WILL TEST BANK LAW

A FRIENDLY SUIT TO BE BROUGHT IN COURTS.

A STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT

No Convict Labor in Penitentiary Tailor Shop Because Competition is Unfair to Free Labor.

That the bankers of Omaha and Nebraska are determined in their purpose to test the validity of the bank deposit guaranty law passed by the recent legislature was shown at a meeting held in Omaha which was attended by a number of the representative state and national bankers of the state.

Since the meeting held some weeks ago to consider the question the proposition has been thoroughly canvassed and a committee has been formed to arrange what is termed a friendly suit to carry the matter through the courts. The following statement was given out at the close of the meeting:

The banking act passed by the recent session of the legislature provided in a manner for the guaranty of bank deposits by the collecting of a tax from solvent banks in proportion to their deposits, to be applied as far as possible toward the payment of depositors in failed banks after all assets and shareholders' liabilities had been exhausted. This is such a radical change in all established systems of banking that it necessarily behooves much good or much harm to all interested in banking, whether as shareholders or depositors.

The time for the discussion of the question as a desirable public measure from a political standpoint has passed and it would seem that those who favored the enactment of such a law, as well as those who opposed it, should unite in having the question finally settled by the highest court as to whether or not a tax for the purpose named can be collected from banks or bankers without their consent. It is the general opinion among bankers that the question should be finally settled at as early a date as possible, as to leave the question in doubt or to have the law declared ineffective at a time of financial unrest would mean a most serious disturbance of all banking and commercial interests.

A committee has been formed of leading state and national bankers for the purpose of arranging for a friendly suit to test the validity of the law, and it is hoped, owing to the importance of the case, that it will be rapidly advanced on the docket, so that a decision may be reached at the earliest possible date.

Opposes Convict Labor.

The state will not contract with the St. Louis garment making firm which made a bid for the use of the convicts. The firms desired to install a tailor shop in the state penitentiary and use the convicts for the manufacture of clothing for laborers. The Board of Public Lands and Buildings thought favorably of the tailor shop idea, believing the state could get much more money for the use of the convicts than it could be letting them out to the broom factory. The clothing firm had already signed the contract agreeing to pay from 60 to 85 cents a day for the prisoners and the matter was referred to Governor Shallenberger, who does not favor the plan, because of his belief that it is unfair for free labor to be put in competition with convict labor.

The Irrigation Congress.

The governor has appointed a committee of five to consider the best means of making the national irrigation congress, which is to be held at Spokane from August 9 to 14, of the greatest benefit to Nebraska. The governor also appointed delegates to the American Prison association convention to be held at Seattle, August 14 to 19.

Test of Election Laws.

The republican state committee, in session here, authorized Chairman J. W. Kefler to appoint a committee to consult with attorneys regarding the election laws enacted by the late legislature, and if found advisable to take steps to test the validity of the measure in the courts.

Taxes of Life Companies.

Attorney General Thompson has given it as his opinion that domestic life insurance companies, organized on the old line plan, may be assessed for taxation not only on their gross premiums, but also on other property, such as capital stock, the latter to be listed as its actual value. In Lancaster county this is said to have been the plan adopted by the county assessor, but it is reported that an insurance company in Douglas county has been taxed only on its gross premiums. The attorney general believes the tax on gross premiums is not in lieu of all other taxes.

Wants Interpretation of Law.

Browning, King & Co. of Omaha have written to Secretary of State Junkin for an opinion on the law enacted by the late legislature regarding the flat tax on the capital stock of corporations. The firm informed the secretary of state that it did business in many states and had an immense capital stock if it were all totaled, but by no means is all of its capital stock invested in Nebraska. It desired to know whether it would have to pay the tax on the capital stock used in Nebraska or on entire capitalization.

RULES IN FOOD CASE.

Holding of the Late Commissioner Overruled.

