FARM BUREAU NOTES
(By County Agent, Henry R. Fausch)
A HIGH FORM OF SERVICE

Live stock production represents one of the highest forms of service that agriculture renders the human race. It renders the farmer a direct service in affording him a cash commodity of one form or another. It provides a home market for farm crops which might not sell to advantage or which might have no sale value whatever. It enables him to utilize farm labor to the best advantage and further more, to utilize feeds on his farm in such a manner as to conserve soil fertility and increase the productiveness of the farm. In addition to all of these services, which would deny that the influences and environment of live stock farming are productive of the highest types of manhood and womanhood.

PROGRESS BEING SHOWN

Since the middle of the 18th century, leading live stock men have systematically endeavored to improve the ordinary and inferior classes of live stock adhering to fundamental principles of selection, feeding and management. As a result of their efforts, modern improved types and breeds of farm animals have been produced. In the process of this development, the best animals gained recognition and were registered for the pure bred. In this improvement there has been a noticeable reduction in the time required for reaching maturity; a more economical growth and production; and a quality of product that was superior to unimproved types.

At the present time it is often difficult to distinguish between high grade animals and pure bred animals of the various types and breeds but that we should always remember that it is the pure bred live stock industry that we owe the success of high grade animals.

MARKETING PURE BRED LIVE STOCK

There can be no sound policy for marketing pure bred live stock without first having a superior class of animals. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon their being of superior merit. They must first of all be superior in those qualities for which live stock is primarily bred and produced; namely, the production of meat, milk, wool and labor as the case may be. Pure bred animals which lack these qualities are degenerate and oftentimes are inferior to the common non-pure bred classes of live stock.

WANTED

Young men, handy with carpenter tools, for permanent employment—rate 47c to 63c per hour, depending upon ability and experience, with pay at rate of time and one-half after eight hours' work. Call on or write—Master Mechanic, C. B. & Q. R. R., Wymore, Nebr.

Character Growth Slow.

To be set too early is to take the work out of the hands of the sculptor that fashions men. A character that does not wait for circumstances to shape it is of less worth in the race than that which is to be run.—George Meredith.

Very Much to Be Desired.

We all should like a cook such as an English clergyman advertised for in the London Times. In his advertisement he said among other things that it was essential not only that his cook should have a sense of humor but also that she should exemplify the spirit of Galatians, verse 22. Now Galatians, verse 22, reads thus: "But the fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith."
