TREASURY DEPARTMENT
Bureau of War Risk Insurance.
The farms of the country contributed about one-fourth of the man power of the forces of the United States engaged in the war.

It is estimated that 1,500,000 men who served in the army, the navy and the marine corps were born and reared on American farms.

A total of 4,339,048 men took out War Risk Insurance, their aggregate policies totalling nearly $40,000,000-000 and each policy averaging $8,700. Of this total insurance, service men from the farming districts carried approximately $10,420,000,000 and by far the greater percentage of this insurance was made payable to wives, mothers and other relatives who reside on farms.

The average age of the men who fell in action, died of wounds, or from other causes during the war, was 23 years, and because of their youth, by far the greater percentage were unmarried men. Which explains why 47 per cent of the policies taken out named mothers as beneficiaries, 16 per cent named fathers and only 7 per cent named wives.

In the original War Risk Act, provision was made for the policies written on service men during the war to be continued as permanent Government insurance. To avail themselves of the opportunity to convert their War risk insurance into permanent United States Government insurance it is necessary that the men discharged from the service continue to pay their monthly premiums, and at some time during the five years following the formal declaration of peace that they convert into a permanent policy.

From the record it appears that only about twenty-five per cent of the men who had insurance during the war are continuing to keep up their insurance. This is largely due to the fact that the men were unfamiliar with the provisions of the act, or that they have not felt financially able to carry their insurance at this time.

To guard against any man losing his right to Government Insurance because of this condition, the Secretary of the Treasury recently issued a ruling allowing every man eighteen months in which he has the opportunity to reinstate his insurance after he has allowed it to lapse because of non-payment of premiums.

This reinstatement privilege should be clearly understood. So long as a man is not paying his premiums he is not insured. His reinstatement privilege merely gives him the right to again have Government Insurance without undergoing physical examination, and upon the payment of two months premiums.

A nation-wide campaign has been inaugurated for direct personal contact with service men through which they may be informed of their rights to permanent Government Insurance, and in this campaign have been enlisted the American Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army, the Y. M. H. A., the Boy Scouts and numerous other national social welfare organizations. In addition more than 50,000 life insurance agents have been enlisted. The volunteer roll further includes thousands of bankers, doctors, lawyers, manufacturers, other business men and representatives of all associations which come in contact with discharged men and their dependents.

The former service man who lives on the farm will be reached to a large extent through banks which have volunteered to serve as clearing houses for information on War Risk Insurance.

There are six forms of government insurance, as follows:

1. 20-year endowment.
2. 30-year endowment.
3. 20-payment life.
4. 30-payment life.
5. Endowment at age 62.
6. Ordinary life.

Applications are being received by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance for changing the present term insurance, which was issued at the time of entering the service, into the permanent forms.

Ten features which prominently stand out in the government policy are as follows:

1. The total permanent disability clause is granted without cost to the insured and it is free from all restrictions.
2. Government insurance does not charge its policy holders and over head expense.
3. It contains an extremely liberal definition of disability.
4. It gives very substantial payments.
5. It contains no age restrictions.
6. It is unrestricted as to travel, residence or occupation.
7. Premiums paid in advance are refunded down to the month, in case of death.
8. The policy is non-taxable.
9. Unusually liberal cash, loan, paid up insurance and extended term insurance values are included.
10. It participates in dividends.

If the policy holder is unable to keep the full amount of the War Risk Insurance he carried while in the service, he may reinstate part of it from

Farm Bureau Notes

CHOLERA KILLS FEWER HOGS
According to records of the United States Department of Agriculture for the 13 months from April 1, 1918, to April 30, 1919, hog cholera killed 2,815,994 hogs, valued at $62,042,688.16, in the United States. This is the lowest loss by numbers for a similar period in the live-stock industry of the United States, but on account of the high price of hogs, the monetary loss was heavy. For example, during the year ending March 31, 1913, hogs numbering 6,064,470 and worth $58,833,653 died from cholera, while the next year the disease took 6,304,320 hogs worth $67,697,461.00.

Department experiments show that timeliness in vaccinating hogs against cholera is all important. When exposed hogs were vaccinated, while still apparently healthy, losses were only 4 per cent, but when vaccination was deferred until the animals showed external signs of sickness, losses averaged nearly 29 per cent. This shows that the man who puts off the preventive treatment until his hogs are sick with cholera, stand only one chance in seven of preventing fatal results. It is important, also, to maintain hog yards and barns in a clean and sanitary condition.

POULTRY SPECIALIST
Mr. Cornman, poultry specialist from the Extension Service of Lincoln will be in the county November 10, 11, and 12 and hold editing demonstrations and give talks on winter feeding and care of poultry. If you want the non-laying hens picked out of your flock let me know and I will have Mr. Cornman use your flock as a demonstration and your neighbors will be invited to your place, and after Mr. Cornman has picked out the non-layers of your flock, you and your neighbors will be qualified to do culling work. He will give talks at these demonstrations on winter feeding and care of poultry.

On Monday morning the past week I culled the flock of Mrs. Allen Vance of Guide Rock, out of a flock of 143 Rhode Island Red hens 69 non-layers were picked, and of the 74 layers, 24 of these were culled out on type and age, leaving 50 good Rhode Island hens. At the present price of feed, the non-laying hen is a great expense to the farmer.

Ladies Apparel of Alluring Beauty At Brach's

"THE BIG STORE"

During the busy days of Fall and Winter shopping we stop to ask customers why they come so far to trade at Brach's?

Here are some facts—

- 1 Brach's offer the greatest variety for selection.
- 2 Our expert buyers go and personally select our merchandise at every available market in our country.
- 3 From year to year and season to season we gather information from our very large clientele the requirements and fancies of our customers and this information allows us to buy intelligently.
- 4 The unusually large outlet of trade reduces the cost of doing business to a minimum, therefore we are able and do sell highest quality merchandise for prices usually asked for inferior quality.
- 5 We are not limited to individual manufacturer's brands, but carry a most complete line of the leading makes of all merchandise to be found in high class department stores.
- 6 Our strong financial rating allows us to discount all bills—where discounts are available for cash—thus we again trim the high cost of doing business.
- 7 We are in business primarily to make money, but never at the sacrifice of our good name, of 44 years standing, therefore we positively guarantee everything we sell to be satisfactory in every respect or we will gladly and unhesitatingly make it good.
