MIDNIGHT.

Specially Reported for the Omaha Daily Bee by the Atlantic Pacific Telegraph Co.

Washington, June 21.

The river and harbor, and sundry civil appropriation bills, will be ready for the House to-morrow at the opening hour. The latter bill has been very much loaded down with amendments, and amend-ments have also been made to the river and harbor bill, which will certainly be struck out. Both bills will go to the committee of conference, and there is so much in them that will be the subject of controversy, that it is scarcely probable that they can be finally acted on before late on Monday night or Tuesday morning.

in relation to the circuit courts in the State of Alabama, and after a lengthy discussion it was passed.

The Senate then, at 3:30 a. m. Sunday, having been in continuous session sixteen hours and a half, adjourned until 11 a. m, to-day. About 2 o'clock this afternoon dozen or more persons congregated on E street near the Western Union Telegraph office to witness a duel between George H. Butler, late Consul to Egypt, and Gen. Green. A public thoroughfare would appear to be a strange place to fight a duel, but both parties seemed to be in earnest. Pistols were loaded and were about to be handed to the principals by their seconds, when Green declined to proceed further with the proceedings, alleging that it was too dark for him to shoot. It is rumored that the duel will yet event-

Strong doubts are expressed to-night by those in position, to know as to the probability of the Presi-dent signing the currency bill. The friends of the bill in both Houses, however are sanguine in their be-lief that the President will sign the

The President called at Senator Jones' residence this afternoon and the two were closeted for over two hours in private consultation.

The knowledge of this fact has given rise to a rumor that the President is acting on the advice of Mr. ones, and will not sign the bill.
It is said that Judge Holt, Judge Advocate General, to whom the President referred the findings in the Howard Court of Inquiry for review, has returned the same fairly isms and comments. It is stated on good authority late to-night, that the President will consider that it is a measure for the expansion of currency, and although he objects to that part which disturbes the reserves he does not think he would be justified under the circumstances in withholding

The general appropriation bill was finally passed last night, appropriat-ing $500,000 for the subsistence of the Apaches in Arizona and New Mexico-a sum which is one-third too small for their service. The de-partment will be somewhat embar-rassed by this action.

In the House Saturday evening, Mr. Dawes, chairman of the ways and means committee, presented the new currency bill as agreed on proceeded to explain it. He regretted that the report did not con-tain a provision, as did the first conference report, for specie resump-tion, or for the retirement under any circumstances of any portion of the government issue. He regret-the government issue. He regret-ted exceedingly that it had been impossible to bring the Houses to-gether on any such agreement. The committee, however, felt that in fixing the maximum issue of greenbacks, something was gained though two committees and two houses had been unable to regulate the matter, which the public faith seemed to demand, and which seemed easy. It therefore fixed the maximum at $382,000,000, and reseemed easy. It therefore nied the maximum at $382,000,000, and required it to be kept in pirculation instead of having part of it a reserve in the treasury, or drawn in as if on some tramway. The second feature of the bill, that there should be no of the bill, that there should be no further increase of national bank currency, rendered it possible to know the whole amount of such currency issued. He being a member of the committee, and representing a section of the country which had more than its share of bank note circulation, it would not be unbecoming in him to propose redistribution. He, therefore, favored the report which proposed the redistribution of $55,000,000 of the $80,000,000 now retained by one section of the country more than it was entitled to by the satio of wealth and population. He explained that what would be the effect of the bill, recommended the report to the conrecommended the report to the con-sideration of the House, and partic-ularly to that section of the country which steadily refused to increase the circulation.

A very warm and somewhat per-sonal debate followed between vari-ous members. The final vote resul-ted in the passage of the bill 221 to

The type and material of the New Orleans Bulletin were sold by the Sheriff yesterday, to satisfy a judg-ment of the Court. The publisher of the Bulletin, who has been acting as keeper of the property, by courte sy of the Sheriff, refused to surrender the type after the sale to Mr. Houlahan, the purchaser. Mr. Houlahan called upon the public authorities to put him in poss of his property, and at a late hour last night this was done.
