We have one wood silo 14x30, full length stave, made from clear fir. It is tongued and grooved, with or without hinge doors, has board roof, anchors and everything complete. We will offer this on or before Bargain Day, Wednesday, May 27th, 1914, for $179.00. PLATT & FREES.

Tuesday L. L. Boren fell out of a tree on his farm southwest of town and was severely injured. He was engaged in cutting away the branches to clear the telephone wires when he fell, striking upon his head and shoulders. We are glad to learn that Mr. Boren is better this morning.

Mrs. Adelaide Rood, state organizer and lecturer of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will speak in the Congregational church, Friday evening, May 22nd at 8 p. m. She comes well recommended. Come and hear her. Mrs. Rood will also hold a meeting for women of the city at 3 p. m. Friday afternoon in the Congregational church.

An effort is being made to induce Governor Moorehead to file for re-election. The governor has made good as an official and we believe he should be given another term. He stated during the campaign that he would not seek re-election but that does not permit his many friends from insisting on his again making the race.

There were many out of town buyers in this city on the last "Bargain Day" who were drawn here by the attractive prices offered by our merchants. In view of the fact that even better prices will be made this coming "Bargain Day" we look for several times the number of people to be here. These bargains are real bargains and they will go like hot cakes.

The stores and all business houses should close their doors at least during the exercises on Decoration Day. In this manner we can best observe the day as a city. This will give the merchant and his clerks an opportunity to take part in the ceremonies and give them an equal opportunity to show their patriotism and devotion with the remainder of our citizens.

The Chamber of Commerce can well afford to direct its attention to our street lighting system. Our present system could be greatly improved with out the outlay of very much capital. The lighting of our streets in the business district is inadequate and should be remedied. How best to do this the above organization can learn and present to the city council.

Thirty-three boys and girls will be graduated from our high school this year. This is the largest number ever sent out in a single year from this institution. In view of the fact that our population is no larger than it was twenty years ago this showing is remarkable and justifies the extended course of study. Children now stay in school in greater numbers than ever before because they have a choice of studies.

Corsetry of Style and Comfort

Your corset must support your figure—mould your figure to shapely lines and form a basis for your gowns. The added note in this year's modes is that of litheness and unconstrained naturalness. You get this effect in this J. C. C. model.

J. C. C. Eureka

The fine, long, smooth lines are admirably brought out by this corset. The medium low bust allows a graceful freedom of carriage, at the same time giving poise and proportion to the woman of mature figure. It has the delicacy and freshness which appeal to gentlemen. One of the best values shown in our corset department. Price $1.50. Ask for it by name.

In our complete J. C. C. stock, your individual corset requirements have been accurately foreseen. Let us show you. Prices $1 to $6.

F. G. Turnure & Son

El. Garber and wife and Wilbur Hamilton and wife autoed to Guide Rock Sunday and spent the day with friends and relatives.

Foal Shortage Reported

Reports received by the Nebraska College of Agriculture indicate scarcely an average birth rate of foals in most sections of the United States. Consequently the 1914 colts of Nebraska at maturity should be valuable property. In any event it will pay well to give the foals a good chance. Most mares are forced to work while suckling, but the colts should never be allowed to follow. If the mare is worked before the colt is a month old, she should be taken to the colt in the middle of each forenoon and afternoon. If she comes in hot and foamy, dash some cold water over the udder. If time permits, let the mare cool off before turning the colt to her. It may be well to remove a portion of her milk. Get the colt to eating oats and alfalfa early. If they are available the foal will begin nibbling at these when just a few weeks old. More colts have been injured by the oats and alfalfa which they did not get than by that which they did get. The secret of the Frenchman's success in raising Percherons has been never to let them go hungry. Why would not this apply here? If a mare must work, a grass lot at night is fine for both her and the foal. If the mare does not work, let both be out all of the time.

Depths To Which Crops Use Moisture

"Oats, spring wheat, barley, and corn feed to a depth of four feet," says bulletin No. 140 of the agricultural experiment station of Nebraska. "Winter wheat feeds to a depth of six or seven feet; perennial grasses dry the soil out to a greater depth. Alfalfa will send its roots to greater depths for water than any other common farm crop if water is available in all intervening portions of the soil to supply the roots while making this greater growth. In this manner alfalfa on the second bottom lands usually obtains permanent water supply. The roots frequently go down to the sheet water where it is within twenty or thirty feet of the surface."

Flesh.

All the riding hard, shooting true and dying game—poor ethics of the open—had not brought a crumb, not a crumb, of the real bread of life.—Will Livingston Comfort.

Notice of Final Report.

In the County Court of Webster county, Nebraska.

In the matter of the estate of Alice Finkbinder, deceased.

All persons interested in said estate are hereby notified that the Administrator has filed a final account and report of his administration, and a petition for final settlement of his account and a discharge from his trust, which have been set for hearing before said court on the 28th day of May 1914, at 11 o'clock, A. M., when all persons interested in the premises may appear and contest the same. Dated this 6th day of May 1914.

300 LICE Or More on One Hen

is by no means uncommon. No one would expect to find a hen with that number of "ticks" sucking his blood, but many expect the old hen to go ahead shelling out eggs with lice and mites are sapping her very life. We have counted over 2000 dead lice under a row of ten hens, on a roost board located the night before with Lee's Lice Killer. This great killer does double duty—contact kills mites, lice, bedbugs, etc. about the roost; the vapor kills lice on the chickens sitting over it. Put up only in straight cases. For sale at over 10,000 farms.
