Those wishing to use the community canner may bring their vegetables to the basement of the Washington school building on Tuesday or Thursday afternoons. They should be there by 1:30 and not later than 2:00. An assistant will be in charge who will instruct in the use of the canner. A fee will be charged to pay for fuel used. This will vary from one to ten cents, depending upon amount of vegetables and number of people working.

A Warning
The Chief representative being a little late at the meeting and looking over a contemporary report of City Council Proceedings to discover if anything important transpired previous to his arrival, found that the first item related to the merits of a well known hair remedy. This is a serious question and it might be well for the public to watch the matter a little. Just how this item goes into the budget is unknown but appearances suggest Messrs. Smith and Teel as interested parties.

Clean-Up Notice

All citizens of Red Cloud are requested to clean up their premises, especially the terraces and alleys, wherever needed, in order that the city may present a favorable appearance to Fourth of July visitors. If each one will put in a little time every day this can be done quickly and easily. If not done the Marshal will visit you to see that the above request is strictly complied with.

Do Not Sell Laying Hens

Although restrictions on the sale of live or freshly killed hens were removed on April 20, farmers are asked to keep their laying hens and to market other fowls gradually. The Food Administration shortened by ten days the period of the regulation, in force since February 21, which prohibited licensed dealers from buying or selling live or freshly killed hens. The original date at which the restriction was to have expired was April 30.

Caught a Big Bug

Quite a ripple of excitement occurred in the Turnure store last Saturday morning when "Bob" Hoxey discovered a tarantula snugly ensconced in a bunch of bananas.

Answering the call for reinforcements Tom Robert assisted by Miss Pearl Hines, went bravely "over the top" and valiantly fought the "banana bug" into a glass jar which was afterward placed on exhibition and attracted much attention.

The monster insect is of a size seldom seen so far north, measuring over three inches in diameter. It was somewhat cramped in its fruit jar prison and looked dangerously ugly.

Bob is congratulating himself that he saw it first, and someone suggests that it be sent to Kaiser Bill as a souvenir.

How to Handle Wool

Growers who do not wish to sell wool to local dealers, and who have less than a carload lot may have it shipped directly east in carload lots by sending it to any of the following concentration points: Lexington, Battle Creek, David City, Wahoo, Aurora, Lincoln, Beatrice or Falls City. Farm bureaus, thru county agricultural agents, are assembling wool at these points for direct shipment. Some local dealers are handling the wool for 1 cent a pound, government fixes the price and allows them a commission of one and a half cents a pound. The government permits the growers to sell direct to the local dealers, or to consign thru them to eastern points. Growers should get in touch with their county agent if they have not already made arrangements for disposing of their wool. The government has asked that Nebraska wool be forwarded to eastern districts.

The Telephone Builds Business

"The first requisite for doing business is to be able to get a customer. The more customers you can readily get at the more business you can do."

As it is "the mind that does business" and "the telephone gives the mind wings" you can do more business by telephone than any other way, because you can reach more customers—and you reach them in a personal, voice-to-voice manner, that builds business.

DO YOU MAKE FULL USE OF THE TELEPHONE IN YOUR BUSINESS?
