

Radio Phone Is No Longer Fad

From a Toy Wireless Telephone Has Now Become Household Convenience.

35 STATIONS GIVING SERVICE

Out of the Air Come Daily News Bulletins, Lectures, Sermons, Vocal and Instrumental Concerts and Other Features.

New York.—Have you got your "ear to the air"?

Thousands have. Enthusiasm over the wireless telephone is spreading tremendously. From a fad and a toy the radio receiving set has become a household convenience.

Out of the air come daily news bulletins, lectures, sermons, vocal and instrumental concerts, operas, market reports, government time signals, shipping news, weather forecasts, fashion tips, agricultural reports, church services and children's bed-time stories.

Radio broadcasting service is available in all parts of the United States. Probably not less than 250,000 receiving sets are in operation, the daily audience that listens in numbering more than 1,000,000 people.

There are 14,000 amateur transmitting stations operated by enthusiastic experimenters and capable of short-distance broadcasting. Numerous government stations broadcast official business, but also can be used in distributing speeches or messages to the country at large.

35 Stations Active. Broadcasting stations giving public service now are operated in 35 cities. Here is the list:

Newark, N. J.—Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company station; hourly service from 11 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Cincinnati, O.—Precision Equipment company station; music and vaudeville programs and sport reports Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Give Grand Opera.

Chicago, Ill.—Westinghouse station; complete daily program; concerts Friday evening; grand opera program every evening except Friday during opera season.

Madison, Wis.—University of Wisconsin station; weather reports daily, except Sunday, at 12:35 p. m.; music program Friday evenings.

Kansas City, Mo.—Western Radio company station; market reports and weather forecasts daily; concerts every evening.

Lincoln, Neb.—University of Nebraska station; concerts every evening.

Denver, Col.—Reynolds Radio company; news twice daily; concerts every evening.

Dallas, Tex.—Police and Fire department station; news, weather forecast and concerts every evening.

Austin, Tex.—University of Texas station; local news and athletic reports daily.

San Francisco, Cal.—Commercial and hotel stations broadcasting concerts every evening, California theater broadcasting performances nightly.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Hamburger's department store; daily service.

San Jose, Cal.—Harrold laboratories station; daily service.

Other cities having broadcasting stations include: Cleveland, Philadelphia, Columbus, O., Buffalo, Detroit, Mich., Akron, O., Hamilton, O., Seattle, Wash., Houston, Tex., Davenport, Ia., Iowa City, Ia., Rome, Ga., Paris, Tex.

This does not include government stations, except the Arlington naval station. In addition the government has 230 land radio stations. Probably the biggest public service broadcasting station in the country is being built by the American Telegraph and Telephone company in New York. After it is placed in operation others will be built in various centers over the country.

NO MONKEY BUSINESS

"Now, cut out the 'monkey business' and let's get weighed," says Keeper Parker of the Lincoln park zoo, Chicago. This is a common occurrence at the zoo, for Mr. Parker keeps his "children" in the pink of condition. This one is the prime favorite of the young visitors to the zoo.

NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N. Y.—"I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly everyone around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. CHAS. BAKER, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N.Y. In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

Met 20 Ghosts; Now An Expert

Washington Man Upsets Popular Belief by Saying Hands Not Clammy.

ONE GHOST BROUGHT APPLES

Liked All His Spooky Visitors Except One—Treat Them Kindly, Is His Advice—One Ghost Wore Patched Garments.

Washington.—Antigonish and its ethereal visitor, which apparently has gone on a strike since the arrival of scientists and curiosity seekers, is backed into insignificance when compared to the bodiless visitors who sometimes pick out Washington as a ghostly rendezvous.

At least so says William H. Bryson, 1002 M street, N. W., amateur ghost chaser of the District, who allows that since he first started studying the habits and mannerisms of spooks, five years ago, he has been visited by 20 assorted ghosts, all of whom turned out with one exception to be first rate chaps.

Bryson, who until recently was employed in the government service in a semi-scientific capacity, had come out with the blanket statement that ghosts do have bodily characteristics and, contrary to popular belief, the hand clasp of a spook is warm and not cold and clammy.

While the hunter after the habitat of the dweller in the world beyond has made no effort to photograph his nocturnal visitors, he says he has held protracted conversations with many of his friends and relatives who have passed on.

One Ghost Carried Apples. It might be said that Bryson goes further in his research in the fact that he avers that one of the ghosts who

Relic of California Gold Rush Imperiled

Coloma, Cal.—The historic Welmar oak here is in peril. Because it endangers his farm home, Homer Metcalf may cut down the oak. It was under this tree that Mr. and Mrs. Peter Welmar constructed their home when they came to Coloma with James W. Marshall, the discoverer of gold, in 1848, and part of the historic old home still stands on the spot. It was in this house that Mrs. Welmar boiled the nuggets in soap suds and discovered their preciousness, and it was this discovery that sent the news round the world which brought the gold rush to California.

paid him a visit about three months ago wore silk gloves, or what appeared to be silk and felt like that material, and was carrying a few red apples.

Asked if he had held any protracted conversation with his ghostly friend Bryson admitted he had and went so far as to say he ate a shady apple. The fruit had no flavor, he said, but Bryson declares that a core was left and can produce it if occasion demands.

On one occasion, Bryson said, his brother visited him and complained bitterly about conditions on the Florida seacoast where a self-respecting ghost of the past decade could not enjoy himself. Whether it was the beach nymphs or the conditions regarding the influx of foreign spirits from Scotland the ghost did not say, but he nevertheless said he would seek some other clime during the winter of 1923.

The wandering ones also are subject to down-and-out periods in "shadowland," Bryson states, as one friend who was rather opulent here came wandering into his room with ghostly garments that had been patched in several places.

Don't Like Cold Reception.

In this connection the saying that "you can't take it with you" may be erroneous, as the spook gave every evidence, according to the spectator, of being in need of a few shades of greenbacks to buy a new set of garments.

Some of the shades that return and haunt the scenes of their life are not inclined to be kindly disposed, especially if one turns the covers over the head and keeps muggy until the ghost loses heart at the cold reception and blows off to some more hospitable place.

Another ghost that Bryson knew in the flesh, according to the medium, appeared to him on one occasion and bitterly berated him for having lost a few dollars of his while on earth in a business deal. "In the future you will see me often," the spook is said to have announced in the language of the beyond, and to prove it he came for six nights running.

Asked if he ever became nervous at the nocturnal visitations, Bryson hastened to remark that he did not invite the bodiless ones to visit him, but did not put up signs that no spook traffic would be allowed.

He qualified his last statement by saying that a prohibitive sign would only go to rile the departed ones and he would no doubt have his home cluttered up with a bevy of ghosts each night who might berate him for his unkindness.

Luncheon in Medinet Hobu Temple

Here's a nice quiet spot for luncheon in the Temple of Medinet Hobu, directly across the Nile from Karnak. The three little girls in the picture are watercarriers and the reeds they are holding are to fan flies from the travellers and their donkeys. From the time the tourist sets forth on his ride to the ruins until he returns, several of the children follow him on their self-appointed tasks.
