"Pride Goeth Before a Fall."

Some proud people think they have strong constitutions, and ridicule the idea of disease. Such people neglect their health, let the blood run down, and their stomach, kidneys and liver become deranged.

Don't be foolish about your health. Use Hood's Sarsaparilla and you will prevent the fall and save your pride.

Scrofulous Hip Disease - "My boy Willie had scrofulous hip disease from a baby. Abscesses developed. Months at the hospital, with best treatment, did no good. They said he would never walk again. He was helpless and wasted away to nothing but skin and bone. Hood's Sarsaparilla had helped me, and I gave it to him. Imagine my delight at a wonderful change. Abscesses all healed, crutches thrown away. He is now tall and stout, perfectly well and the thanks are all due to Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other mothers with crippled children should know this." Mrs. EMMA V. DEER, Watpole, Mass.

Nervousness - "I was weak, nervous and very delicate, staggered in attempting to walk. Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills made me well. I feel like another person." Mrs. LIZZIE STERNBERG, Condit Street, Ext., Annapolis, Md.

Dyspepsia - "We all use Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cured my brother-in-law and myself of dyspepsia. I owe my life to it." M. H. Kink, 607 Franklin St., Philadelphia.

AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

"When the cat's away, the mice will play." Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed had not been away from Washington twenty-four hours before an active agitation was begun by members of his party in an effort to prevent his being re-elected speaker of the house. This has become an old story in Washington, although there appears to be more life in the present movement than in any one of its previous predecessors. It is most positively stated by the agitators that the administration wishes Mr. Reed defeated, because of the manner in which he treated the administration measures in the last congress, some of which were entirely bung up and none of which went through as originally intended, and that if there is any show of defeating him, it will openly throw its influence against him. That is a very big "if." There are lots of men in his party who would do the very same thing, except for that if, but who do not care to antagonize him, unless sure they could beat him. There are reasons which cause veteran observers on congressional matters to think that if Mr. Reed wishes the leadership again, nothing can prevent his getting it—the report that he will not take it is again revived. Chief among these reasons is that all the chairmen of important committees in the last house, among whom are the shrewdest and most influential men in public life, will support Mr. Reed's candidacy, because, by his election, they will be sure to get the same places in the next house. No man in public has a stronger personality than Mr. Reed; that is admitted by his friends and enemies alike. He lost popularity during the last congress by getting on the unpopular side of every important measure that came before the body, and probably destroyed whatever chance he may have had to become a presidential candidate, but a much stronger combination than there is now any sign of will have to be formed before his domination of his party in the house can be broken.

There are wide differences of opinion among members of his own party, concerning statements made by representative Cannon of Illinois, about the defeat of legislation authorizing the construction of the Nicaragua canal. Mr. Cannon thinks the house deserves credit for knocking out that legislation and providing for spending a million dollars on another engineer commission, before the last commission had even completed its full report in favor of the Nicaragua route. Others do not and among those others is said to be the president. Here is another point upon which others do not agree with Mr. Cannon: "The United States cannot afford to enter upon this great work, until it has acquired by a treaty a zone of territory whereon to construct the same." Lawyers of reputation have stated on the floor of the senate and the house that no such treaty was necessary. The lobbyists who actually did prevent useful canal legislation are doubtless pleased at Mr. Cannon's effort to relieve them of the responsibility and place it upon his party, but other members of his party are vigorously objecting.

An official of the navy department said of a new batch of yellow yarns about the "terrible" condition of Admiral Dewey's health, "While it is not likely that a man of Dewey's age—almost 62—and physique could remain in tropical waters so long as he has been there without showing signs of the effects of the climate, not to mention the nervous strain he has been under since the first day of May, I have no fear of his remaining in Manila Bay until he breaks down. He is there now simply because he wishes to be, as for months he has had official permission to start for home at any time he wished to do so. He is too level headed to strain his strength too far. You can set it down as certain that his physical condition is not as bad as the yellows have painted it."

Gen. Fitz Lee's withdrawal of his name as a candidate for the senate was no surprise to the Virginia politicians who frequent Washington. They say it has been evident for some time that General Lee would cut no figure in the senatorial campaign, and that Senator Martin would be his own successor.

An official statement prepared at the war department gives the total number of deaths in our army from May 1st, 1898 to February 29, 1899, at 5,731. Of these 329 were killed in action, 125 died of wounds, and 5,217 died of disease, etc.

Now that the president and vice president and their wives have gone to Thomasville, Ga., as the guests of Senator Hanna, it may be said that the capital of the United has been temporarily removed to Crackerdom. How long the presidential party will remain in Dixie will depend upon public business. The war department is expecting important news from the Philippines, and its nature may determine the length of the president's vacation.

Sugar Beet Growers, Attention.
A large acreage of sugar beets will be grown in the Platte Valley, from Waterloo to Schuyler, along the Union Pacific railway, especially in the vicinity of Fremont, Ames and North Bend. The Standard Cattle Company will grow 2,000 acres of beets, and is erecting a number of houses to let at a small rental to tenants with families, who can work in the fields. Experienced European beet workers, and others, will find employment anywhere in the district above mentioned. Address Standard Beet Sugar Co., Agricultural Department, Ames, Neb.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs this disease of dangerous consequences. Sold by H. E. Grice.

Examination Notice.

Regular examinations for persons desiring to teach in Webster county are held in the superintendent's office at Red Cloud, the third Saturday in each month.

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

Catarrh is one of the most obstinate diseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of.

There is but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhaling mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. P. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes:

"I could see no improvement whatever, though I was constantly treated with sprays and washes, and different inhaling remedies. In fact, I could feel that each winter I was worse than the year previous. Finally it was brought to my notice that Catarrh was a blood disease, and after thinking over the matter, I saw it was unreasonable to expect to be cured by remedies which only reached the surface. I then decided to try S. S. S., and after a few bottles were used, I noticed a perceptible improvement. Continuing the remedy, the disease was forced out of my system, and a complete cure was the result. I advise all who have this dreadful disease to abandon their local treatment, which has never done them any good, and take S. S. S., a remedy that can reach the disease and cure it."

To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood remedy, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases, which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most aggravated cases.
