The Old Settlers' Picnic

The picnic at Cowles was a very enjoyable occasion. The good people of Cowles had spared no pains to make everyone feel welcome on the grounds and games for the entertainment of all. The places of business were closed, and the public school dismissed.

The school children pleased everyone by the interest they displayed and the skill with which they performed the parts assigned to them.

Every township in the county was represented. Among the speeches of the men, those of Charles Gurney, Mel Sherman and Louis Peisiger were, perhaps, the best received by the audience. These speakers easily made themselves heard, and their remarks were of a nature to catch and keep the attention of the hearers.

Dr. Laird presented a statistical history of the beginning of Oak Creek. The doctor's voice was not quite strong enough for an out-of-doors address and there were a good many who failed to hear all that he had to say.

Emanuel Peters, the sole survivor of the first band of pioneer pioneers, and of the pioneers of Guide Rock, gave the first talk. It is regrettable that Mr. Peters speaks so quietly. Some of his remarks were not heard by the majority. But Mr. Peters' weakness in this respect was amply compensated by the easy and pleasing elocution of his daughter, Mrs. Parker. Her talk was witty and eloquent. We hope to reproduce the original poem with which it ended, entitled: "The Sod-covered Dug Out that Stood by the Well."

Mrs. Walter Sherwood gave some interesting reminiscences in a pleasant off-hand manner.

Miss Keeney gave a reading which was peculiarly appropriate. She is the daughter of Henry Keeney, and the granddaughter of one of the first three settlers of the Cowles neighborhood.

Daniel Garber spoke for the son's of the pioneers, and Howard Foe for their grandsons. Inasmuch as there was a joking allusion to his candidacy, and the possibilities of physical disfigurement from his opponent, the chairman called upon Mr. Caldwell to give assurance that the contest between the two candidates would not be of a pugilistic nature.

For the first time in the history of these picnics, there was representation of the French settlers in the north-west part of the county. Mr. Marcel and his son were present, and seemed to enjoy meeting with the pioneers of other nationalities.

The people of Guide Rock did not make as good a showing as usual. The crowd was booked for Burr Oak on that day. Those who were present made up in quality what was lacking in numbers.

It was the opinion of all present that Cowles deserved to continue as the meeting place of these annual assemblages.

On motion of Mr. Keeney, the chairman was instructed to appoint a suitable person in each township to take note of the passing of pioneers and present memorials of their lives to the future gatherings

A good many in the audience were disappointed because Mr. Wagoner and Mr. Waller were not heard. They were present and ready, but the base ball game and the lateness of the hour when they were called for, caused them to deny themselves and the rest of us.

Senator Hitchcock to Speak

United States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, who is a candidate for reelection, is scheduled to speak in Red Cloud, Nebr., at 3:00 o'clock p. m., on Sept. 27th.

The Senator's friends, in reviewing his record, point out what the Senator has done for the farming interests of the state and give him credit for having voted in the interest of the farmer and supported every bit of legislation that the farmer needed. In addition, the Senator initiated several pieces of legislation which were of great benefit to the farming industry.

The Senator has introduced, and has pending in congress of the United States, a bill for the establishment of an international system of credit which will enable Europe to buy the farm products of America at once, thus providing a market for the American farmer and giving him a chance to obtain some of the prices for his products which the Senator believes the farmer should obtain. In his speech, he will explain some of the provisions of this measure and show how it will raise the prices of farm products.

Picnic Was a Success

Wednesday the Mason and Eastern Star members of the local lodge with a large number of visitors from the surrounding towns held a picnic at the Country Club grounds southwest of this city. The members began gathering about eleven o'clock and a cafeteria dinner was served from 12 to 1. The coffee, which was excellent, was made by Messrs. Ed Platt, H. C. Letsons, R. V. Nicholson and C. S. Romine.

After dinner the band played a few selections and a short time was spent in visiting.

The first thing on the program was the speech by Grand Master Chas. A. Chappell, of Minden, who proved to be a forceful talker and was at home on the platform. His talk pleased the crowd and he was introduced by Fred Maurer.

The races and ball game were then pulled off. The married men won the game by a score of 11 to 8. Those who played golf then spent the rest of the time at this pastime until supper was served. Those present reported a good time and are looking for a picnic again next year.

Through the generosity of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of this city, the people of this community enjoyed an excellent musical program at the Besse Auditorium Wednesday evening, given by the Tehama Temple Shrine Band of Hastings. This band is one of the best in the state, and their music never fails to entertain and please. We wish to extend the thanks of this community to the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine for their invitation to attend this entertainment, and can truthfully say that it was greatly enjoyed by the large crowd present.
