The mirthful eccentricities of this famous Scandinavian dialect character are augmented by an unexcelled coterie of New York artists, all of whom are experts in fun-making, not a "stick" in the company, not a poor line in the dialogue, not a chesnut or a questionable word, nothing but flashes of prime wit and ludicrously laughable situations interspersed with pleasing specialties. Come and see "Ole Swanson." He's awfully funny.

Ridgeway Leggett, the spade specialist, not having had his likeness taken since he wore knee trousers prevailed upon his father to call the family together. Accordingly, Tuesday all the Leggetts were in the photo gallery to have the family picture taken for the first time in twenty-five years. A quarter of a century has produced some what of a change in all of them but it would be hard to tell that Ridge owns that innocent face, represented in the former group. After running the gauntlet of the picture gun the family repaired to the cafe de Robinson where they enjoyed a celebration dinner. Ridge shown to good advantage here if not at the gallery. His witty sayings and gravelly fingers kept the company in a roar of laughter for more than an hour while his gastronomical abilities fairly stunned the generous Mr. Robinson. May many more families live to a ripe old age.

Christian Church Notes

We invite you to attend our Bible school at promptly ten o'clock each Lord's Day. Our school is increasing in interest and enthusiasm. Our new Superintendent is full of energy and is filled with the spirit of the work. At a recent meeting of the members of the church, it was decided to hold a meeting in the very near future, and arrangements are being made for securing a pastor, as it is the feeling of many of us that we have long enough been without a Shepherd. Watch for the date of our meeting, and the notes that appear from time to time.
