As Others See Us

Art McArthur, son of ex sheriff McArthur, is the new owner of the Red Cloud Chief, having taken it over January 1. Art has been raised in the print shop and will make good or we will set up the cigars. Charley Hale, we understand, got out of the office with the expectation of being appointed postmaster at Red Cloud.—Guide Rock Signal.

The Red Cloud Chief, which has been conducted so successfully the past few years by C. B. Hale, was sold this week to Arthur McArthur, foreman in the Chief office. We regret very much to see Mr. Hale retire from the newspaper business in this section, but are glad to know that our old friend, Art McArthur takes charge. We worked for several months on the Red Cloud Argus with Mr. McArthur, and he has been in the newspaper business continually since he was a "kid."—Franklin News.

Just as we go to press, we learn that the Red Cloud Chief has changed hands, C. B. Hale, editor for the last three or four years, retiring, and Arthur B. McArthur, who has been employed in the office for several years, becoming the new proprietor. We have known Art from his boyhood days, and he is a No. 1 young man, and will run a clean up-to-date, unadulterated democratic paper, and we bespeak for him success, and surely wish him the greatest of prosperity. Here's our editorial "Art, shake, and may you be "Chiefest" among ten thousand, and the best paper in the valley, is the wish of the Commercial Advertiser.—Wednesday's Commercial Advertiser.

A change was made yesterday afternoon whereby Arthur B. McArthur purchased the plant and subscription list of the Red Cloud Chief lately owned by C. B. Hale, and took possession at once. Mr. McArthur is a young man who is well known and highly respected for his honesty and reliability. The Argus feels a particular interest in him since it was in this office that he first began his work as a printer, and we wish him well. We are glad that as long as there was to be a change, Mr. McArthur is to be the new editor. Mr. Hale, the retiring editor, has our best wishes, and we hope that he and his estimable wife will continue to make this city their home.—Webster County Argus.

A Fruit Item

The Omaha Fruit Growers' Association has added an item to Nebraska's production record according to figures on file with the State Board of Agriculture. The sales for 1913 run about $72,000. The largest item was Concord grapes and in spite of the drought sixty five car loads of first class grapes were shipped from Douglas county.

DIED

Mary Anna Wolf was born March 25, 1847, and departed this life Jan. 5, 1914. She was 66 years, 9 months and 10 days old at the time of her demise.

The deceased was united in marriage to James Amack March 8, 1865, who departed this life March 23, 1901.

She leaves to mourn her death eight children, twenty-nine grand-children, three great grand-children, a large number of other relatives and a host of friends.

The living children, two having passed to the great beyond in early childhood, are as follows: George of Red Cloud, Ivans of Bostwick, William of North Branch, Kas., Frank R. Mrs. E. E. Shipman, Mrs. A. W. Shipman and Loyd all of Garfield township.

Mrs. Amack united with the Christian church at the age of eighteen and lived a faithful and devoted christian during remainder of life.

She was a good neighbor, a kind loving wife and mother. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Garfield M. E. church. Rev. Hummel conducted the services. Interment took place in the Wagoner cemetery.

Mrs. Shannon

There passed away at the home of her son, William G. Shannon on Jan. 5, 1914, a woman quite remarkable, when the story of her life is known, and the value of the quiet, constant toiler with high ideals is appreciated.

She came here from her home in Ontario, Canada to visit with her son, and two sisters, Mrs. A. D. McMurray, and Mrs. H. G. Potter. Her illness lasted about three weeks.

In early married life she came with her husband to Canada and settled near Toronto where they reared a large family of children seven sons, 1 daughter, three children having died in infancy. She had high ambitions for her children and supplementing her husband's earnings with the needle, she gave them all a college education.

Her son Charles, a lawyer of Duluth, Minn., came to her bedside during her illness and accompanied the body to Detroit, Mich., where the final disposition of it will be made.

A short funeral service was conducted on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at the home of Albert Ducker whose wife was a niece of Mrs. Shannon by Rev. W. H. Wright.

Not Mineless

The Arapahoe Mirror takes exception to the statement that "Nebraska is a state without a mine." The Mirror asks:

"What is the matter with Furnas county's silica mines? Nebraska is first with almost a monopoly of the production, yet we can barely supply the demand."

Ministerial Union

A meeting of the clergy of the city was held in Rev. Bates' rooms last Monday afternoon for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. Three of the prominent dignitaries of the city were nominated for the office of president, Rev. Bates however received the necessary two thirds and was duly inaugurated. A spirited contest for the office of vice president resulted in the election of Rev. Bayne. Strange to say there was only one candidate for the remaining office and the duties of official scribe, which fell to the Methodist man, Rev. W. H. Wright.

Rev. W. H. Wright read for the edification of the Union a review of Trine's recent book "The New Alignment of Life".

The Union concluded to co-operate with the W. C. T. U., in holding a public meeting next Wednesday evening in the interest of the proposed amendment to the constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

Pope-Boyce

A very pretty wedding took place on New Year's day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Pope who live on Locust street, when their daughter, Miss Dora Pope, was united in marriage to Mr. Jesse Boyce at high noon. Rev. Bayne pronounced the mystic words that made them man and wife.

After the ceremony a bountiful wedding dinner was served. Only the immediate relatives were present.

The bride is one of our popular young ladies and the groom is one of our respected young men and a prosperous young farmer.

The Chief along with their many friends wish them happiness and success in their wedded life.
