LOGAN, KAS.

Jerry Dunne and his girls (Nora and Eva) also C. McCole were the guests of Mrs. A. Leadabrand last Sunday.

Frank Ryan, Jim Ryan and Clyde Fruit were in Red Cloud one day last week transacting business, the former hauling hogs.

Jack Leadabrand and Jack Shacklet hauled a couple of loads of hogs to Red Cloud last Saturday. They brought back some merchandise for the neighbors.

Ross Johnston who was dangerously ill with appendicitis is now getting along nicely. Dr. Morrison of Smith Center, Kansas, is the attending physician.

The lagrippe is quite prevalent out in this neighborhood. Herb Barber, wife and one of his children had a bad attack during the past week. Also Fred Hooper and some of his children, besides his wife was ailing, but with an altogether different epidemic, it being pronounced or termed a "temporary feminine epidemic." In a few days a fine, healthy 12 pound girl arrived, so by the skill, energy and instrumentality of Dr. Morrison of Smith Center, Kansas, all phases of the epidemic was completely eliminated, besides the joyful event acted as a powerful accessory in curing Fred's cold, so now cheerfulness seems to be the dominant and characteristic feature in the family.

GARFIELD

The judges of the contest were: Mrs. Matkin, Mrs. R. D. Davis and Mrs. W. E. Bean.

Mid-Winter Advertising

To the man who follows the advertising and real estate trade game for a period of years, the buying public resolves itself largely into two classes. First, there are the people who buy when they feel like it, or run short of articles, without much system—Second, those who watch the local trade market as keenly as the buyer of a manufacturing concern watches the commercial papers.

That may take time, but it's scientific buying. The canny housewife knows that in the month of January, the merchant is up against the proposition of reducing stocks. Not all his ventures have succeeded. He did not expect them to. Some chances must be taken. Irregularities in weather and caprices of popular taste have left parts of his stock unsold. He must do one of two things. Carry stock over, borrow money to hold it, pay heavier insurance, take chances of style changes or deterioration, or cut his prices.

The majority of the merchants cut prices regularly during the latter half of the winter to meet these conditions. The scientific house buyer makes the bulk of the winter purchases during this period. What is not needed this season will be useful another winter.

This trade is mostly reached through advertising. Every advertisement at this time of year is closely scanned, not merely with the casual hope of some unexpected bargain that may fit in some time, but in pursuance with a settled policy of buying in the lowest market.

As it takes too much time to run around the stores and see what the merchants are doing the public watches the newspapers, and visits the places that have made known their bargains. January is peculiarly a month when the newspaper is a directory of economy. The people who don't read the store advertising miss chances to keep the cost of living down.—Omaha Examiner

Farmers At Short Course

Registration is still in progress for the six weeks' short course of the School of Agriculture, Lincoln, Nebraska. At the present time the enrollment is approaching the two hundred mark. These come from all parts of the state. Dean Barnett of the College of Agriculture says that the number of people taking agricultural work in the college at the present time is 535, and that there are practically 655 students in the Agricultural High School in its Long and Short Courses. It will be necessary to add to this the number who will register for the butter-makers' course which begins February 9th, and the Domestic Science course to be held during Organized Agriculture. At the present time the total number studying agriculture in the University of Nebraska at Lincoln is about 1200. In addition to this there are about 137 enrolled in the Agricultural High School at Curtis.

THE ALARM is a dreadful thing OF FIRE for the man without insurance. Every time he sees the engines racing along his heart comes up in his throat if the fire is anywhere near his place. What folly, what mistaken economy.

THE COST OF INSURANCE is so small that it need hardly be considered. The freedom from worry alone is worth it many times over. Have us insure you to-day.
