ALMOST FORGOTTEN.

Incidents of Every Day Life Which Very Few People Stop to Think About on Account of Their Littleness.

This paper does not want to be eternally kicking, and has in the past tried to discourage this trait in others, but the elements seem to be against our keeping still.—We like mud and lots of it, as we remember we used to wade in it when a barefoot kid just to see it ooze up between our toes.—So we haven't any aversion to it and hence have no personal kick coming.—But there are others.—Other people do not like to walk in the mud, and as a matter of business for ourself and those who are in business on the east side of the street, we wish to register a kick in regard to ladies and others having to wade through the mud where the walk is gone in front of the two vacant lots north of this office.—We do not wish to lay a straw in the way of a new enterprise, but enterprise or no enterprise, the business men on the east side of the street should not be compelled to lose business on account of citizens not caring to soil their footwear by walking through the mud on rainy days.—This condition of affairs is likely to exist all summer and perhaps until fall, and though the building which may go up there would repay us for all the inconvenience we have had to put up with, it may not bring us back the patronage which has gone to other channels.—The city did the heroic act after the first kick was made and put down a single board in three lengths, which are in place when dry but seldom when it rains.—Did you ever see two persons try to cross at the same time on a twelve inch plank?—It can be done but it would be kind of awkward in the chance meeting of two ladies who do not speak as they pass by and a gentleman and lady.—It is a kind of a hug waltz step which can only be accomplished with much dexterity.—This is not a hint to the boys to stand at the end of the walk until some girl comes along in order to "embrace" this golden opportunity.—But to resume from our digression.—If the same condition of affairs existed on the west side what a roar of indignation would go up.—We haven't any city dads or mayor in business on our side of the street, but we've got an institution that can "holler" when they give us mud and then try to rub it in.—We don't believe it is the city's place to bear the burden, but it's their place to see that the proper parties look after the matter.—It was good muddy weather Tuesday to plant trees and from the number that were taken away from the depot that day it would indicate that the time is coming when few lots in the city or farms in the country but what will be well supplied.—It's real mean of a conductor to put a man off a train down by the coal sheds on a dark and rainy night.—But then he shouldn't be asleep and fail to hear the brake call his home station.—Then again he should study the topography of the ground and surroundings of his home city and wear an electric light in his neck-tie.—If he uses all these precautions he will not find all the mud-holes in the streets and fall off the sidewalk so many times.—One man who passed through this experience the first of the week will probably take our advice in the future.—There are other little matters of advice we might give but will not do so at this time.—Considerable comment has been made both good and ill of the article in last week's paper headed "Gossiping People."—There was a line of thought in that article as read by credibly disposed people which will work out much good if followed.—Take for instance a young lady who is full of spirit and believes in having a good time.—She meets a young married man with whom she is acquainted and as they pass along the street they engage in some topic of conversation that causes them to seem to be gay, mirthful and having a good time.—The lynx-eyed gossip notices, takes a sniff at the spring-laden air that makes youth smile, and says to herself, "too familiar."—The rest of 'em know it by the next sunrise in garbled and grotesque form and the

Dr PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

Dr. Price's Baking Powder supplies a pure, wholesome leavening agent, which makes the biscuit and cake of highest healthfulness at medium cost and protects the food from alum, which is the greatest dietary danger of the day.

The foremost baking powder in all the world.

PRICE BAKING POWDER CO. CHICAGO.

NOTE.—Alum baking powders are low priced, as alum costs but two cents a pound; but alum is a corrosive poison and it renders the baking powder dangerous to use in food.

last one who speaks of it on that day says, "Oh how positively shocking, did you hear of that disgraceful Miss—who was hugging Mr.—a horrid married man on the street?"—A once happy home is blasted and the doors of "so-called" society are turned against her.—When you read this don't say that "feller" who runs the Chief called us old cats, but take a lesson, "for some day you may have children of your own."—We understand that several of our residents have promised a chromo to the party who wrote that article.—The writer has no use for chromos but is very fond of flowers and bouquets will be very thankfully received as tokens of appreciation.—But let's talk on a subject that is new.—Let's talk opera house.—Let's get down to business.—Let's think there is one paper in town which will battle for an enterprise or an uplifting of the community without weighing the matter to see if the golden shekels, on account of what he says, are going to come to his door or be turned away.—Let's build a playhouse and build up a town or else see those of our business men who believe in progression go to Oklahoma.—On last week Monday the Cutler-Batton Company appeared in the city for a one week engagement and on their opening night did not show on account of the fact as one of the ladies put it, "there was too much water on the stage caused by the downpour of the day before, and as there was no seaside play in their repertoire they were not provided with the necessary raiment—bathing suits."—Their billing but advance advertising was poor.—They were a nice lot of people.—The weather was unfavorable during their stay and they had good houses, staying here until Thursday morning of this week.—This shows conclusively that this city is a good show town.—With a nice, neat ground floor opera house it could be made a better one.—In one act of a play last week one of the actors came onto the stage and standing before the scene representing a house, said, "What a nice home I've got, why should I leave it?"—The situation was painful and drew tears from the audience.—How can an actor do justice to himself and the audience when he has to stand before a piece of scenery and say such words, when the pretty home looks as if a cyclone had struck it and someone had finished the scene of desolation by throwing a bucket of butter-milk over the structure.—What realism is there when actors have to put up with such makeshifts?—The time for school commencement is coming on apace and the children who graduate will have to put up with the inconvenience and stifling heat of the old opera house.—The citizens should accord to these girls and boys a better place in which to hold their graduating exercises.—On Memorial day many noted speakers will be here from abroad and a large crowd is expected to be present from different parts of the state.—Where are you going to give them entertainment?—The way out of these problems in the future is to build an opera house or auditorium.

"The fact that I am a good musician" said a lady from a country village, "was the means of saving my life during the flood which swept away a great part of our town a few years ago." "How was that?" asked the young lady who sang, becoming intensely interested all at once. "When the water struck our house my husband got on the folding bed and floated down stream until he was rescued." "And what did you do?" "Why, I accompanied him on the piano."

The fishing season is almost here and it would probably be a good plan for some people to use the utmost care in selecting their rods and get one that will bear out their stories.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.
