

Get Up!

Get Up!

That's what our nicka alarm clocks say to you, and you must be deaf if you are not awakened by the noise they make. We have a handy little fellow we call the "devil." If you don't respond to his first call, it calls again, and keeps calling until you are on your feet. Just the thing for the sound sleeper and early riser. Works early or late. Asleep or awake a timely friend.

Killed by the Cars
H. B. Matthews, one of the old residents of this county, who is about 73 years of age, was killed by the cars in the B. & M. yards here on last Sunday morning about nine o'clock. He was accompanied by his little grand-daughter at the time he was killed and was in the yards picking up coal. The switch engine had gone out to the west end of the yards and picked up a stock car and it was upon their return that he was struck. A train which was getting ready to pull out for the west was on a track south of the one on which the fatal accident happened and an engine was backing down this track to hook on to the train. It is supposed that the old gentleman was watching the engine and did not notice the approaching switch engine and car. He was standing on the north side of the track and apparently when the car was within a short distance of him had stepped on the track for the purpose of crossing. Two switchmen were on the southeast corner of the end of the car and although when they saw him they called to him, and tried to apprise him of his danger, it was too late. He was struck on the right side of the head by the corner of the car and was thrown about fifteen feet. Beside the injury on the right side of the head there was another on the left and his back was broken and his death was instantaneous. The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury:
STATE OF NEBRASKA, Webster County.
At an inquest holden at Red Cloud in the county of Webster, on the first day of October, 1899, before me, J. W. Warren, coroner of said county, upon the dead body of H. B. Matthews here lying dead by the jurors whose names are hereto subscribed, the said jurors upon their oaths do say: That H. B. Matthews came to his death by being struck by a moving stock car attached to the switch engine in the B. & M. R. freight yards at Red Cloud, Nebraska, which was accidental and no blame is attached on the part of anyone.

LOCALLY.
We see by the Guide Rock Signal that Mert Adamson was in that section last week, and that everyone is well pleased with the republican candidate for sheriff. The same story comes from every locality which the young man visits. To tell the truth Mert is a first class man and learned while with the First Nebraska regiment that when he starts after anything he is not supposed to stop until he gets it. The boys of the First Nebraska have a reputation for defeating the Tagals and the Webster county contingent will no doubt keep up the reputation of the regiment and by November 7th the Tagal horde of Webster county will be on the run.

Corporal Robt. G. Douglas of Co. A, First Nebraska Volunteers, will address the people of Webster county upon the issues of the day from a republican standpoint. His subject will be "Imperialism and Life in the Philippines." His dates in this county will be as follows: Blue Hill, October 10th in the evening; Bladen, October 11th, afternoon; Cowles, October 12th, afternoon; Guide Rock, October 13th, evening; Red Cloud, October 14th, afternoon.

Mrs. Gertie Baker, wife of Jesse J. Baker, died at her home in this city on Thursday, October 5th, after an illness of three months. The funeral obsequies were conducted from the residence this (Friday) afternoon at 3:30 conducted by Rev. G. W. Hummell, and the remains were laid at rest in the Red Cloud cemetery. Deceased leaves a husband, one small child and a host of friends to mourn her loss. The bereaved husband has the sympathy of our entire community.

District court has been in session in this city this week, but owing to the long and continued hours it is being held we have been unable to get hold of the docket long enough to secure a list of the cases disposed of. Judge Beall is evidently trying to clean up the docket so the next judge, R. L. Keester, will have smooth sailing.

OSTEOPATHY,
At Red Cloud, Nebraska.
The Science of Healing Without Drugs.
The theory on which the Science of Osteopathy is founded, is that if every part of the bony structure is in place, and the passage of the nerves and blood vessels is unobstructed, so that every part of the body is receiving its proper nerve and blood supply, the physical body will perform its work correctly and the condition known as health results.
On the other hand if any part of the bony structure or its muscular attachments become dislocated, misplaced or malformed, so that a nerve or blood vessel is partially or fully obstructed, the condition known as disease will appear in the part which should be supplied or drained by the nerve or blood vessel involved.
"Osteopathy is the work of a skilled mechanic on the most complicated of machines."
Osteopathic treatment is scientific, requiring no faith, no drugs, no surgical operation. It is purely a study of mechanism and function combined with a system of scientific manipulation.
Osteopathy is applied Physiology.
