Self Delusion

A sermon by Deacon Walker, taken from the Lincoln Herald, November 19th:

"We still run across fellows who are trying to fool the Lord and get to heaven on half fare. They imagine that because they dress up a little on Sunday and go to church and drop a few nickels into the collection box they have bribed St. Peter for another week. They forget their neighbor, the pearly gates and everything else during the next six days. They skin their brother and break every commandment in the decalogue of decency with no pang of conscience. Then on the first day of the week they again think of the happy golden strand and go forth with a hymn book under their arm and the dime for the collection box in their vest pocket. Bounty how they fool themselves. If you should intimate to one of them that they are not religious they would actually be insulted. They work the same game year after year. They oc-asionally fool a few members of the flock and sometimes the new minister has to take a month or two to get next to them. But the day of reckoning comes."

The Slouch Farmer

The following from the Nebraska Farmer of Wednesday, November, 17: To Iowa Circle: I have before me a copy of the Nebraska Farmer of October 17 containing the article about the slouch farmer by Mrs. Vinton Hamilton of Boulder county, Colorado. She advises him to tidy up a bit, lest he should make himself ridiculous in the eyes of the city folks.

I don't know who these city folks could be who would dare laugh at the country folks, but it is either the cork-headed, good-for-nothing piece of humanity that sits on the bench at the corner store, dressed in his glad rags, for which he still owes, or the much-dressed, frizzly-haired, gum-chewing women whose only accomplishments are tating, fudge eating and giggling. The latter accomplishment has become chronic, so it is now considered a disease. Such persons lack the independence of the happy farmer, or slouch farmer, I should say.

I don't believe there are any of the slouch farmers around here, but I have seen the honest, tired farmer come in from the field when he had broken some of his machinery, and wash the dirt from his hands and face, and go to town for repairs without changing those despised patched blue overalls, so he might get back to work as quickly as possible.

But who would dare to call him a slouch even if he did wear his work clothes and straw hat? He doesn't care for the brainless few who would laugh at him. His friends are the bankers, the merchants and the blacksmiths with whom he deals and who extend to him the glad hand, for it is the farmer who makes it possible for them to stay in business. He can put his dirty hand in his faded blue overalls and fish out a check book to pay his bills. He is honest, he is intelligent, he is economical and that is what counts.

Mrs. Hamilton thinks the farmer should wear shoulder braces. Not all farmers have stoop shoulders. I wonder what she would suggest for the city man who has the hump in front so that he hasn't seen the tips of his shoes for years. I would suggest that he cease fighting booze, put on a pair of blue overalls, take a few lessons in politeness and get out on a farm with the respectable slouch farmer and go to work.

Secure A Farm In The North Platte Valley

THE NORTH PLATTE VALLEY, frequently called the "Scottsbluff country," is making a more wonderful showing every year in its production of irrigated crops—sugar beets, alfalfa, potatoes, wheat and oats; it is becoming one of the richest localities for breeding and fattening of live stock. Many Government irrigated holdings of 100 acres are being reduced to 80 acres, making it possible for land seekers to secure 80 acre tracts irrigated under the reliable system of the Government on terms that never again will be duplicated. All we can ask is that you visit the Valley and let our agents put you in touch with reliable firms. Ask about the crop tonnage, the increased population, and note the general prosperity; this will tell you what advance in land values you may expect there in the next five years.

Or write me for the Burlington's new publication, "North Platte Valley." Let me help you go there and see for your self this locality which is the talk of the West.
