WHERE DO YOU STAND?
 Among other propositions before the public and worthy of consideration, are:
 1. The guarantee of bank deposits.
 2. The election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, and
 3. An income tax levied on large incomes to help pay the expenses of the general government.
 Those propositions commend themselves to three-fourths of the voters of Nebraska. Bryan stands pledged to everyone of them. Taft and his party are against them. Where do you stand.

Our Candidates.
 The Democrats and Peoples' Independent party of Webster county, whilst not asking any and all honorable means to carry the county for William Jennings Bryan are now turning their attention to the state, congressional and county candidates. Each and every candidate from governor down to county commissioner are deserving the support of every voter who believes in an honest and economical administration of affairs of government. A. C. Shallenberger, candidate for governor on the Fusion ticket needs no introduction to the people of Nebraska, having served this district in congress. His every act, speeches and vote was in favor of the farmer, laboring man and mechanic. Fred Ashton, the candidate for congress, was a member of the last legislature and is known for his splendid qualifications for duties devolving upon on a representative; his every act and word has shown that he is in sympathy with all reform legislation, and if elected to congress will be a tower of strength to every measure in the interest of the people. A vote for Ashton is a vote for the best interest of the people.

Charles R. Besse, democratic candidate for state senator, was born and raised in the state of Maine, in the year 1848, and came to Webster county in 1871, took a homestead and has resided in this county since. By dint of frugality and economy he has accumulated a competency for his declining years. Mr. Besse is no politician, as the term implies in these latter days, and was induced by friends of long acquaintance, irrespective of party to offer his name at the late primaries as candidate for state senator. He has had some legislative experience, was first representative for this and Adams counties two years ago. His record in the legislature on questions of reform in the interest of all the people of the state, his disposition to deal equally fair with corporations, gives him prestige as a successful candidate in the November election. It is not saying too much for Col. Besse when we speak of him as one of the foremost citizens of Webster county, enjoys the confidence and esteem of the banker, the merchant, the mechanic and the laboring man alike. Col. Besse is a member of the State board of Agriculture, is a practical farmer, a close reader, well versed in the questions of the day. He feels and knows the interest of an agricultural country such as ours, his many qualities and qualifications makes him an ideal candidate as a true representative for lovers of "the square deal". His home folks will give him their support on November 3.

Fred Gerlach, democratic and peoples independent candidate for representative to the legislature for this district is a practical farmer, lives in this county, and has for a number of years. He has, by industry and good judgment, built for himself and family a comfortable home; has a fine farm, well stocked and is independent so far as this world's goods are concerned. In politics Mr. Gerlach has served as a member of the board of county commissioners, has business tact in handling the affairs of the county, is duly appreciated by the taxpayers, as will be verified in the coming election. Mr. Gerlach stands for, and will work and vote for the needed reforms, as set forth in the national and state democratic platforms. Fred Gerlach is a German by birth, by adoption one of America's most enthusiastic and patriotic citizens. A vote for Fred is a vote for "Equality before the Law".

L. H. Blackledge, Democratic and Peoples' Independent candidate for county attorney, was born near Jerusalem, Ohio, in the year 1868, coming to Nebraska when but a mere lad, commenced reading, graduated and was admitted to the practice of law in his home county (Franklin) at the age of 20 years, removing to Hitchcock county in 1888 he was elected county attorney and two years later was elected to the same office, succeeding himself, his wise council and fair interpretations of the law won for him the confidence of the people of Hitchcock county and it is fair to presume that had he wished another election he could have had it.

Mr. Blackledge came to Webster county in 1890 and was soon recognized as one of the leading attorneys of the Webster county bar, and regarded as one among the successful practitioners of the state. In 1906 Mr. Blackledge was the nominee of the Democratic and Peoples' Independent party for county attorney and was elected to the office over a strong opponent. (Mr. Walters) He has served the taxpayer ers of Webster county ably, efficiently, and acceptably, and is a candidate before the people for re-election at the November elections. He deserves the election as an endorsement of the efficient manner in which he has conducted his office.

Mr. Blackledge stands for the reforms enunciated in the Democratic national and State platforms, and has spoken as a lawyer upon the soundness of the Depositor's Guarantee Law. The voters of Webster county, we opine, are not yet ready to try any experiments and swap horses in the middle of the stream.

