in Lincoln to a splendid position in the city ticket office of the R. I.

A car of freight containing goods for this town and another down the pike not very far away, was stopped at the latter burg for unloading. That evening while it was standing on the side track to be pulled up here the next morning, divers wise ones "smelled a mice" and succeeded in purloining from it one barrel of beer, one case of beer, one box of whiskey and two cases of canned goods.

Once more the morning flyer No. 11 just barely missed catching a team and driver on Wednesday last. Only the quick action of the engineer in applying the emergency brake saved the lives of the two occupants of the wagon, Mr. P. Becker and a small boy. The flyer was late and was going at a high rate of speed. Had it not almost stopped within the train's length a terrible accident would have been the result.

GUIDE ROCK.

(From the Signal.)

Friends received word from Mrs. Georgia Warner, who is taking treatment at an Omaha hospital, stating that she is getting along very nicely.

A team belonging to Fred Farmer furnished excitement for a few minutes Monday morning while galloping about over town without a driver.

We forgot to mention last week the sale of the Holmgren farm south of the river to Thomas Simms, of Mt. Clare. Consideration, $5,500. The Colvin real estate agency effected the sale.

LEBANON.

(From the Argus.)

A freight train was tied up in Lebanon nearly all day Friday. The crew had had their sixteen hours work and were taking the eight hours rest.

A horse buyer took out a fine load of horses the first of the week, paying as high as $200. It has not been long since it was predicted that horses would never sell as high as $100 again.

We noticed a Smith county man at work on his pasture fence the first of the week who was using an automobile as a means of conveyance. This notice printed a few years ago as what would probably take place in a few years would have been thought improbable.

The income to farmers in this vicinity from the sale of alfalfa seed this fall and winter will amount to thousands of dollars. The dry weather of last summer, extending into fall, caused the plant to seed heavily and nearly every farmer will have seed to spare.

(From the Times.)

Hull & Brady are remodeling their furniture store building this week. This will greatly help the appearance of the store and give them more room.

The high school football team has arranged for games with the Red Cloud, Belleville and Smith Center high school teams. The first game at home will probably be with Belleville November 2d. Here's hopin' they win 'em all.

Ex-Probate Judge C. S. Aldrich and wife recently returned from a visit lasting over a month to their former homes in Ohio and southern Michigan.

The farmers' institute will be held here October 16th and 17th. An excellent program has been prepared and some able speakers will be present.

Henry Weber, of the north part of the county, recently bought eighty acres of grass land adjoining his farm, which makes him 480 acres all in a body. He already has one hundred head of cattle on his ranch and expects to get some more.

The First National bank is making some substantial improvements this week. They have a force of men at work putting in a steel lining to their vault which has the time combination attachment and also an alarm that will nearly awaken the dead when touched off.

Cas and Frank Mahin have brought suit against the Rock Island railway asking $1,500.50 damages. The Mahins were out in Colorado about a year ago, where they bought up a carload of horses and shipped them to Kensington. The station agent at Burlington told them the car was there ready for loading, but when they got the horses in the car was not there, and a storm coming up, the horses were in the yard there without feed for five days. The case will come up for hearing in the next term of the district court.
