No Need of Getting Shoes Half a Size Too Large as so many ladies do—because they don't pay enough attention to the fit of the stockings.

You can always get the "happy medium" of a comfortably snug fit—no waste room in the toes or heels, or about the ankles—no wrinkles to hurt and look slovenly.

There's a size in

that is precisely your size. They're knit (never wet and molded) to size and shape. They'll neither shrink and bind your feet, nor stretch and wrinkle under the shoes, after you've worn them awhile.

Because they fit so well, they look trim and stylish; the extra wear you get out of them is due to the extra quality long-fiber yarn of which they're made and the special dye (Harmenot) which positively doesn't burn, rot or weaken the fabric.

Cotton, silk or wool—perfect in weave, wear and wash.

LIBRARY NOTES

During the past year 9625 volumes of fiction, 728 non-fiction and 769 magazines were drawn from the library. The largest number of books drawn in one day was 160 on February 5th.

A card catalog has been made of the books in the library. There are about ten thousand cards in the catalog and the books are indexed by author, title and subject.

The high school student and the upper grade children are showing a marked improvement in their ability to use the reference books in the library.

The children are very much interested in a new stereoscope and views which have recently been purchased.

"John Martin's Book" is a new magazine especially for the little children from three to nine. The stories are very good for reading aloud and the mothers who have taken it home speak very highly of it.

If you wish to read the new magazines come to the library. You will be welcome. There are the American, Literary Digest, Outlook, Harper's, Century, Popular Mechanics, Ladies' Home Journal, Woman's Home Companion, Good Housekeeping, National Geographic, Life and others. For the boys and girls there are the Youth's Companion, St. Nicholas, Boy's Life and the American Boy. Magazines may be taken from the library.

According to the "Bookman" the following books are the most in demand in the public libraries of the United States at the present time:

Top of the World—Ethel Dell.
Main Street—Sinclair Lewis.
The Valley of Silent Men—J. O. Curwood.

A Poor Wise Man—Marl R. Rhinehart.
Harriet and the Piper—Kathleen Norris.

The Purple Heights—Marie Oemler.
If you want a good book come to the library. Some of these new ones will interest you:

"Main Street" by Sinclair Lewis. A novel about the real American small town of today. Not horse-trading deacons and pink romance in sunbonnets, but farm line telephones, Fords, land deals, the movies and trips to the metropolis or Los Angeles. Considered one of the best American novels of today.

"Sister Sue" Eleanor H. Porter's last big novel. A story of joy through self sacrifice; of a girl who surrenders her career for the sake of her family, and who discovers at last that in helping others she has helped herself to find romance and happiness.

"Eve to the Rescue" by Ethel Hueston. Eve finds her greatest joy in doctoring up the troubles of her friends and she is the sympathetic recipient of confidences from all sources. She advances the theory that duty alone, without the personal touch, isn't enough to create happiness in the world, and proves her principle in the end.

"The Mysterious Rider" by Zane Grey. The mysterious rider came to the Bellhounds ranch from no one knew where, and managed his gun so expertly that he became known as "Hell-Bent" Wade. He played the part of fate in the lives of those at the ranch and when he made his great sacrifice, Columbine was released from the shadow of tragedy and entered the sunshine of love.

"The Valley of Silent Men" by James Oliver Curwood. A plot thriller of the Canadian Northwest. There are romance and adventure a plenty, a red-blooded hero, a beautiful heroine, a satisfying villain, trappers, brigade captains and voyageurs and through it all an unguessable mystery.

"The Trumpeter Swan" by Temple Bailey. Nantucket Moors and old Virginia are the back ground of a wholesome romance with a radiantly happy ending.

"A Poor Wise Man" by Mary Roberts Rhinehart. A brisk, entertaining story of labor, politics and love.