The supreme court overruled J. W. Johnson, former deputy state food commissioner, who prosecuted Swift and Company for not branding the net weight of wrapped ham and bacon. The court decided that the district court of Lancaster county decided justly when it held that ham and bacon are not packages in the sense used in the old food law. The subject of branding meat is a dead issue at this time, because the late legislature amended the law under which Johnson operated. The amended statute specifically exempts meat and bread products from the net weight brand. Judge Barnes, who wrote the decision of the supreme court, sustains the judgment of Judge A. J. Cornish of the district court.

Judge Cornish held that a package of wrapped ham or bacon is not a package within the meaning of the term as used in the statute in question; that the term was intended to apply only to such packages as are put up in artificial sizes or quantities; that ham and bacon in packages are in natural sizes varying in weight and quantity, and that they are never sold as of fixed weight or quantity. From this decision the state filed exceptions.

"It must be conceded," says the supreme court, "that the term 'package' is at best a vague one and liable to various interpretations. It is a well-known fact that many articles of food are packed, bound or put together in sizes determined by the manufacturer, and intended to pass in trade from hand to hand as of given weight or measure. For example, butter, put up in pound packages, strawberries in a box supposed to hold a quart, teas and coffees in pasteboard boxes of a pound. These are strictly packages within the meaning of the law. They are packed, bound and put together in form and sizes convenient to pass in trade from hand to hand."

Fewer Mortgages on Farms.

The bureau of labor and industrial statistics has completed compilation of the mortgage statistics of Nebraska for the year 1908.

In 1908 there were 16,168 farm mortgages filed, amounting to $34,408,372.25. The farm mortgages filed in 1907 were fewer by 550 than those filed in 1907 and less in total amount by $2,024,301.

In 1908 the number of farm mortgages released was 16,094, amounting to $30,701,067.61. The releases in 1907 were fewer by 1,896 than they were in 1907 and less in amount by $95,656,723.95. This apparent discrepancy is accounted for by the fact that a railroad mortgage of $100,000,000 was reported in Hall county as being released in 1907. If this is not counted the farm mortgages released in 1908 were more by $4,343,276 than in 1907.

National Banks Add Savings.

The fourth savings bank organized since the state guaranty deposit law was passed has been chartered by the state banking board. In each case these savings banks were organized by officers of national banks. This is considered an indication that national banks either desire to have an auxiliary organization that can come within the provisions of the guaranty law, or that they desire to take advantage of the state banking laws which permit savings banks to loan funds on real estate. A few state banks will probably convert themselves into national banks rather than submit to the guaranty tax, but more may organize an adjunct organization in the form of a savings bank to come in under the guaranty law. One state bank has already become a national bank, but national banks at Columbus, Wahoo and Crete have organized savings banks.

Penitentiary Labor.

Clinton R. Lee of the Lee Broom & Duster company, has returned home and will enliven the contest for convict labor by making a bid for forty or fifty more men. He has a contract for 250 prisoners, but in view of the proposition from a St. Louis man to employ convicts to make overalls at the penitentiary, will bid for more.

The Lower Court Sustained.

The supreme court affirmed the decision of the district court of Douglas county, denying Orlando S. Wood his petition for $10,000 damages against the Omaha Street Car company, because of injuries received by being hit by a car, and held that "a person who waits for a street car at a proper crossing, sees the car coming, and is struck and injured by it, through his own negligence, cannot recover damages on the sole ground that the motorman failed to sound the gong."

Young Attorney Chosen.

Judge Crossgrave has selected for clerk of the county court Harold W. Robbins, a graduate of the law school of the State university in the classes of 1908.

Ex-Governor Poynter's Will.

The wills of the late William A. Poynter and Dr. Jerome C. Everett have been admitted to probate in county court. Ex-Governor Poynter left an estate valued at about $30,000, all of which goes to his widow. The Everett estate consists principally of stock in the sanitarium and its value will not be known until an appraisal is made. The will provides that the widow shall be paid $200 a month during her life. The receipts from a life insurance policy are to be divided between the two sons and a daughter.
