OMAHA BREVITIES.

-The C. & N. W. railway ran out a special freight train of seventeen ers of Colorado fat cattle for Chicago yesterday.

-Edwin Loveland, the wellknown cattle man, shipped yesterday by the C. & N. W. railway, fifteen cars of fat cattle for the Chicago market.

-Bunderson, the contractor for grading Eighteenth street, began work yesterday. When the job is completed the street railway will be extended along that thoroughfare.

-Many of our citizens intend to take advantage of the low rates of the excursion to St. Paul and other northern points, which is advertised to leave this city July 22d,

-The new German Lutheran church on Dodge street, will be consecrated next Sunday with appropropriate and imposing services. The Mannerchor society will do the singing.

- To-day the First Baptist Sunday School hold their annual picnic. This year they go to Hanscom Park. Conveyances for the school and friends will be at the church at 9 and 10 o'clock A. M.; also at 2 o'clock P. M.

-Passengers from the west report a superabundance of grasshoppers between Laramie and Cheyeune, and that they are rapidly winging their Sight eastward. The ground is said to be covered with them and the air filled with them, so that at times the sun can hardly

Thomas P. Jump, representing the well known eigar and tobacco firm of Joseph Schroeder & Co, as a class, but upon the good name Baltimore, is in the city jumping of the city. We hardly think that his house. He is a pleasant young gentleman, and will make friends wherever he goes.

-The horsemen of the city, essecially the prominent members of & M. R. R., and 100 yards from the the Driving Park Association, are unanimous in the opinion that a gross injustice was done Councilman James Stephenson when he was fined for fast driving. They think he would be in good luck if be could drive his horse fast enough to break the ordinance, and they wish to suggest to the police, for son's sake, that hereafter should not mistake "a vigoron pusting on the lines" for fast SALE AT CRUICKSHANK'S.

He was saved from falling by Street Commissioner Butler, who assisted him into Latey's bakery.

-The Police Court has been renoved to the Opera House, and the remaining city offices will soon follow. The Opera House will hereafter be known as the City Hall. The City Council room will be in the third story, occupying just onehalf of the theatre. Workmen are now busily engaged in completing the necessary work. The private boxes should be, and probably will be, fitted up for the use of the re-

-A caning affair took place last evening at the intersection of Davenport and Eleventh streets. One, Lucas, hailed a man named Bumps, and upon Bumps coming up to him, he elevated his cane and struck him three blows over the head, raising a couple of young bumps, and making a deep cut. Bumps had to be carried home. The cause of the unpleasantness was unknown to our informant.

-Marshal Snowden Monday night arrested Pat Morrisey and Pat Kelley for disturbing the peace by fighting. When he had got them to the intersection of Farnham and Fourteenth steects, Morrisey broke away and "lit out." The Marshal proeeded to jail with Kelley, and afterwards re-arrested Morrisey at Thirteenth and Chicago streets. Morrisey was fined five dollars and costs at the Police Court yesterday morning. Kelley was discharged.

-A few days ago two brothers S. D. and D. Balantine, merchants of Port Huron, Michigan, arrived in this city on their way to California, for the benefit of the health of the latter, who was an invalid. They stopped at the Grand Central to have a rest, as the invalid seemed to be failing. Monday afternoon he died very suddenly of pneunia, it is thought. The remains were encoffined by Gish, the undertaker, and taken back to Port Huron by the surviving brother and the Rev. Mr. Donelly, who formerly preached in Port Huron, and who is a warm personal friend of the Balantine family. 2-Yesterday morning Jos. Bremercamp, a compositor on the DATLY BEE, was arrested by constable Neligh on the complaint of one J. G. Miller, charging him with making threats against him. Bremercamp was taken before Judge Porter, and waiving an examination, he gave $500 bail for his appearance at the District Court. It appears that Bremercamp has had a family difficulty lately, and that Miller was in some way the partial cause of it, and Bremercamp threatened to whip him, or punish him for interfering in his domestic affairs. Miller was, until within a day or two, employed at Riley & Dellone's liquor establishment, but being detected in dishonesty, was discharged, and his personal property attached to make good his deficit. Bremercamp denies the correctness of yesterday's Herald item concerning him, the only portion that is correct being that which refers to his meeting his wife on the

Thus it will be seen that the fly, after all, is a useful bird. He may get swamped in your butter frequently; he may take a swim occasionally in your milk, water, cotfee, tea, or stronger drinkables; he may make his mark on your window, your silverware, furniture &c., but we think he fully compensates you for all these impudent little peccadilloes; by acting as a a most effective alarm clock, thus making an early riser out of you, and giving to you health, activity, ambition, and a light heart, and what more, pray, can you ask than those blessings, which combine to make you happy ? Strong used some language towards him, which was more forcible than polite, and applied to him several opprobrious epithets. Strong then went out and sued him for the rent, as he had previously threatened. Just atter dinner Rathbun met Strong on the sidewalk and defied him to repeat the language which he had used towards him during the morning. Strong accepted the challenge, and threw the words redhot at him. Rathbun, who was anxious for a fight, hurled back at him that vile epithet which invariably brings on an engagement in a second. Strong went for him and Rathbun put in a couple of licks. After the passage of several blows between the two, Strong grabbed Rathbun by the throat, and having his hold loosened, clutched him again Rathbun then also tried the choking process, and just as each was about to shut off each other's wind, the by-standers separated the chokers, and put an end to the circus.
