During his term of office he has conducted the affairs of the office in a very capable manner and is worthy of the vote and support of his party at the coming primaries. The Chief believes that the Democratic party will make no mistake in nominating him as a candidate for another term in this office.

The announcement of Fred Hedge who has filed as a candidate for Sheriff on the Republican ticket appears in our Political Announcement column. Mr. Hedge served two terms as deputy under his brother. His many friends predict that he will be a strong candidate for this office on the Republican ticket.

Embarrassing Situation.
My most embarrassing situation happened when I was a young girl. Our Sunday school gave a picnic in the woods and I attended, wearing a white dress, and carrying a green silk parasol. Unfortunately, a rain came up and after it was over my dress was as green as my parasol.—Chicago Journal.

A Letter To Make Good

Must impress the person who receives it with its importance, whether the correspondence be of a business or personal nature. The mails are flooded with cheap circular letters and the average busy man of to-day gives his mail the "once over" and passes most of it to the waste basket. A letter to demand attention in these busy times must be distinctive.

Hammermill Ripple Bond

Printed correctly makes the nicest letter head you can possibly obtain. The hard smooth surface of this paper renders it particularly adaptable to high class artistic printing and the ripple finish places it in a class by itself for attractive appearance. The "crisp cackle" you notice in opening a letter written on Hammermill Ripple immediately suggests taste and progressiveness on the part of the sender.

Newspaper Not Limited To Printing All the News

Conserving of People's Rights and Fidelity to Principles of America's Democracy Are Basis of World-Herald Conduct.

For more than a third of a century the Omaha World-Herald, under the ownership of Senator G. M. Hitchcock, has been the champion of true Americanism and of good government.

It has fought without swerving for fundamental democracy.

It has been the exponent of popular rights guaranteed by the constitution—the rights of free speech and a free press, of freedom of assembly, of religion, and of education—and has defended them whenever and by whomsoever assailed.

The World-Herald under Senator Hitchcock's direction, has devoted itself to teaching understanding and respect for the constitution of the United States, respect for the law, the liberties of all citizens under the law, and the duty of government, under the constitution, to protect the lives and activities of the people and to respond to the settled popular will.

A daily reading of the World-Herald affords a liberal course of study and enlightenment in not only the duties and obligations, but the rights and privileges of American citizenship.

The World-Herald is a newspaper that does not stop with printing the news and commenting upon it. It believes that an American newspaper owes to its readers an educational duty as to basic principles to help men and women fit themselves for the responsibilities of citizenship. Ours is a government of the people. It will be such as the people make it. And they will make it such as they are themselves. The stream cannot rise higher than its source. If good and privilege entrench upon the people's rights, if cunning triumphs, if liberties are lost, it will be because the people do not understand and, because they do not, are unable to help and protect themselves.

It is more light and less heat that is needed in dealing intelligently with our public problems. Light that will enable the people to know what Americanism really is, the soul and truth of it, what are their powers and opportunities as electors in our government, what the government actually means to them.

There has been published recently a wonderful little book, called "The Short Constitution." It is the work of Judge Martin J. Wade of the United States federal court and of Dean William F. Russell of the college of education of the Iowa State university. This book translates the guarantees of the constitution into the language of the ordinary man, woman and child. It affords to the ordinary citizen knowledge of the relation of the constitution to his life and the lives of his children. It is a most helpful and inspiring work in the field of true, not spurious Americanism.

9th, will publish this book in daily installments. It takes the form of lectures delivered by a judge to children in the school room. It brings home to every man and woman, and to every child, the great truth Abraham Lincoln had in mind when he said:

"Government—Liberty—Authority—Law the man or woman who fails to appreciate the true meaning of these terms, lack the training necessary to be a good citizen of the republic."

The World-Herald wants all its readers to read these lectures. Especially it wants to interest the children, for the future of our republic is in their hands.

Therefore, the World-Herald is offering liberal prizes, open to all children in common schools, parochial schools and high schools, for essays based on these lectures, on "What the Constitution Means to Me." The study of the lectures, followed by writing a short essay—not to exceed 500 words—on the subject, will be an influence for good citizenship that will last through life. The World-Herald urges fathers and mothers to read these lectures themselves and to interest their children in them and in the prize essay contest.

This is only an example of the work the World-Herald is doing to promote the cause of good citizenship and good government. It is a newspaper with ideals and convictions and with the courage to fight for them. While in a partisan sense it is democratic, as Senator Hitchcock is, it is something more than a partisan newspaper. It is independent and free, and it does not hesitate to disagree with the democratic party when it believes the party is wrong. It is the property solely of Senator Hitchcock and his close associates engaged in producing it. No corporations, no outside interests of any kind, own a dollar of its stock. Its owners are not financially interested in other enterprises or corporations. Its soul is its own, and it is free always to speak its own mind. It is a clean newspaper, free from sensationalism or objectionable matter in both its news and advertising columns. You can safely take it into your home and encourage your children to read it.

The World-Herald is by far the largest newspaper in Nebraska and by far the best. Much more money is spent to produce it. Yet the price is reasonable. It gives you more for the money not only than any other Nebraska paper but than anything else you can buy. A year's subscription for the Daily and Sunday World-Herald is $6.00, or it will be sent you six months for $3.00. You could make no better investment for yourself and for your family—over 500 pages every month, or 6,200 newspaper pages in a year's issues.

DE LAVAL
CREAM SEPARATOR

Here's why the De Laval is the cheapest machine to buy:

- It will pay you in cream saved from $3 to $5 a cow every year over an inferior or half-worn-out cream separator.
- It will pay you in cream saved from $10 to $15 a cow every year over gravity skimming.
- It will give you a heavier and better cream, the kind the creamery-man wants, the kind that gives you more skim-milk for your stock.

It will last two to ten times as long as other cream separators. Figure it out for yourself and you will see why the De Laval is the most economical.

And added to it all is the immeasurable satisfaction of owning a machine that "works like a charm" 365 days in the year.

We know that when we sell you a De Laval we sell you a machine you'll be proud to own. We sell them on liberal terms. Come in and talk it over.
