Ancients Used Gas Warfare.

The earliest use of deleterious gases in siege warfare is recorded in the history of the Peloponnesian wars from 431 to 404 B. C. During this struggle between the Athenians and Spartans and their respective allies the cities of Plataea and Delium were besieged.

Wood saturated with pitch and sulphur was set on fire and burned under the walls of these cities in order to generate choking and poisonous fumes which would stupefy the defenders and render the task of the attacking forces less difficult.

READING FOR THE SOLDIERS

Englishmen of Prominence Interest Themselves in Providing Literature for the Soldiers.

The London Times announces the completion of plans for the publication of reading material in a new and portable form, especially suitable for the trenches. Sir Walter Raleigh, professor of English literature at Oxford, has aided the Times in this work. The Times has undertaken to supply a numerous and various selection of the best passages, grave and gay, from English verse and prose; to be printed on flyleaves, or broadsheets, and sold in mixed sets at a very low price. Each broadsheet can be inclosed in a letter without adding to the cost of postage, while whole assortments can be sent to officers for distribution among the men. Of these broadsheets thirty-six, in sets of six, have been arranged for.

The first set includes: The two testaments; Shakespeare, Milton and Wordsworth; "Pericles to the Athenians" (Froissart on back); selections from the "Complait Angler"; Dickens' "A Game of Cribbage"; Macaulay's "Armanda." In the second set are: The "Song of Deborah"; four poems on the war; three essays by Bacon; "David Harris, Cricketer" (Nyen); "The Worthy Commander" (Overbury); "Partridge at the Play" (from Tom Jones). The third set offers: "The Blessed Life"; "The Last Fight of the Revenge"; "The Winchester Country" (Cobbett); some Shakespeare songs; "Mr. Micawber's Transactions"; "Cavanagh, the Fives-Player" (Hazlitt).

The fourth set is varied, starting out with King Solomon's Prayer. Following this are: "The Men in Buckram"; Tolstoy's "A Future Life"; "A Swim Below Niagara," by Trelawny; "Adonais"; two letters of Charles Lamb; "David and Goliath" heads the fifth list, followed by Pope's "The Secret Happiness"; Prayer; "Interview With a Pasha" (Kinglake); "A Quarrel With the Captain" (Fielding); and "The Ballad of Agincourt." In the last set are: "Elijah and the Rain"; Gray's "Elegy"; Bunyan's "The River of Death"; "The City at Night"; "Old Trees"; and "Bob Acres' Duel" (Sheridan).

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 14

DANIEL IN THE KING'S COURT.

LESSON TEXT—Daniel 1:8-16, 19, 20. GOLDEN TEXT—Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong.—1 Cor. 16:13.

This familiar story has been selected for the "World's Temperance Sunday"—it is the first record of his Babylonian experiences and is an illustrious example of those everlasting principles which govern a successful life.

I. Daniel's Position, vv. 1-7. Nebuchadnezzar, on the death of his father, returned to Babylon from besieging Jerusalem to take the throne. He carried with him Jehoiakim and a number of young men, "in whom was no blemish" (14). They were perhaps twelve years old. Among these were four who had been particularly selected for pious training and the name of each is compounded with the name of God; Daniel's meaning—"God is my Judge." They are now alone in a licentious heathen palace and absolutely at the power of the king and his court. Their names are now changed; Daniel becomes Belteshazzar—"favored of Bel." Such changing of names is customary in most heathen or Mohammedan lands even today. A still greater danger or temptation confronts these young men, viz., that the king appointed them "a daily portion of the king's meat" (Am. Rev. v. 5). To refuse to eat invited ridicule and perhaps loss of life, but to eat was to break the Jewish law as to food (Deut. 12:23-25). See also (1 Cor. 8:7-10; 10:27-28). Their captivity had been foretold (II Kings 20:17), but a change of location and name does not involve a change of heart as many a tempted one has discovered. These men in spite of natural appetites, danger of being thought peculiar, or even gratitude to king for lives preserved refused to eat the king's meat and to drink his wine.

II. Daniel's Purpose, 18:13. The real purpose of a man's heart not alone governs his acts but reveals what he is—God looks upon that when he judges men (II Cor. 9:7; 8:12; Luke 16:15). "Without will (purpose) there is no character" (Acts 11:23). Daniel purposed "in his heart" not to defile "himself." No compromise, no trimming because of being away from home, no partnership with the rich and opulent court. Daniel was to be "as clean as a hound's tooth." Men who dare to stand alone always find co-operation, so Daniel found those who stood by him (v. 12). Daniel exercised great tact in his dealings with the prince of the eunuchs but God had evidenced his protecting and leading care (v. 9) enabling him to win his way and persuade the eunuch to allow the suggested test (v. 12). If Christian workers would exercise more tact they would more frequently attain their desired ends (Luke 16:8). It is possible to be so unbendingly puritanical as to lay us open to a charge of Pharisaical pride. Daniel illustrates spotless purity, inflexible loyalty mingled with a sweet reasonableness that always gains its ends. Daniel had sufficient confidence in his God and faith in his actions to be willing to be submitted to the acid test of experience. His was a religion that could stand without being tied.

