President Pine made a farewell speech, which was listened to with deep attention.

Resolutions were then passed by the society thanking him and the other officers for their services.

The lecture by Col. Smythe, entitled "What about our men," was a very creditable effort on the part of this gentleman, who won the admiration and frequent applause of the audience by his practical thoughts, expressed in beautiful and eloquent language. The lecturer maintained that man has degenerated within the last century. He compared the men of to-day with the men of twenty or thirty years his injuries attended to. Two Jealous Lovers Meet and Fight It Out!

A Free Fight between the Friends of Each Follows, and a Young Man has his Jaw Fractured by a Brick.

A young lady living near the Government corral in this city, has for some time past been the centre of attraction for two young men named James Tuttle and T. Garvey. Both were assiduous in their attentions, and each imagined that he had the inside track, but never-The following are the arrivals at | theless there arose between the two a deep hatred and a heart-gnawing John Burgess, Davenport; A H jealousy. Wednesday night, affairs were brought to a climax. The lovers, by agreement, met each other on Capitol Hill, back of the High School, Gentry, Hannibal Mo; Mrs A H each being accompanied by his Connell, do; D H Thomas and fam- friends. A ring was formed, and the principals stepped in and went at it a la Allen and Hogan. Several rounds were fought, there being no intermission between rounds, however. Blows were given and received right lively, until at last the fight assumed a rough-and-tumble character, when Garvey kicked Tuttle way below the belt, knocking the wind out of him, and winning the fight.

Tuttle was somewhat injured by the kick, and will probably have to walk a little lame for a few days. But the worst feature of this affair was the free fight that followed almost immediately between some of the friends of Tuttle and Garvey. It lasted for some time, and was red-hot, several eyes being quickly draped in mourning. It did not end until a young man named E. Hansen, an employe of Sweezy & Cuthbertson's livery stable, and who was an innocent party to the affair, had his jaw fractured in two places, on the right side, by being struck with a brick, thrown, it is said by James Grace. Hansen was immediately assisted to the office of Dr. Coffman, to have bound up the fractures by bandage, and a ligature around the teeth. The injuries sustained by Hansen are quite serious, and it will be sometime before he fully recovers from this brick-bat bombard-

This unexpected result should be lesson to these foolish young men, who have not been freed from the parental apron strings any too long. They may be somewhat chagrined to learn that the girl, about whom they fought, doesn't care a continental snap of her finger for either one of

TO MARRY OR NOT TO MARRY.

That's the Question With Gustave Berquist.

The mind of Gustave Berquist is greatly agitated on the question, "to marry or not to marry." It seems that about five months ago, after having won the affections of twenty-one year old maiden, he took advantage of her faith in his honor, and led her astray, as it is claimed, by the old, old confidence game. The victim of misplaced confidence appeared before Justice Henny a few days ago, and made complaint against her faithless lover, charging him with seduction and bastardy. The warrant was placed in the hands of officer Stein, who went to Dadge county, whither Berquist had removed, and, arresting him, yesterday brought him before Justice Henny, by whom he was examined. The prisoner was very obstinate, and refused to either settle for his indiscretion, or to marry the girl. In default of $2,000 bail for his appearance at the next term of the District Court, he was sent to jail to reflect upon the matter of choosing between two evils-matrimony or the penitentiary. His friends advise him to choose the lesser evil, namely, the penitentiary, but his sense of honor will very likely induce him to marry the girl.
