PRAIRIE DOGS

Mr. W. D. Perry, Extension Specialist on prairie dogs, gophers and rats, spent Wednesday, June 23, in the county.

Two demonstration meetings were held and fifty farmers attended these meetings.

Mr. Perry used and recommended Poison Oats. He said oats was a natural bait for dogs—more so than wheat or corn—and birds and other animals would not take to oats as readily, as wheat or corn.

The oats should be placed several feet away from the hole on hard ground, and well scattered, a good tablespoonful at each hole.

The prairie dog is a wise animal, and for that reason, the bait must lay for two or three days without getting a rain on in order to get most of the dogs. With favorable conditions, you ought to get ninety to ninety-five per cent of the dogs the first time over. You will have to follow up in several weeks and then if you have a few wise dogs left you will have to use some Carbon-bisulphate to get them.

The use of Poison Oats is easy to put out and not very expensive. One man can cover twenty-five acres in an hour, and it costs about ten cents per acre. The thought of tacking the job is greater than the job itself. Farmers having dogs can secure the Poison Oats by calling at the office, where we will keep a supply on hand.

RATS

Mr. Perry recommended for poisoning rats, Barium-carbonate on meat, cheese and bread. He said some rats would prefer cheese, others meat and others bread, and for that reason you had to use three kinds of bait. He said the Barium-carbonate was not very expensive, one-half ounce being sufficient to clean up all rats in the average farm yard.

OIL DRILL TO START SOON

The Review of last week notified its readers that there would soon be "something doing" in oil.

Its words have come true.

Now, there will be something doing.

The Bethlehem Oil Co. has disposed of its interests in the local oil field to the Porter Askew Co. of Omaha.

Mr. Askew has invested $25,000 and puts up cash guarantee that work will be commenced as soon as the necessary drilling tools can be landed here. His company is well known in Texas oil fields and there is every prospect that within the next few weeks you will hear the chug, chug of a drill going down in search of treasure.

While in Texas not long since Mr. Askew met the geologist who investigated our field and became sufficiently interested to look into it personally. The result was an offer which Mr. Frost, for the Bethlehem Co., accepted, he, the acting head of the company, desiring to retire from the immediate active personal work on account of his health and other business demanding his close attention.

However, Mr. Frost still retains a large acreage interest which goes to show his retirement is not due to any loss of faith in the prospect.

Mr. Askew wires that final contracts for actual drilling are practically closed and work will be started within a few weeks.

Last shipment of larger sized cranes has arrived and is being unloaded.

Members of the parent company here are to be congratulated upon their success in the face of innumerable difficulties, for it is no small task to get a work of such magnitude started in an untried field.

The big Democratic Convention is in full swing in Frisco. Oratory, demonstrations and applause are the order of the day. Beginning with the presentation of Senator Owen of Oklahoma it slowly worked its way down the list of candidates until, on the close of Wednesday the name of Ambassador Davis had not been reached. Firey orations were made in favor of the various candidates, accompanied by the pipe organ and brass bands. The plan of the leaders had been to keep the convention in session until all nominating speeches had been disposed of and then adjourn until Thursday afternoon to consider the platform and proceed to balloting. According to reports the drafting committee had agreed upon a prohibition plank which was declared "slightly moist." Many felt confident that W. J. Bryan could not get his prohibition plank into the platform.

A SUGGESTION

(From The Youth's Companion)

If you live in or near a large city, stand for a few minutes in front of one of the great railway stations between seven and nine o'clock in the morning, or between five and seven o'clock at night, and watch the crowd pouring in or out. Go to the heart of the shopping section in the middle of the day and observe the tide of people that flows and eddies about the great department stores and sometimes fills the streets from curb to curb.

When you have fixed the picture so firmly in your mind that even with your eyes closed you can see your fellow creatures as bees in a swarm, pushing, crawling, ceaselessly moving over and upon and against one another, ask yourself how many of them all actually produce one tenth or one hundredth of the food that they eat.

Everything that goeth in at the mouth of a man must come, directly or indirectly, from the soil, and by the

A Letter to Farmers Union Co-Operative Ass'n Members From the Farmers Co-Operative Elevator

We wish to take this way to thank you for your past patronage and assure you that we will do our best to handle the new crop of grain to your satisfaction.

As you all know we were able to pay 6 cents a bushel dividend on wheat sold to us during 1919 and with your help we will endeavor to do better than that this year.

From all we can learn from the railroad company the car shortage will be much worse this year than last and we believe where it is possible it will pay you to stack your grain or make arrangements to bin it for a while. We believe new wheat will start off at a good price but with a good foreign demand in sight we look for a better market a little later.

Our storage capacity here is small, but with your co-operation we are sure that we can handle your grain and do it to your advantage.

We want you to feel that this is your business and to take a personal interest in it for without your individual interest and co-operation we cannot make a complete success. If at any time we can give you any information in regard to the markets, or can be of any service to you in any other way, please call on us.

We will soon be in our new office and will have the proper office equipment to handle your business as quickly and with as small an expense as possible. Remember that you get all that your grain brings on the market less the small expense it takes to handle it when you do business with us. Is this not better than doing business with an individual firm and having your grain pay both expenses and a profit to the owner? For this reason we feel that it will pay you to make some arrangements and hold your grain for a short time, if on account of the car shortage we are unable to handle it as soon as it is threshed.

We again thank you for your past patronage and co-operation.
