A Good Record.

In 1872 the losses by theft, &c., of local freight on the Union Pacific frightened thereat. Going to a railroad, 1,032 miles in length, amounted to only $680.25. The sale of recovered stolen property and unclaimed goods amounted to $680.34, leaving a balance of nine cents in favor of the company. This department is under J. F. Gillin, the Union Pacific detective, and the above record reflects great credit upon himself, and is one of which he may well be proud. Besides he has now in his office $700 worth of recovered and unclaimed goods awaiting sale. It is a fact that the Union Pacific suffered less by theft last year than any other road in the country.

The gentlemanly employes of the St. Joe road, both in Omaha and along the line, furnish the BEE with many interesting news items, and tor their kindness they have our thanks. Two or three days ago we published one, entitled "Stop that Train; or, the Troubles of a Traveler." The St. Joe Herald copies it. and with the customary courtesy, gave credit to the BEE for it, while the St. Joe Gazette republishes it, word for word, as original with that paper. He read the query in my face at once, And said, "I now buy all my hats of Bunce I there can get both coarse and face, And save in buying every time; Childrens gloves I there did see, And piles to fit both you and me.

He understands the trade clear through, And makes old hats look good as new; Preparing furs is in his line— He suits the ladies every time; My wife buys all her furs of Bunce, For all speak well who go there once."