III. Daniel's Profit (Reward), vv. 14-21. Pulse denotes such vegetables as beans and peas. Their diet was to be a general vegetable one. Samson as a Nazirite drank no wine. This age has yet to fully comprehend the reasonableness and efficacy of those ancient Jewish laws of sanitation and diet. Myriads of men are today digging their graves with their teeth. The result of this test was that Daniel and his companions were delivered from transgressing God's laws and the prince of the eunuchs from being punished because of the physical condition of his charges. Beauty, health, and strength came to Daniel and his friends with the result of preferment, position, and influence at court (v. 19). They "stood before the king." (Rom. 14:10-12; I Cor. 3:10-15; II Cor. 5:9); (a) because of their unwavering loyalty to God and obedience to his Word (John 14:15; 16:26 R. V.); (b) because of their life of prayer, for it is the work of the Holy Spirit to give unto us wisdom (Luke 2:15, Acts 6:10) even as Daniel was thus blessed (v. 17) the spirit bestows diverse gifts (I Cor. 12:14-11); (c) and finally because having a special place in the purposes and plans of God their lives were counted "precious in his sight" (v. 27). Verily, "He that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

Temperance Application.—This lesson suggests the value of total abstinence.

"No user of tobacco has ever taken first honor at Harvard."—Longfellow Temperance and self-control must begin in the home and be perpetuated in the strength and power of God which alone comes through an intelligent knowledge and obedience of his Word. There is no way to win success except by means of a complete victory; to compromise is to fail. The loyalty of such is not earth born and their victories are superhuman.

VERY MUCH IN WRONG "BATH"

Guest's Mistake, It Will Be Understood, Was Not a Thing to Be Wildly Advertised.

Smythe's mistake, which is described in an English contemporary, must have been disconcerting, to say the least.

"You'll find your bath in the outhouse." Thus he had directed the night before at the little inn where he was stopping, and that is why he was now, in his dressing gown, pushing open the outhouse door. It was dark, but there was the tub, and it would do. He hopped in. In the middle of his ablutions the red-faced landlord thrust his head in at the door. In the dim light he failed to see the man in the tub.

"Water quite nicely warm, thanks," observed Smythe, "but it's a trifle muddy." "Muddy he hanged!" roared the landlord, bursting in suddenly. "Your tub's in the next place. Git out of it, you blitherin' idiot! Not a word of this in the 'ouse, mind! Not a word of this in the 'ouse! That's my 'ome-brewed ale you're a-washin' in!"

Divergent Opinion.

He had a lot of money, but no discoverable ancestors, and so it came that he affected contempt for pride of birth. And there was another man whose family tree was tall and umbrageous, but who possessed no other assets worth mentioning. A discussion between these two men was of profound interest. Each avoided hurting the other's feelings, but it was easy to detect an undercurrent of antagonism. They concluded: "Say what you will," asserted the one, "it is a fine thing to come of good stock." "It's a finer thing," replied the other, with finality, "to own it."

Sorry He Spoke.

He (during family quarrel)—I suppose some idiot proposed to you before I did. She—No, when you did.

Not Guilty.

There had been a railway collision near a country town in Virginia, and a shrewd lawyer had hurried from Richmond to the scene of the disaster. He noticed an old colored man with a badly injured head, and hurried up to him where he lay moaning on the ground.

"How about damages?" began the lawyer. "But the sufferer waved him off. "G'way, boss, g'way," he said. "I never hit de train. I never done sich a thing in all mah life, so help me Gawd! Yo' can't git no damages outen me."

Corroborated.

"Tell me now, Jamie, what was the most wonderful thing you saw at sea?"

"I think the strangest thing I ever saw was the flying fish." "Noo, laddie, dinna mak' a fule o' yer mither. Wha ever heard o' a fish flooin'?"

"Another strange thing I saw when crossing the Red sea. We dropped anchor, and when we raised it again there was one of the wheels of Pharaoh's chariot entangled on it."

"Aye, laddie, I believe that. We've scripture for that."—London Tit-Bits.

Quite Right.

"What do you understand by the phrase 'a liberal education'?" asked the professor when the freshman class in economics had assembled.

"When the governor comes through with plenty of spending money," replied the first youth called upon.

"Were you much impressed by the majestic roar of Niagara?"

"I was at first, but later on, when my husband put up a roar about our hotel bill, Niagara sounded like a rippling brook."