Cannon and Norris.

One of the most amusing spectacles of the present campaign is Congressman Norris' attempt to mislead the people of the Fifth congressional district by avowing political animosity to Speaker Cannon.

In a speech at McCook on September 30, he is alleged to have cut "Uncle Joe" Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, cold, because he used the power of his high position to prevent the consideration of legislation asked for by the people and desired by a large body of the house of representatives. Mr. Norris has been in congress for several terms. Did he not know the attitude of Speaker Cannon on the proposed legislation to which he alludes when he voted for him last December, saying nothing of once or twice before that? If he did not, then he has not enough discernment to qualify him for the office which he now holds. Mr. Norris' position is hypocritical, not to say ridiculous, and is certainly a reflection on his gumption.

Cannon was made speaker by the republican members of the house, not one vote being recorded against him. Mr. Norris was one of those who fell over themselves to vote for "Uncle Joe." Does anyone assume that if Cannon was not acceptable to the republican party in the house, that he would be retained in the position of speaker of that body? Does Mr. Norris imagine that he can induce the people of the Fifth congressional district to believe that the republican party is not responsible for Speaker Cannon's elevation to the speaker's chair? Norris' latest attitude in this matter smacks of a political deathbed repentance, made for the unmistakable and undoubted purpose of holding his party in line that he may succeed himself. Are there any so simply credulous that they can be deluded and deceived by such an opaque silly twaddle.

If Mr. Norris was so solicitous for the enactment of legislation asked for by the people and recommended by President Roosevelt, why did he not vote for such legislation when it was pending in congress, and when he was invited so to do by Mr. Williams, the leader of the minority? Mr. Williams long and earnestly plead for thirty republican votes to assist the minority in passing legislation which the people wanted, and which President Roosevelt strenuously urged? Why did not Mr. Norris respond to this invitation if he is so solicitous for "legislation desired by a large body of the house of representatives?"

Mr. Norris position, at this time is plainly taken to save the stampede which he apprehended with great alarm. But will he be able to stem the disaffection? Are the people so easily bamboozled? We predict the contrary and confidently believe that when the votes are counted in November, Mr. Norris will find that he has fooled nobody and that his methods have overwhelmed him as they righteously should.

Are Microbes in Your Scalp
 Many Explanations of Baldness Have Been Advanced. The Most Correct Is that of Microbes.

The term microbe refers to a parasitic plant or fungi also called bacteria. A microbe is so small that it can only be detected by the aid of a microscope. Some microbes are harmless, while others produce diseases, and derive their titles through the form of their growth or because of the diseases they create, which diseases are infectious or contagious.

Prof. Unna, of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabourand, the leading dermatologist of France, discovered that a microbe caused baldness, and their theory has time and again been verified through research experiments carried on through the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the sebun, which is the natural hair oil, and if permitted to flourish, it destroys the hair follicles, and in time the pores entirely close and the scalp takes on a shiny appearance. When this happens there is no hope of the hair growth being revived.

Dandruff is a contagious disease which a microbe causes, and later produces itching scalp, falling hair and baldness. Dandruff is caused by the microbe diseasing the sebaceous matter, which dries up and scales off. Sometimes the cuticle surrounding the hair allows the natural oil of the hair to force its way between the flakes of scarf skin direct to the hair, and the microbe being between the flakes force them apart and they scale off as dandruff.

We have a remedy which will positively remove dandruff, exterminate the microbe, promote good circulation in the scalp, tighten and revitalize the hair roots, grow hair and cure baldness. We back up this statement on our own personal guarantee that this remedy, which is called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we promise. It will also restore gray or faded hair to its original rich glossy color. If loss of color has been caused by disease, yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by making every hair root, follicle and pigment gland strong and active, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment into the hair cells.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely free from grease or sediment, is exceedingly pleasant to use, and will not gum the hair or soil the clothing or pillows. We want everyone troubled with hair or scalp ailments, even though they are bald in spots, to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our guarantee. We exact no obligations or promises, and simply ask you to give it a thorough trial, and if not satisfied, tell us, and we will refund the money paid us. For sale by the H. E.
