"ALWAYS prepared and waiting to fill any Grocery order" is the motto under which our store is run. It means that no matter how small your order may be or what particular items you may want, we are ready to supply them.

We never allow any of our lines of package, bottled or canned goods to decrease to a "sold out" level. Neither do we offer anything in the Vegetable or Fruit line, unless it is strictly fresh. And what's more, we are sure our prices will please you.

Charles W. Bryan represents the people—that has been his aim since he entered public life. That's the kind of a governor we need at Lincoln.

Democratic legislatures used to appropriate less than $10,000,000 to run the state for each two-year period. Now the appropriations run in the neighborhood of $30,000,000. The amount can be greatly cut down, and democrats will do it.

Ed Beach, former state chairman of the republican party, "hit a three-bagger" the other day when he said: "The code government operates in just this way: It is like the combination of a millinery store, a jewelry store, a cream station and a livery barn operated by a proprietor of the livery barn. And just as this combination would work efficiently so do the code departments work efficiently. The people are paying dearly for the McKelvie brand of government."

FARM BUREAU NOTES
(By County Agent, Henry R. Fausch)

SEED TREATMENT FOR STINKING SMUT (BUNT) IN WHEAT

Soaking method: Run the seed thru a good fanning mill before treatment. This will remove many of the shiveled and light weight kernels, spore balls, many of the free smut spores, and dirt. Make up a solution consisting of 1 pint Formalin to 35 gallons of water. Put the seed in loosely filled burlap sacks, dip into the solution and soak for five minutes. Drain on slats over the barrels or tanks to prevent wasting the solution. Place the seed on a clean floor or canvas, and cover with sacks or canvas for two hours. Dry by spreading in a thin layer and stirring occasionally with a rake or shovel. If the seed is sown when swollen, open the drill to effect this. Disinfect the drill with a one to 10 solution of Formalin. It is recommended that Formalin in sealed bottles be purchased.

SPRINKLING METHOD
This method is not as effective as the soaking method and is not to be recommended when the soaking method can be used. Where the wheat is only slightly affected and it is run thru a fanning mill with a good air blast to remove the spore balls this method may be successfully used.

Sprinkle on the seed a solution of one pint of formalin to 35 gallons of water, using about one gallon to the bushels, shoving over at the same time to make sure of uniform wetting. Cover in a pile with bags or canvas and handle as in the soaking method. The effectiveness of this treatment depends on the thorough wetting of each seed. If the seed is swollen, open the drill to offset this. Disinfect the drill with a one to 10 solution of Formalin. It is recommended that Formalin in sealed bottles be purchased.

Provokes Parental Profanity.
An amusing comment on the quality of the government telephone service in Great Britain was recently made by an American woman temporarily residing in London with her husband and little boy. She said that, whenever her husband answered the telephone, or picked up the receiver to make a call, it was a household rule that she must without fail immediately entice her son out of the room and as far away as possible. In order that the boy might not hear her husband swear, as he inevitably would.

How a Farmer Puts in Time

Tergervius Tim, a humorous farm correspondent, writes:

"A farmer is an individual who works 13 hours a day for a living; if the undertaker gets him before he is 50 he don't even get that. He works from five in the morning until noon to pay his taxes and interest; he works all afternoon to pay the hired man, and after supper he goes out and works until dark to try to save enough to get his wife a new dress, and hat, which she must have every five years whether she needs it or not.

"Some folks farm because they like to and cannot sleep after 4 o'clock in the morning; others because they have to and nobody cares about the rest. The farmer wakes up in the morning in spring time amid the beautiful notes of the song birds and in the fall wakes up as the other notes are due.

"A farmer raises a big family to help him farm. When they are young they can't help and when they grow up they go to town to drive a street car or work in a bank.

"There are two kinds of farmers, check book farmers and grass root and dirt farmers. The former have perfume on their handkerchiefs and the other on their overalls. One makes his money in town and spends it in the country—the other is trying to save enough in the country to pay for what he has already spent in town."—Casper's Weekly.
