Farm Bureau Notes
DOMINANT LIVE STOCK BREEDS IN COUNTIES TO BE LISTED
In the nation wide campaign to promote the general use of pure bred sires and better live stock, the United States Department of Agriculture will keep records of the agricultural counties according to the breeds of live stock which predominate in them. Practical experience has demonstrated the desirability of communities concentrating on the production of only a few breeds and types of the different classes of live stock. Such management not only enables the individual farmers to aid each other in improving and upgrading their stock but also gains for the communities wide reputations as centers for certain breeds. The raising of several dominant breeds in any community makes that locality the mecca for prospective purchasers who are desirous of buying animals of those breeds, and also makes it possible for buyers to obtain stock in large quantities.
RECORDS TO BE KEPT
For the service of persons interested in examining or selecting live stock, the department will keep a record of the dominant breeds and varieties of the different kinds of live stock in each county where such information is obtained from accurate and dependable sources. Pending future developments in this work, a breed or variety will be considered dominant if 100 or more good pure bred sires of that breed or variety are owned and used for breeding in a county. Sources of information concerning these farm animals will include county agents, officers of State Agricultural colleges and representatives of State Boards of agriculture. The department requests that state and county live stock associations transmit figures and all data available on the pure bred sires of their region to their local county agent or the state agricultural college. This material should include a statement of the number of pure bred sires in the county, together with the date when the information was gathered. Initiative in collecting and reporting these data rests entirely with the county and state officials.
WILL AID PURCHASERS
Information gathered in this way by the Department of Agriculture will be available to the public. Thus persons wishing to purchase any kind of live stock may ascertain readily what counties in the United States, according to these records, have pure bred sires of the various breeds in which they are interested. Naturally, where as many as 100 pure bred sires are used in a community, these herd dealers will stamp their quality to a considerable extent on the live stock of that county and lead to the production of many desirable grade females, as well as pure bred stock of both sexes. Furthermore, in counties where a certain breed is considered dominant, even though there are less than 100 pure bred sires, such facts should be reported and will be kept as supplementary records.

County Agricultural Agent.

Died at Lincoln
Mrs. Sarah Glazier Bates, 73 years old, died suddenly at 9 a. m., Monday. She was a prominent educator and was a member of the second class graduating at Vassar. She was awarded Phi Beta Kappa honors. After her graduation she taught for a number of years in the high schools of Chelsea, Mass., and Akron, O. She was the first professor of mathematics at Wellesley, where she also held the chair of astronomy when the school first opened.
In 1876 she married Rev. John M. Bates, who with his four children survives her. After her marriage she moved with her husband, an Episcopalian minister, to Hartford, Conn., where they resided three years. The family then lived in Maine one year before coming west. They moved to Topeka, Kas., in 1884, where they remained three years before coming to Nebraska. They lived at North Platte, Valentine and Long Pine before Mrs. Bates came to Lincoln in 1896, to educate the children.
Mrs. Bates took post-graduate work for a number of years at the University of Nebraska in the late nineties, and for a period following. She was a member of the Sons of the Revolution before the organization of the Daughters, and was one of the charter members of the latter.
The funeral will be held from the crematory at Forest Lawn cemetery, Omaha, at 2 p. m. Wednesday. The ashes will be taken to the old home at Hartford, Conn., for burial. In addition to the husband, deceased leaves the following children: Luke M. Bates of Valentine; George W., city engineer of Lincoln; Louise, of Red Cloud and Carlos G., of Denver.—Wednesday Lincoln Journal.

If the party who took the 73-foot tie chain from the North Star school house, Wednesday, Sept. 24, 1919, will return the same at once, they will save themselves some trouble and expense. Board of Directors, District No. 66.
Mrs. Julia Warren and the South Division of the W. C. T. U. will serve a tea October 22nd, at the home of Mrs. R. P. Weesner. The members and friends of the Union are urged to attend.
Horace M. Ivey, of Lincoln, of the Western Newspaper Union was in the city Wednesday and while here made this office a fraternal call. Several years ago he worked in this office and also the Nation.
Mrs. Emma McClelland, of Beaver City, State Inspector of the Eastern Star lodge, was in the city Wednesday, at which time the lodge here held a special meeting and several new members were initiated, after which a banquet was served.
The Wakefield Construction Company, who has the contract for the building of the Besse Auditorium and sale pavilion, has the east and south wall of the pavilion up and if the weather is fair, no doubt the brick walls on these two buildings will soon be finished.

NOTICE—Beginning with Aug. 1st we will develop any size film or film pack free of charge when prints are ordered. When no prints are ordered, the price is 5c for films or 10c for film packs. Quick service: bring in your films or packs today and get your prints tomorrow. The price of prints remains as heretofore. THE RED CLOUD STUDIO
M. K. Quigley, who has been connected with this office the past three years, resigned his position the first of the week and left for Denver where he will join his wife and children and make their future home. Mr. Quigley has decided to quit the printing trade and has accepted a position with the Overland Automobile Co., in that city. This editor and Mike's many friends wish him unbounded success in his new venture.
By the purchase of about a half mile of right-a-way just south of Ayr, the county board of supervisors have eliminated the necessity of crossing the railroad at that point on the projected state and federal aid road between this city and Red Cloud. Surveyor C. A. Heartwell and men have but recently completed the necessary surveys for corners, etc., on the road from the Webster county line to the city. The road will enter Hastings on South Baltimore ave.—Adams County Democrat.

State Fire Day Proclamation
Every well regulated city has a department that is constantly on guard and ready to answer any and all calls to extinguish fires. Every town should have some organization, at least, that could be assembled in a short time for the same purpose, but what is still better than these is, care and caution on the part of all the people to PREVENT fire. It is much easier to prevent than extinguish, for a spark may instantly be fanned to a flame that will consume a whole section of a city or wipe out hundreds of square miles of forest. All such might have been avoided by care in handling a match, cigar, or cigarette, and keeping the premises free from grease and trash or other substance calculated to produce spontaneous combustion.
We are approaching that season of the year when, in this latitude, people will be starting their stoves and furnaces. During the summer stove pipes and smoke conductors become damp and rusted, and while they may look quite well and secure from the outside, yet oftentimes they are as thin as paper. All such should be examined and replaced when found defective. It is desirable that State Fire Day be observed in keeping with its true intent; and therefore, I repeat that public and private schools take up the subject of how to prevent fires and how to behave in case fire breaks out in school houses or other public places. The mayors of cities can do good service by stirring up the minds of the people and calling attention to these matters.
The State Fire Marshal has prepared and will send to every marshal of cities and to the town clerk of each village a statement giving suggestions as to the manner of conducting public meetings on State Fire Day, and indicating subjects to be discussed, so as to thoroughly impress the minds of the people with the necessity of proper care in the matter of handling fire and in looking after every place about the premises where fire is most likely to occur. Let every man, woman and child be on guard in order to prevent destructive fires.
 Hoping for the best possible results, I, Samuel R. McKelvie, Governor of Nebraska, hereby wish to emphasize the necessity of carrying out the meaning and intent of the day, and in keeping with the Act of the Legislature, I hereby proclaim Friday, November 7, 1919, STATE FIRE DAY.
Witness my hand and the great seal of the State of Nebraska, this, thirteenth day of October, 1919 (seal)
SAMUEL R. MCKELVIE, Governor.
By the Governor: Darius M. Amsberry, Secretary of State.
