The Temperance League.

To the Temperance Citizens of Omaha in mass me, ting assembled: Your committee appointed ... the mass meeting held at the Lutheran Church on the 23d inst., to present a plan of operation for the temperance citizens of Omaha, would respectfully report and recommend the following plan, to-wit: The organization of a Central Association to be called the Omaha Temperance League. The membership of said League to consist of one delegate from each church (without regard to creed). Sunday or day school, and each Fraternal and other society in the city of Omaha taking an interest in the objects of said organization. Said delegates to be elected for the term of one year. Said organization to elect officers and adopt a constitution and by-laws for its government with no unnecessary "red tape."

Your committee deeming it important to avoid merely a spasmodic effort to correct the great evils arising from the use of intoxicating drinks and seeking to secure permanent and continuous effort would recommend that said league, representing that all temperance people, have for its main objects the securing of signatures to a pledge, the reformation of the intemperate, the organization of sub-societies, the opening and maintaining of free reading-rooms, coffee and tea rooms and the publication and circulation of temperance literature.

We would especially urge the im-portance of labor among the youth of our city, and the organization of "bands of hope" in our Sunday and day schools.

Your committee recommend in case these views meet with the approval of this meeting, that a committee of five be appointed to invite churches, Sunday and day schools, and societies to appoint delegates for the purposes above stated.

Respectfully, WATSON B. SMITH, W. A. LIPE. EMLEN LEWIS. OMAHA, March 28, 1874.

An Unsuccessful Attempt at Poi-

Sunday afternoon two men, who wanted is get rid of a dog owned by one of them, took a canine to the bottoms for the purpose of posoning him. Arriving at a certain spot they threw to the animal a piece of meat stuffed with strychnine. The dog devoured it with great voracity, and then looked up fleasantly, as if it said, "Thank you; have you got any more?" The dog didn't die, but kept skipping around as lively, if not livelier, than ever. The two men came to the conclusion that the canine either possessed a cast-iron stomach, or else the strychnine was not of firstclass quality. They started for home, followed by the dog. Happening to pass by a Union Pacific freight car, the idea of sending the dog west to let him grow up with the coutry, struck one of them. Opening the door the two men put him inside, shut the door again, and proceeded to their homes. The dog is now probably on his way to the
