 UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

The Sub-Marine Spy

A two reel navy drama, in the making of which the United States government loaned a submarine vessel several officers and many sailors actually operated the mechanism of the "sub-marine" and the views are made with a great fidelity to detail. It is the real thing and every bit of the action is true to life.

VIVIAN'S BEAUTY TEST—Comedy drama.
 FOR I HAVE TOILED—Comedy.

Regular Prices 10 and 5 cents

The following couples were granted marriage licenses by Judge Ranney: Otto Gostring of Blue Hill and Minnie Alsleben of Coles, Feb. 15; Walter E. Laumbrecht of Inavale and Mabel Palmer of Red Cloud, Feb. 13.

Rowley R. Ross of Bladen was brought before Judge Ranney Monday in county court charged with assault with intent to commit rape, the complaining witness being his 12 year old daughter. Owing to insufficient evidence County Attorney Munday changed the complaint to a charge of assault, and he was given a sentence of ninety days in the Hotel de Hedge, by Judge Ranney.

The Sub-Marine Spy At The Tepee

Friday and Saturday evening the program of the Tepee will include a two reel picture entitled the "Sub-Marine Spy," in which the real workings of the modern war vessel are shown. The United States government furnished one of its leading submarines, fully officered and manned to the Universal company for the making of the pictures and practical demonstrations are made of the operations of this modern war craft. The story is a strong one, the action and settings the real thing.

The Legislative Grind

There have been exercises in the senate this week, commemorating the Lincoln and Washington Birthdays. Senators Quimby, Hoagland and Bedford were the orators of the occasion and many of the visitors who were present on these days were given a sample of real senatorial speech-making. It is a pleasure to note how men of both parties soon forget their partisanship when occasions such as these demand.

There has been much opposition in the Senate end of the state house upon the part of stock food manufacturers over the proposed new legislation sought by the pure food department. It remains to be seen whether the fellows who sell so profitable an article from the standpoint of the manufacturer are to be allowed to proceed with inadequate laws regulating the business. Food Commissioner Harmon has the right idea, and it is very much to the interest of every good citizen of this state that the pure food laws be the very best that can be made.

Representative Ainlay of Nance has introduced a bill providing for the selection of the seats of members to be made by drawing lots. In the past it has been the custom for members to make a grand rush for Lincoln to select their seats as soon as they were elected, and as a consequence those living in the far west were forced to take the seats left after the members from the eastern part of the state had had their pick. The bill has been reported for passage by the committee.

Lincoln's birthday was observed in the house by the reading of the immortal Gettysburg address and appropriate remarks made by Mr. Reisner of Thomas.

At the beginning of the present session the slogan adopted was "Economy," and that slogan has been lived up to very sincerely. The employees committee of the house, headed by W. J. Taylor of Custer, has cut down the number of employees to such an extent that the payroll for the first month amounts to about half the sum paid out for the same time in previous sessions. The finance committee, with J. N. Norton of Polk as chairman, has not as yet reported. It is understood that this committee is taking an extra amount of time this year in order to investigate more thoroughly all appropriations to be made. The committee is making a special effort to allow only those appropriations which will actually be needed during the ensuing two years. The purchasing of certain supplies has been stopped, thereby eliminating quite an item of expense.

A bill fathered by Taylor of Custer, prohibiting court reporters from accepting fees, was indefinitely postponed in the committee of the whole house. A battle of words attended the consideration of this bill. Cronin of Holt and Lanigan of Greeley led the opposition.

When the senate refused to pass H. R. No. 112, after that measure had gone through the house with only eight votes in opposition to it, there was much talk about the two branches of the legislature getting at loggerheads and of each branch retaliating on the other. The bill provided that no member of the state normal board should be selected from a county in which was located a state normal school. The house passed this bill with all good intent. The senate, believing that the measure was brought out to prolong the fight between Majors and Thomas and that the board as now existing and appointed by the governor was entirely satisfactory, refused to take any part in the fight and decided to let the state normal board stand as at present organized. This episode, however, cannot break up the harmony existing between the upper and lower branches of the legislature. It is safe to surmise that during the present session, as in all sessions in the past, many bills will be "killed" by one branch although they have been passed by the other.

The Douglas county delegation is working more in harmony this year than ever before. The feeling against Douglas county which has existed in previous sessions is rapidly disappearing because the delegation is trying to prove that Omaha is taking an interest in the rest of the state and desires to co-operate with all parts of Nebraska.

The legislature has been grinding out a great amount of work during the last week. Speaker Jackson has a plan for holding night meetings, but if the work progresses as it has started this will be unnecessary. The senate has passed and delivered to the house thirty-eight bills. The house has accomplished a little more, having passed fifty-six bills, indefinitely postponed twelve in the committee of the whole house, and killed thirty-one in the standing committee.

Woodmen Night

At The Tepee

Next Tuesday will be Woodmen night at the Tepee. Preceding and in addition to the regular program will be given three reels entitled, "Modern Woodmen of America in Motion Pictures." Showing views of head office, head camp, Foresters encampment, etc., the story of the "Man Who Came Back." This story is full of human interest, showing the life of one who spent nine months at the Woodman Sanitarium at Colorado Springs. These pictures furnish one of the greatest object lessons imaginable and demonstrates the great work that is being done by this society.

The Woodmen pictures will commence promptly at 7:30 followed by the regular program at 8:30. Regular prices, 10 and 5 cents.
