THE classic village of Lone Tree has been suffering from an overabundance of duliness, and their wide-awake Courier favors us with the following lucid explanation:

The quiet appearance of our streets for a few days past, may be at-tributed in some degree to the presence in town of two or three lightning rod men and a canvasser for a "family paper."

THE rapacity of the middleman and the oppressed and down trodden Granger, is vividly portrayed by the Brownville Advertiser, in the following graphic comments: "Butter last week was 35 cents per pound. O, the poor granger! Potntoes $2 a bushel. Dear, dear, what will become of us poor farmers-such prices for produce! Dog gone the middle men anyhow-if we could drive them all out of town, and on to farms, then we wouldn't to compelled to sell our butter at 25 cents to $5 cents, We could have the fun of eating it ourselves, and middle men could make their own butter,"

Enocked Down!

A remarkable fact can be ascertained by investigating our stock and prices that we have reduced to a very low figure all of our clothing and the price of any other house. Overcoats in particular can be bought of us now at least 25 per cent. less than our former prices. Quick sales and small profits is our motto.

viding for the appropriation of a commission to investigate a report on a plan for reclaiming the alluvial basen of the Mississippi; referred to the committee on levees. The legislative appropriation bill was then taken up.

Mr. Morrill explained that the bill was in harmony with the general reduction of expenses, having less extraneous matters than such bills ordinarily do. A bill to regulate the diplomatic and consular system amending an act of August 18th, 1856, was passed.

The legislative appropriation bill was then read and the amendments of the committee were agreed to. Mr. Sherman moved to strike out provisions that no internal revenue guager shall receive a compensation greater than $5; agreed to. The amendment of the committee increasing the appropriation for the purchase of official postage stamps, for the treasury, from five thousand dollars to two hundred thousand dollars, was agreed to.

Mr. Sherman moved an amendment authorizing the Secretary of Agreed to.

HOUSE.

Under a call of states a number of bills were introduced and referred, including one by Mr. Cessna, fixing the first Tuesday after the first Monday, as the date for the election in 1874. A motion made by Kasson several days ago to suspend rules and pass a bill to attend the three and pass a bill to attend the three per cent. temporary loan act of the 12th of June, 1870, and provide for a more equitable distribution of the National Gurrency; it came up for action and was on motion of Mr. Kasson it was allowed to stand over for another week. Under a suspension of the rules Mr. Hayes moved to pass the bill authorizing the President to furnish a supply of rations to sufferers on the Tombigbe, Alabama, and Warrigo rivers. Mr. Willard suggested, including the sufferers of the flood in Massachusetta, Mr. Hayes declined to include, and the bill passed, 141 to 68. The House currency bill with the Senate substitute was taken from the table and referred to the committee on banking and currency. On motion of E. R. Hoar under a suspension of the rules the amendment to the postoffice bill, making postage on agricultural reports not o exceed ten cents, was in order. House bills were introduced by Butler (Mass.) for the creation of a court of adjudication and disposition of the Geneva award; ordered printed and recommitted.

By Starkweather, to secure an anti-monopoly ocean cable between Furope Asia and America.

By Mr. Meyers, for the establish-ment of an American iron steamship mail service between the Unit-ed States and England. Mr. Poland moved the appointment of a special committee of five to proceed to Arkansas and inquire into the disturbances and ascertain whether the State has a republican form of government. The resolution was rejected. A motion by Mr. Ward, to suspend the rules and pass the bill giv-ing bounties to the heirs of soldiers who served less than a year during the war, and died or were killed by eason of such service, was rejected.

Further Details Concerning the Bursting of the Reservoir in Hampshire County, Massachusetts.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 17. The lowest possible estimate of the loss of life-made this afternoon—is one hundred and seventyfive, and many think that the num-ber cannot be less than two hun-dred. One hundred and fifty-seven mutilated corpses have already been recovered, and no one can tell how many more are concealed in the debris, which covers hundreds of acres of meadow land on either side of the river. The financial loss is certainly not less than one million, five hundred thousand dollars, and may even reach two millions. Millions of acres of meadow land that was worth two hundred dollars per acre before the flood, is to-day considered worthless, being covered with land and rocks at least two feet deep. No services were held at the different churches to-day, and everything hereabouts presents a deserted appearance. It seems that the entire population of Hampshire, Hampton, and Franklin counties had emptied themselves into roads leading to the scene of devastation, so great is the crowd arriving, and at least five thousand teams and blockaded the road. Everything betokens gloom and sadness, long funcral processions, and great wagons loaded with coffins, wagons piled with bridge timbers, and groups of men with hooks and tools in their hands in search of said, have been considered by the dead, fill the streets. The devastation at Williamsburg was complete. The mighty torrent rushed through the heart of the village; 53 lives were lost. The people are besieging the authorities to open a gate of the other reservoir for fear it would also burst, but as it has been pronounced perfectly safe the request was not complied with.

Notices were posted to-day stating that the firm would beday stating that the firm would be-gin re-building to-morrow, and would furnish employment for all. Fifteen other buildings, mostly cheap tenements, were destroyed. The safe of the Saving's Bank was found in the river to-day a few rods below, but has not yet been opened. The report that it contained a large sum in cash is unfounded.

The devastation at Leeds is indescribable. Only three houses on describable. Only three houses on the east side of the river remain in their original position. The fron bridge was carried away from this point. The water poured down, making the doomed village bear the full force of the besom of destruction. Five dead bodies were recovered to day, one man, two women and two children. They were swent down from Haydenville. were swept down from Haydenville, and were moved to the houses of
