GETTING CROPS TO MARKET

Of Little Avail to Raise Produce of Any Kind If It Cannot Be Moved to Shipping Point.

While a great deal is being said about the crying need of cultivating every acre of land which can be made to yield crops at a fair profit, there is a surprising silence about the equally important need of providing facilities for getting those crops to shipping points. It is of little avail to raise wheat if it cannot be hauled to market.

At a recent convention of the Ohio Good Roads association, the farmer delegates spoke with the utmost conviction of the need of improved roads, good 365 days in the year. If they were to do their part in the mobilization of the resources of the country in the cause of humanity, moreover, these delegates from the farms did not ask to have the roads improved for them; they promised their full proportion of financial support for their construction.

An entirely different condition is reported from New England, New York and New Jersey. There the congestion of railway traffic makes the highways of great value in delivering manufactured materials from one city to another; the motor truck has suddenly become a real necessity in meeting the urgent requirements for transporting the products of the cities. In short, the rational improvement of roads is an essential element of the grave economic problems of the day, to make the valuable products of the farm and shop available to the user at the lowest possible cost. This subject should be studied at once as an economic problem, the same as the provision of railway and waterway transportation, the increase in cultivated acreage and the improvement of manufacturing facilities. Crops that cannot be moved from the farms except at enormous expense and manufactured products that must lie in storehouse because of congestion of railways are of little value to a nation which needs such things now.

Tender Vegetables.

Vegetables quickly grown are more tender and of better quality than those slowly grown. Good soil and good cultivation are needed.

SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS OPENS DEC. 1

Army of Volunteer Salespeople Await Call to Their Posts in Nearly Every City and Town in the Country.

$6,500,000 IS THE GOAL

Fund Needed to Meet Expenses of the National Tuberculosis Association and Its Allied Societies During 1920 Educational and Preventive Campaign

The 1919 sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals will begin on the first day of December. With the opening of business on that day an army of volunteer salespeople will sound—"Buy Red Cross Christmas Seals!"—the call to arms in the war of extermination against tuberculosis. The sale will extend through December 10th.

The annual Red Cross Christmas Seal sale provides the chief income of the National Tuberculosis Association and its one thousand affiliated associations which are in the very forefront of anti-tuberculosis organizations. The 1920 programme of the allied organizations calls for greatly increased activities. To meet this extension of effort a combined budget of more than $6,500,000 is required and with this goal in view the intensive sales appeals will be made.

A recent health survey resulted in startling disclosures. Until the survey tuberculosis experts were, to a large degree, in the dark as to the real extent of the ravages of the disease in this country. All doubt on this point has been cleared up and the estimated total of active cases is placed above the 1,000,000 mark. To search out every case of tuberculosis in the country is the ultimate aim of the National Tuberculosis Association and its allies.

Towns are being formed in every community. Business men are forming sales organizations and similar groups are being organized by former service men.
