The Value of a Life

By special arrangement and through the courtesy of local Mcdera Woodmen, the Orpheum theater has booked two reels of motion pictures, featuring George Gray, in a true and realistic film story of his part in the present war—not of bloodshed—but in the fight against and conquest of that menacing monster of the human flesh—tuberculosis. Gray is one of the million members of the Modern Woodmen of America. Discovering that he is afflicted with this disease, he takes advantage of the comforts, care, and cure of the Sanatorium owned, maintained, and operated by that Society, free of charge to its members. For several years that fraternal institution has thus actively and effectively cooperated in the world-wide movement advocated by the Red Cross and medical authorities, to stamp out the dread "white plague" and Gray is the beneficiary of this Woodmen life-saving station. It is an intensely interesting and heart gripping story of the leaving of wife and children. Weak in body and hopeless in mind he journeys to the beautiful Rocky Mountain region near Colorado Springs, Colorado, where, in the rarified climate and constant sunshine, at an altitude of 7,000 feet, he is destined to spend nine months at the foot of Mount Cedar, in the care of the most modern Sanatorium in the world. His experiences in "chasing the cure," his absolute rest from all cares and labor, his gradual return to health and strength, his "hikes" among the fragrant pines and over the rocky trails of the U. S. forest reserve, leased by and adjoining the Sanatorium, result in his final return to family and friends, victorious over his foe. "The Value of a Life" is a thrilling and dramatic story—and absolutely true as well; indeed, Gray's experience has been duplicated by nearly 3,000 of his fellow neighbors, who have already enjoyed the benefits of this justly celebrated institution. This film is pronounced by competent authorities to be one of the very best in this age of highly developed motion pictures, and is in such great demand that it can be booked for only one day and night in each town or city. It is a rare opportunity one can not afford to miss.

At the Orpheum theater, on March 29. Also a five reel Paramount Picture. Admission, 5 and 10c.

Home Talent Play At The Orpheum Friday Evening

We have received a tip from one behind the scenes that the four-act drama, "The Third Degree," to be played by local home talent at the Orpheum on Friday evening, is going to be even better than any play that has been offered to the public.

The plot involves many thrilling events, which will hold the attention of the audience from the time the curtain is rung up until the final word is uttered.

We could enumerate many interesting things which will take place during the performance, but it would not be as interesting for you to read our meager description as it will be for you to see the production, as this play will be produced by some of the very best talent in the city.

Those assuming the various roles need no introduction to the theater going public as they have on several occasions, previously, demonstrated their ability to handle any parts assigned to them in either comedy or heavy drama.

If you have not made arrangements to witness this high class production it would be well for you to make your seat reservations at once.

Following is the cast:

Anna Jeffries..... Hazel Saladen
Mrs. Howard Jeffries..... Pearl McCooly
Howard Jeffries..... Phil Sherwood
Howard Jeffries, Sr..... Russell Amack
Captain Clinton..... Vernon Zeiss
Robert Underwood..... Harold Druliner
Sargent Maloney..... Everett Stroup
Richard Brewster..... Lloyd Hines
Mr. Jones..... George Overlee
Dr. Bernstein..... Richmond Lippencott

Naturally Indignant.
"Did you tell your troubles to a policeman?" "Yes," said the man who had been robbed. "And I tell you that policeman was indignant. The hold-up man hadn't even asked his permission to operate on his beat."

Saves Eggs

Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by adding an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
3 eggs
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold water
1 teaspoon flavoring

DIRECTIONS—Beat sugar and water until syrup spins a thread and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is cold. Sift together three times the flour, salt and baking powder; beat yolks of eggs until thick; add a little at a time flour mixture and egg yolks alternately to white of egg mixture, stirring after each addition. Add 1/2 cup cold water and flavoring. Mix lightly and bake in moderate oven one hour.

The old method called for 6 eggs and no baking powder
