GARFIELD COMMUNITY DAY ATTRACTED LARGE CROWD
Sunday was a big day at the Garfield Community church. It was Community Day and the Community was there. Approximately three hundred took dinner and were present for the afternoon service. People came from Superior, North of Guide Rock, Lester, Inavale, Cowles, Burr Oak, Kansas and other distant towns. It was a day of inspiration and profit to all. A finer audience and a finer group of people never assembled for a social or religious occasion.

The dinner was a spread of high order expressive of the ability of the good mothers and daughters of the country and indicative of the prosperity of the homes in spite of the backwardness of the times. It was a real pleasure and a joy to old residents to meet and greet one another and for the younger to pass friendly smiles, glances and happy words. The social value of the occasion cannot be estimated.

The day opened with the Sunday School session at 10:00 followed by the morning sermon at 11:00. The theme was "Our Heritage and Responsibility." The main idea of the discourse was that we have received a great heritage from the preceding generations nationally, intellectually, religiously and in the Christian homes that are ours. We did not create these institutions, they came to us, and we are responsible to the present generation, the future generation and to God for the right use of them. We are to pass them on to the succeeding generations, better and of greater value than we received them.

The afternoon program was one of real value, and much appreciated. The male quartette composed of Messrs. N. B. Bush, Halbert Thomas, Jesse Wagoner and Ira Wagoner did work of high order. They sang most effectively "My Anchor Holds" and "The Church in the Wilderness." Mrs. F. R. Hughes was at her best when she rendered "The Heavenly Song." The keen interest and marked silence by which the rendition was received indicated the excellence of the music. The help of Messrs. Howard Parsons, cornetist and Frank Lippincott, saxophonist was much appreciated. They did good work and gave a valuable addition to the music of the occasion.

The addresses were given by Rev. Frantz of Red Cloud, Jesse Wagoner of Hastings and Rev. Eshelman of the Community church. Rev. Frantz spoke of vision before him as to the future of this work, pointing out the possibilities and opportunities of Community work. Mr. Wagoner gave personal experiences of how a Colorado community was changed by the erection of a Community Hall and the folks for miles around making this Hall the center of interest. Rev. Eshelman advanced the idea that the interests in life are six in number, these being the intellectual, social, economical, physical, civic and spiritual. All of these are vitally and inseparably united. Touch one and a wave of sympathy passes through all. We are happy, peaceful and prosperous where all of these are given their due attention. We can influence these individually as households or as communities, that is co-operatively. Today we meet as a community hence the church is interested in all the spheres and will exert all of its influence to better life at all points.

The evening sermon was well attended and the interest good. After several songs led by Mrs. Ira Wagoner at the organ and Howard Parsons on the cornet, it was decided to meet on Wednesday evening of this week at the home of Ira Wagoner to begin practicing as a community chorus and orchestra, looking forward to evenings of special music. All young men and women, as well as older ones, are requested to be present. Bring your instrument.

The evening sermon was from Luke 2:52 on the subject "The Symmetry of Life." The successful life is one which is developed physically, mentally, spiritually and socially. If any of these are neglected the life is lopsided and hence loses the beauty and power that God planned it to have.

COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES

(By County Superintendent)
The Webster County Schools took twenty-eight premiums at the State Fair—seven firsts, eight seconds, eight thirds, three fourths and two fifths. We might easily have taken a great many more and much more money than the $23.75 which it netted us. I am soon sending out the premium lists for the Webster County Agricultural Society. This is a copy of the State Fair list. I am anxious to have the lists of the Bladen Fair, the State Fair and the Agricultural Society all the same so that the schools can work to better purpose and can do all of the classifying of their work themselves. They know what they are trying to put across better than any outsider no matter how interested the party may be. If the list is not satisfactory, it should still be followed because, if it is not followed, the work does not get recognition. There was a large exhibit this year that was splendid but that gained no prizes because there was no place on the lists for it. Let us follow the lists carefully next year and aim to bring home $100.00 at least. It can easily be done.

One little school, district 64, took in eight premiums. It is a school small in number and mostly made up of small children but they worked with a purpose and followed the rules set down. It is good for children to be able to follow instructions. It is good for them to put up work that is to be criticised for neatness and accuracy and approximate perfection. It is good that they measure up their work with others of their class and see where they lack or excel.

Red Cloud took five firsts, Bladen one, and Eckley one. A lot of other schools deserve honorable mention. 61 took a second on their handkerchiefs, 58 on their cut work. Guide Rock and Blue Hill on their general exhibit. It was all good but with a little more care it could easily have been so much better. Let's see what we really can do next year.

The first teachers' examination will be October 21, 1922.

There will also be examinations December 2, January 20, April 14, May 25-26, June 29-30 and August 3-4.

In the one day examinations in the forenoon will be given: Algebra, Geometry, Arithmetic, Reading, Civics, Agriculture, Spelling, Drawing, Penmanship, English and Composition.

In the afternoon will be given Botany, Music, Grammar, History, Geography, Theory and Art, Mental Arithmetic, Physiology and Book-keeping.

Life subjects—Forenoon, Trigonometry, Chemistry, English and American Literature. Afternoon, Physics, Psychology, Rhetoric, Physical Geography, Geology.

The date of the giving of the essays for the American Legion has been changed from August 1, 1922 to October 6. On this date they are to be in the office of the County Superintendent. The subject of this essay is to be: "How The American Legion Can Best Serve The Nation."
