Letters received by friends and relatives in this city from the boys who joined the Third Nebraska regiment indicate that the boys would rather be in Red Cloud than where they are at.
The water commissioner should see to it that the fire plugs are cleaned out regularly. The experience of the boys at the fire last Tuesday evening was a stream of thin mud when the water was turned on.
We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home for many years and bear cheerful testimony to its value as a medicine which should be in every family. In coughs and colds we have found it to be efficacious and in croup and whooping cough in children we deem it indispensable.—H. P. RITTER, 4127 Fairfax Ave., St. Louis, Mo. For Sale by H. E. Grice.
Rev. F. W. Dean started Monday morning on a trip to points in the eastern part of the state. Next Sabbath his pulpit will be filled by Rev. F. W. Leavitt, a former classmate of his at Doane college, and now connected with the Andover Theological Seminary. Mr. Dean will visit his mother at Crete and take in the exposition while away.

While returning from the depot last Sunday evening in his top buggy, Len Aultz had the misfortune to collide with Ed Smith who was going to the depot, with the result of having his buggy slightly smashed, but luckily no one was hurt.
A small boy with a match, who wanted to see the "blazes" set fire to J. C. Myers' barn last Tuesday evening. An alarm was turned in and the department responded promptly, and soon had the flames under control. The barn and other outbuildings, together with their contents, were practically destroyed.
A very pleasant wedding occurred at the home of Mr. Henry Kessler, the popular salesman at Miner Bros., the contracting parties being a sister Miss Ella Kessler and Mr. James Moore of Mount Morris, Illinois, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fitz. The happy couple left on the morning train for their home in Illinois.
There is one thing which people going to fires with buggies and wagons should remember, and that is not to drive over the hose, as the sharp tire of the wheels will cut the best of hose. At some recent fire this trick was done, and as a consequence one of the hose carts will be short fifty feet of hose, it being cut through and thus rendered useless. This hose costs one dollar a foot, or fifty dollars a length, and parties driving over it and destroying it should be made to pay for it.
About one month ago my child which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under its care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it should soon obtain relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. BOGGS, Stumptown, Gilmer county, W. Va. For sale by H. E. Grice.
Parties representing both sides of the late Guide Rock unpleasantness were in the city yesterday to attend the assault and battery case in Porter's court as a result of the melee. The complaint not having been signed by a proper officer as sworn to before him was objected to by defense and objection overruled by the justice and a change of venue was then taken by defense to Justice Yeiser's court. Later defendants were arrested on a warrant issued out of Judge Duffly's court and served by the sheriff charging them with riot, by entering store of plaintiff and unlawfully using violence against his person. The latter case coming before Judge Duffy was laid over by request of defendant's lawyer for the reason that they were already under custody of an officer on the former charge. The hearing on the last warrant will come up on Monday, August 29. J. S. Gilham appears for defense and E. U. Overman for plaintiffs. While little is positively known of the case here, sympathy appears to be on the side of the defense.

Perhaps you have made up your mind to take

this summer.
Then look for this picture on the wrapper, a man with a big fish on his back.
Do not let anyone talk to you of something "just as good."
When you want cod liver oil and the hypophosphites you want the very best. You will find them in only one place, Scott's Emulsion.
There is no other emulsion like it; none other does the same work; and no other has the same record of cures.
All Druggists, 50c. and $1.

The Boston Bloomers base ball club played a game against a picked-up nine in this city last Friday afternoon. The weather which was quite disagreeable, being dusty and windy, had no terrors for the throng who wended their way to the grounds located in Outwaite's pasture, to see the dainty damsels of the diamond chase the floating spheroid over the gently undulating prairie. A grand stand and wall canvas to enclose the grounds, which the bloomer club carries with them, had been erected, and to tell the truth the grounds presented a very cityfied appearance. The bloomer girls however were the center of attraction, not certainly on account of their good looks for they were all evidently hid behind the door when the good looks were given out—and also shapes. From the tall slim one with the long flowing locks which gathered Nebraska's fertile soil among them, to the midget with the short curly hair who looked like she had been pushed through a brush heap backwards, they all presented pretty much the same appearance in their red striped bloomer suits, which, when the wind happened to catch just right, would fill up and make them present the appearance of a stuffed toad or an inflated lady at a dime museum. But they showed the crowd of spectators that they knew something about the essential part of base ball, and that they could kick as hard as the average man. This was especially true of the him-catcher who came with the bloomers, and from whom the kicks came numerous and strong, and to which the umpire paid very little attention. At the last half of the ninth inning the score stood two to four in favor of the bloomers, and the Red Cloud boys at bat. After two more scores had been made, making the game a tie and only one out, the him-catcher of the she-male club proceeded in the usual mode to kick up a row and get mad, and vow and declare that he would not play any more unless he got justice from the umpire, but we guess he was afraid the boys would make another run and hurt the reputation of the bloomers—if they had any. In about a minute matters had assumed an American-Spanish aspect, and every she-male in short pants had her favorite weapon, anything from a hat-pin to a base ball bat, and was ready for the fray. Luckily cooler heads persuaded them to shut up, and the the bloomers together with the him-catcher, were finally loaded into the back and started for their special car at the depot, all so mad that the breath was coming in short pants, like a dog on a hot day. The bloomers went from here to Superior where they played on Saturday, returning Sunday and going to Blue Hill where they played on Monday.

Card of Thanks.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deiderich wish to thank the friends and neighbors for the good services and acts of kindness shown during the sickness and death of their infant son.

A special to the Chicago Tribune under date of August 13th, from Arcola, Illinois, says: "That the corn crop in central Illinois will fall far short of the average yield is now a foregone conclusion. A careful inspection of the condition of the crop in a large portion of Champaign, Douglas, Coles, Moultrie and Edgar counties shows a most radical decrease in the yield. The long drought in the early part of the season is mainly accountable for the shortage, and this, coupled with the ravages of the chinch bugs, has aided materially in decreasing the yield. Hundreds of acres of Indian corn all over this district is a complete loss from the fact that there are no ears on the stalks. Large sections of Moultrie county will fall short of the land rent from the grain produced. A large amount of the corn in this section has grown about thirty inches in height, tassled, and with no sign of an ear. It is the general opinion among farmers as well as other sources of authority that the yield in this district this year will be one-half short of the usual crop."
