When to Cut Alfalfa for Hay

If the weather is normal, the proper time for cutting alfalfa for hay, says the Nebraska College of Agriculture, may be judged by the blooming of the plant. When about one-tenth of the alfalfa is in blossom, it makes the most desirable hay for cattle and hogs. Because of the rush of harvest, the alfalfa for the second cutting is often cut too soon before time may be found to cut it. Since alfalfa hay for work horses should be well in bloom before cut, this second cutting often makes the finest possible hay for these animals.

Hog Cholera Day

In an effort to familiarize hog raisers of Nebraska with the various phases of hog cholera and vaccination, one day in each month has been set aside at the Nebraska University Farm for the instruction of anyone interested. The first day has been set for Wednesday, June 10. Instruction will be offered, the second Wednesday in each month thereafter as long as the demand warrants. The visitors will inspect the serum plant, see the different processes of making serum and virus, and witness the vaccination of hogs. They will also examine cholera infected hogs and the carcasses after the post-mortem is made. From the post-mortem the stockmen are expected to become familiar with cholera diagnosis. Lectures on cholera prevention, as well as other topics of interest to hog raisers, will be given.

Many Horses Named

Two hundred and nineteen horses have been named for the car races using races of the 1914 Nebraska State Fair as compared with 174 made last year. All the speed events were fixed except the two year old pace. Forty-two horses were named for the two year old trot, twenty-five for the three year old trot, forty-eight for the 220 trot and thirty-three for the 225 trot, twelve for the three-year-old pace, twenty-eight for the 225 pace and thirty for the 214 pace.

$10,000 in Cash

Governor Steward has certified that all the requirements for disbursing the $10,000 appropriation under the terms of the Smith-Lever bill have been complied with. This sum will be used to encourage agricultural extension work in the state and will be available every year. The government will also disburse money which may be appropriated by the state, given by a corporation, organization or an individual.

"Blind" Corn Cultivation

In Nebraska, it weeds in chance planted corn are coming up badly and ahead of the corn, the Nebraska College of Agriculture recommends that the fields be "blind" cultivated. In "blind" cultivation a little soil is thrown on the corn row itself to smother young weeds as they kill or buried too deeply to come up, while the stronger corn plants, nourished by the large stored will emerge in good shape. "Blind" cultivation will not only remove the weeds which are choking the crop, but will leave the land in better condition to absorb rains.

Glacier National Park

Newly Revealed Wonderland

This region of jagged, glacier-capped mountains—the climax of the rugged grandeur of the Rockies—is reached by the Great Northern Railway from Glacier Park Station, at which point the Railway Company has constructed a hotel with a splendid dining hall. Automobile roads have been built from the entrance and from various points in the park. A detour may be made from either entrance, or going in at one and coming out at the other. In making a tour of the park such a detour will prove to be one of its most attractive features. It includes automobiles, launches, coaches, hotels, and every convenience of from 50 to 100 miles.
