John C. Myers Dies Suddenly On Sunday

The community was pained Monday morning to hear of the sudden death of John C. Myers.

During his earlier years in this community he was engaged in his business as painter and decorator, and several of the homes of this city give witness to the taste and skill with which he used his brush.

He was more than a merely skillful layer-on of paint, and delighted in the exercise of the creative powers of an artist.

To such a man, the teaching and symbolism of Masonry made a strong appeal, and for many years, he was recognized as the best informed—most enlightened member of the Craft in this portion of the Republican valley. His service as instructor and exponent of Masonic culture were widely sought and he was always ready to manifest the light which glowed from the Masonic altar.

Seven or eight years ago, his physicians, pronounced him incurable, and told him to put his home in order because his lease of life was practically expired.

Few have born such a communion with a braver, kindlier spirit than Mr. Myers exhibited.

Nothing daunted by either his sufferings, or the apparent hopelessness of his struggle, he confronted his fate, bravely, cheerfully. He never yielded to despondency, nor lost his healthful interest in the life about him. On the street, in the lodge room, at the graves of dead brethren, he was always present until the last few months, with his words of Masonic kindness and hope.

Mr. Myers was born Aug. 28th, 1850—came to Nebraska in 1880—was married in 1884 to Miss Alice A. Eddy—there were no children from this union.

The funeral services will be held Friday. The Chief along with his many friends extends sympathy to the bereaved wife and relatives.

The Red Cloud Chief of last week was the greenest looking paper we had seen for some time, and we were wondering what had gone wrong down in the Chief office, thinking that perhaps the force had become snow blind and had been wearing green goggles, but on looking at the editorial column of that paper we learned that editor, A. B. McArthur, was born on St. Patrick's day and was celebrating the event.—Rushville Standard.

Easter Program At The United Church

The Webster County Sunday School Convention to have been held in Bladen March 19th and 11th, but postponed on account of the storm, will be held at Bladen, May 5th and 6th. It is hoped by that time that the weather and roads will be at their best. The program as formerly planned will be carried out. It is an excellent one and you should not miss it. The talks by Miss Brown will be worth going miles to hear. At that time the smile of spring will be blossoming and you will feel just like attending and taking part.—Bladen Enterprise.

Dan Barber Buys Osceola Drug Store

A deal was consummated yesterday whereby Mr. D. F. Barber, of Stella, Nebraska, became the owner and proprietor of the H. J. McBeth drug stock. As the Democrat goes to press the invoice has not yet been completed but will be this evening. Mr. Barber is an experienced druggist and comes to the city highly recommended. On the part of the people of Osceola and speaking for itself also, the Democrat bids Mr. Barber a hearty welcome. "May he live long and prosper."—Osceola Democrat.

The Chief along with Dan's many friends here wish him success.

The ladies of the M. E. church will hold their annual Easter Bazar on Saturday, April 3rd, in the Newhouse building formerly occupied by Ed Amack. They will have on sale aprons, caps, ladies' underwear, sunbonnets and children's clothes. A Chicken Pie dinner will be served. Supper will be served also, price 25c.

A. O. U. W. Install Officers On Tuesday

The regular meeting of the A. O. U. W. lodge was held Tuesday evening and about one hundred members were in attendance. Twelve candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order and another large class will be taken in at the next meeting, April 12th. The following officers for this year were installed:

Master Workman—C. F. Cather.
Foreman—Ernest Davis.
Overseer—Simon Huffer.
Inside Watch—Curt Haselbaker.
Outside Watch—H. J. Maurer.
Financier—Paul Storey.
Recorder—W. G. Hamilton.
Treasurer—Frank Huffer.

All the members are requested to be present at the next meeting as there will be something doing.
Miss Hazel Robinson was a passenger to Clay Center Saturday morning to visit her brother, Bruce Robinson and wife.

Prof. Boehr Places Exhibit at Kearney

Last week the central Nebraska Educational Association was held at Kearney, and Prof. Boehr placed on exhibit the apparatus and material used in Agricultural teaching in the Red Cloud High School. Supt. C. M. Barr, the president of the association, expressed great satisfaction because he had asked Prof. Boehr to place the material on exhibit and it had met with such success.

The articles on exhibit were as follows: Babcock milk tester; lactometers; rocks and minerals; wheat types; corn types; oats and barley; Cuzco corn; grasses; projection lantern; compositions written by pupils; maps and drawings by pupils; bulletins from many states; text books; library books; corn products; milling products and other industrial exhibits.

The Pod Gorn, Cuzco Corn and Rocks attracted the most attention. About 400 teachers looked at our exhibit, as well as a large number of other visitors. Many teachers are contemplating similar equipment for their schools.

Red Cloud High School is among the leading schools, and probably the best agricultural high school in Nebraska, and to Prof. John Boehr belongs no small amount of credit for this fact. While this is P. of Boehr's first year at this place, as an instructor of agriculture and science, yet he has proven to be thoroughly competent, has secured results, and has made good.

Former Red Cloud Girl Married At McCook

The following article taken from the McCook Republican, will prove interesting reading to the many friends of the Galusha family, who formerly resided here, Mr. Galusha being in the clothing business:

"Wednesday evening Miss Juliet Galusha and Mr. E. W. Berry were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Galusha, corner F and 3rd street east, Rev. D. L. McBride pastor of the Baptist church, officiating, and left for Watertown, South Dakota, where they will make their home, where he had apartments prepared for his bride, that being Mr. Berry's headquarters. Both young people are well known to almost everyone here. The groom has lived here practically all his life and is a graduate of the city high school. He has been in the employ of S. A. Maxwell & Co., of Chicago, for the past several years, most of the time as a traveling salesman. The bride has lived here for four years and has been quite prominent in social affairs and made many friends. The Republican joins their many friends in best wishes for a happy and prosperous life to the young couple."
