charged. -Rev. J. F. Jordan will lectured at the Court House last evening at 8 o'clock, on "The emancipation of the colored people of The British West India Islands." -The Odd Fellows had my time at Bellevue yesterday. The pie-nic excursion train left for that place about half-past eight o'clock. The Union Pacific band accompanied the excursionists.

-Allen's beautiful drug store has been further ornamented by the addition of an elegant perfumery case, and a mirror writing desk, both corresponding in splendor with the rest of the fixtures. -The Union Pacific Band played excellently on their way to the depot yesterday, to take the Odd Fellows' excursion train for Bellevue. The members of this band seem to have greatly improved in their playing. -Capt. Donald McKay, Dr. W. C. McKay and their Warm Spring Indians left for Pittsburg and Washington yesterday. Their entertain-ments here were not a financial success, as Indians are not a novelty in Omaha. Those two horny-fisted sons of toil, Judge Dudley and St. A. D. Balcombe, were observed to enter the theater together last evening, arm in arm. A news boy remarked that "Major Balcombe wanted to find out what kind of soup the Warm Spring Indians | referred."

Reed called at the BEE office, and it Jel6-4t CLARK, PARSONS & Co. was evident that he was a fullgrown man. Mr. Reed was red-hot at being called a boy. It appears that he made the complaint in behalf of the youth who was assaulted, and hence the their celebration, can do so by paying $20 to S. J. Cutler, Treasurer of Council.

-Two of the finest pairs of elkorns ever seen in this country are attracting considerable attention at Julius Meyer's Indian Wigwam. One of them is quite a natural cu-

The Fourth of July. As yet there have been no angements made to celebrate the Fourth of July, in this city, and the probability is that our national oirthday, will be more like a Sunday than anything else, and as the Fourth omes on Saturday, this will give us two Sundays in a week, which are nore than we can stand. In the name of the patriotic, freedom loving people of Omaha, we rise and indignantly ask, why is this thusly? Is the spirit of 1776 dying out, or is it lying quiescent in order to gain strength for the general looming up of the centennial in 1876? Are we too poor to hire a brass band, and buy some cheap fireworks?

Are we not going to give our gasbags-at least those who have not been engaged by the grangers-a chance to relieve themselves of their spread-eagle stereotype oratorical efforts?

Are we to have no balloon ascen sion? Are we not going to give Pierce an opportunity to break his neck for $371 by a tight-rope performance?

Is this, our glorious national holiday, only to be observed by Young America, who will invest his last cent in firecrackers, torpedoes, lemonade and ice-cream?

These are the questions that have been prompted by the general lethargy of our citizens on this matter and the only conclusion now is that Omaha will be as dull as a Sunday on the Fourth. The Granger pic-nic, will attract the majority of the political wire-pullers to sylvan retreats during the day, while the Emmett Monument Association picnic at Bellevue will draw the Irish citizens to that suburb.

This will leave the city in the hands of the Americans and Germans, who will spend the day in drinking the health of the Goddess of Liberty, with their national beverages-whisky and beer.

What will the American Eagle, with one wing bathed in the Atlantic, the other touching the Pacific, with his tail dipped in the Gulf of Mexico, and his bill in the northern lakes, and one eye squinting on Omaha think of this indifference to the nation's natal day?

The Philharmonic Society.

BY OUR MUSICAL CRITIC. The annual meeting of this socitakes place this evening, at Meyer's Hall, at half-past seven, at which time the election of officers to serve the ensuing year will also be held. We trust that on this occasion a full attendance of both the active and subscribing members of the society may be depended upon, for whilst we have been compelled on several occasions, in the discharge of our duty as a public journalist, to animadvert upon the performances given by this body, we utterly disclaim, in the performance of that ungrateful task, any personal or unfriendly feelings toward it. On the contrary, we shall, in the future, as we think we have endeaved to do in the past, contribute our share toward the support and maintainance, upon a proper basis, of any musical enterprise in our midst. The fact is patent to all, that notwithstanding a liberal subscription and enthusiastic support Mefflin, St Paul; G P Farnsworth, on the part of the public, the first season of the Philharmonic closed Macon, Mo; E L Jones, Iowa; JF ingloriously, and with the expres-Corwin, Ft Dodge; G W Holmes, sion of a feeting that the Society had not done so well as it might have done, had wiser and more practical counsels prevailed; in fact Mrs James Ferry, Elkhorn; E that there was some radical defect Tillistor, Blair, E Matthews, Chica- in the management as to the selection of pieces to be presented to the public, which called for a change, in many respects, to enable our "Philharmonic" to rank favorably with similar organizations in neighboring States. Prominent, amongs other objections, is the one, that a preponderance of instrumental music has been produced at each concert given in the first series. To many professionals and others who have the means and time cultivate and improve their taste for that branch of art, this argument would seem almost frivolous, whilst to the mass of patrons of the Philharmonic Society of Omaha, whose musical experience is not so extended and whose taste requires moulding and direction, the obstacle is insuperable. A compromise in this respect may be easily effected without trenching upon the rights of either probably no more fitting time to inaugurate a new reign of harmony than at the meeting this evening. We have always had the habit of calling things by their proper name. We cannot subscribe, herefore, to that obliquity of both sight and hearing, which claims for a deplorable flasco, the verdict of a brilliant success. There is unquestionably in this city abundant material for the sucessful operation of a good musical ociety, and we can see no sound eason why the interests of such an organization, conducted on conservative principles, should either languish or be allowed to expire within the limit of one short year. We believe that the meeting this evening at Meyer's Hall will show by its action, that our Philharmonic Society is not composed of that material which requires any given quantity of stick candy to sooth its lacerated feelings; but will go to work in good earnest and by its proficiency as a musical society places itself at the head of that "band of brothers whose humanizing influence is felt and acknowledged throughout the civilized

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

The voters of our nation,
As ne'er was known before,
Are rising from Pacific's strand
To Atlantic's rocky shore.
Why is the mighty change?
What can the meaning be?
The rising of the masses
From northern lake to southern sea.

The spirit of old seventy-six
From out our heroes' gra-es
Forbids a nation drenched in patriots'
Should sink to that of alaves;
The motto which our coins once bore,
Though obsolete long since,
Remain as ever true; not one cent for to
But millions for defense.

In trade we'll try to deal,
As man should deal with man,
And wh'le we seek to live ourse'ves,
We'll sell as cheep as anyhody can,
And if a hat you need,
Or frient you chance to meet,

Party ties and party laws
Are but as ropes of sand.
The right of man to be a man
Should govern Freedom's land.
Then shall our Flag more proudly float
O'er land as well as sea,
And nations yet unborn shall gladly greet
The emblem of the free.
