Sheldon Tells of Convention.
Lincoln, June 21.—Governor Sheldon is home from the Chicago convention. He says the convention was one of the best he ever attended. Asked what reason he had to give for not being selected for second place on the national ticket, the governor said:
"The biggest reason, I guess, is because I did not get enough votes." Then, when a reporter asked him to be remembered that he was more than an executive, and explained he did very well but he was not a candidate for the place.

Philosopher in a Cyclone.
"I believe in optimism," said the cheerful citizen, "but there is a limit even to that. I saw a man the other day whose house had been carried away by a cyclone, and he was the most cheerful citizen in town. 'Why,' I said, 'I thought you had lost your house?'" "I did lose it," he replied, "but that was nobody in it but me at the time, and that wasn't a hair of my head hurt.
The cyclone lifted the house high, all but the ground floor where I was sleeping, and it fell on my head, and I killed nobody but my own head. That was a sad accident, anyhow, I can't imagine the insurance on it, and I wouldn't put up a building, and of the whole thing, I don't know who knows the best, but I would be glad to see the fellow who had a cyclone in case of need."—Atlanta Constitution.

Dream Troubles.
"Once when I was blue," said a dream man, "a fellow told me I was suffering from imaginary troubles. He cheered me up with a yarn about his little nephew. This little fellow's sister said one morning:
"Oh, Gussie, I had such a lovely dream last night! I dreamed I was at a cake shop, and I had such loads of good things—ice cream, pie, strawberry shortcake, chocolate, jelly, mincepies, and lots of other things besides." "The little boy's eyes glistened. He smiled with delight.
"And what was I eating?" he asked curiously.
"Oh, you wasn't there, Gussie!"
"Then, overwhelmed with sorrow, little Gussie hid his face in his hands and wept bitterly."
