"No; I never murdered any of them."

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.
For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weakness and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is included in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. At the first sign that your kidneys are not working properly, go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

Catarrah Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrah Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Catarrah Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrah, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarrah Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.

Concerning the Story of Wraps

The story of winter wraps has reached its climax, as it always does, with the arrival of the opera season. It begins early in the fall with a recital of the affairs of the stalwart coats that must bear the brunt of real service throughout the winter, and progresses through many an engrossing chapter dealing with more pretentious garments. Finally comes the resume of the brief and splendid careers of evening wraps, some of them wholly frivolous. But each season witnesses certain coats that are as rich and as useful as any; they are the best efforts of the couturiers, and include the incomparable coats of fine furs.
In the same class with these, so far as beauty is concerned, are the two impressive wraps that the camera has reported with such fidelity, shown above. They are made of the hand-somest fur fabrics and completed with collars of natural fur of the best grades. Each is worthy of the other.

The coat at the left is made up of a lustrous and very beautiful material which is a replica of broadtail. It is ample and enveloping with lines that are managed with wonderful skill, so that it seems to cling to the figure. The sleeves have deep, flaring cuffs that partly cover the hands. There is the simplest of narrow girdles at the front and a big, luxurious shawl collar of fox fur. No brocade, however rich, or cloth of gold can outclass magnificent furs or do more than give wit, as perfect a semblance of them as appears in this coat.
The textile fur in the coat at the right is like sealskin, but more supple. It has a cape-yoke and sleeves cut in one with the body. Its lining is a silk crepe and the wide collar and deep cuffs are of martin fur. The design is especially becoming to slender figures and the coat is so excellent in style and rich in appearance that it belongs in the class with sealskin. Like coats of natural fur, these may appear day or night at any sort of function.

Ingenious Small Wraps of Fur

Although there has been a certain amount of reaction, in the direction of simplicity in fur garments, the mode finds place for much that may not be classed as simple. For last winter designers vied with one another in making small wraps that embodied several different styles in one garment—capes, coats and scarfs were all suggested in a single hybrid. The designers were endlessly ingenious and the cleverness of these smaller garments gave them a charm that made a very successful appeal. So much so that the same idea has reappeared this season in fur wraps and there is a hint of it in the wide scarfs of brushed or angora wool that are furnished with belts to match.

Among the new models those that are most like a scarf, prove to be the most useful. By discarding the belt they may be worn with a tailored suit when extra warmth is required. Worn with a one-piece frock and belted down they become a coat, wonderfully becoming and convenient for afternoon or evening wear. One of the best of the new models of this kind appears at the right of the two shown in the picture. It is made in several furs; kolinsky, mink, dyed squirrel, sealskin, are all effective in it, but the furs having a dark stripe are best. It is shown in kolinsky with a wide cape collar and a narrow belt. The stripes in the skins are placed to run diagonally across the ends at the front and a fringe of tails adds an appearance of considerable length. The collar may be brought up in the muffler fashion.

The muff to match is smaller than the average, but it is soft and nearly flat—in the approved style.

Seal and leopard are combined in the chic coat at the left in such a way that each enhances the beauty of the other. The leopard skin looks like a small sleeveless jacket and its brilliance is softened by the indefinite markings in the pelt and a very generous shawl collar of sealskin. This wrap has three-quarter sleeves and a narrow belt of sealskin. It extends in panels (that widen toward the bottom) below the waistline at the back and straight in front, leaving the hips uncovered.

An Ideal Trimming.
How glad one ought to be to see the ostrich feather come back as trimming for hats for middle-aged women. It has a softness about it that no other hat ornament ever had and is more becoming to old faces than the harsh trimmings that have been in vogue so long.

KNEW HE WOULD BE THERE CLEARLY WITHOUT THE LAW

Innkeeper Evidently Had Implicit Faith in the Punctuality of His Coming Guest.

An old Englishman, James Scott by name, traveled about on business until he was nearly eighty years of age. He became celebrated for his punctuality and methodical habits. Upon one occasion a gentleman stopped at an inn much frequented by Mr. Scott and saw a fine fowl cooking.
"That looks very good," said the hungry guest. "You may serve that for my dinner."
"You cannot have that, sir," replied the landlord. "That is being cooked for Mr. Scott the traveler."
"I know Mr. Scott very well," said the gentleman. "Is he stopping here?"
"Oh, no, sir," answered the landlord. "But six months ago he ordered a fowl to be ready for him at precisely two o'clock today, and we are expecting him every minute."

Too Obliging.
Marie Dressler, the head of the Chorus Girls' union, said, during the chorus girls' strike in New York:
"We are striking, too, for a clean life. Too many of the men in the theatrical profession expect the chorus girl to be—or, well, to be obliging. Like the French maid, you know."
"That new French maid of the Smith-Petersons is an obliging creature," said a clubman.
"Yes?" said another clubman. "Yes? How so?"
"This morning," said the first clubman, "I saw her out with Mrs. Smith-Peterson's dog, and this evening with Mrs. Smith-Peterson's husband."—Detroit Free Press.

Wise Judge Quickly Pointed Out Why Musician Was Manifestly Guilty of Loafing.

A man was brought into court recently under the anti-loafing law. The judge looked at him for a moment and then asked:
"What is your occupation?"
"I am a musician, your honor," was the reply.
"In that case I'll have to find you guilty of loafing."
"But, your honor," protested the man, "I'm regularly employed by the church as an organist."
"That only confirms my opinion," said the judge. "The law requires every man to work, but your occupation requires you to play."

Mysterious Theft of Diamonds.
Precious stones, worth almost $500,000, in transit between London and Ceylon, have disappeared. This is said to be the biggest robbery of its kind between London and the East, though there have been many greater elsewhere. The famous pearl necklace case between London and Paris of a few years ago, in which the pearls were replaced by lumps of sugar, involved an amount of $740,000.
There is a remarkable resemblance between this case and that on the Nagoya, which occurred last July. On that occasion diamonds worth $250,000 were stolen from the vessel in transit to India.

Subtle Scheme.

"Well?" said the rich lady.
"Could you supply the necessary liquor?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.
