If Representative Garber harps too much on reducing teachers salaries and not more for the removal of needless county officers and state inspectors, and more for a just division of auto tax money, and also for a reduction of salaries of state and county officials, he will come home from Lincoln next spring a mighty unpopular representative. Our schools are costing us too much money as well as everything else we have for which the public has to foot the bill, but there are other causes for high taxes more flagrantly offensive to the average tax payer than what he pays to maintain our public schools.—Guide Rock Signal.

"If" Representative Garber has been "harping" on anything offensive to the tax payers they evidently overlooked it. He clearly expressed his position on many occasions during the campaign, in a logically presented argument, which the tax payers of Webster county endorsed by a record majority.
The people of this community are not aware that Representative Garber is given to either "harping" or grand-standing for popular favor. Such is not consistent with his general conduct. Locally he has a record for standing for principle, and maintaining this position with energy and ability. That the excessively high taxes which nurtured extravagance in one department of government are less offensive to the tax payer than any other department, remains as yet to be discovered. What's the big idea?
Who can imagine Representative Garber sidetracked on school teacher's wages? Guide Rock must wish to classify old Dan with her statesman.

W. E. Harris went to Hastings Saturday morning to spend the day returning home on the passenger: that evening.

only seven were left who come in for exemptions under the state law, by serving continuously for that period.

They were as follows: John Tomlin-son, chief; J. O. Butler, L. M. Vance, Harry Sowter, E. J. Palsipher, P. W.
Hatfield and J. C. Carr. On that date, Mrs. Tomlinson extended an invitation to the veterans to meet at the residence. The boys talked over the trial and vicissitudes incident to a fireman's life, after which they sat down to a table loaded with good things, just such as Mrs. T. knows how to prepare.
