

TUMOR OF FOUR YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lindley, Ind. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removed a cyst tumor of four years' growth, which three of the best physicians declared I had. They said that only an operation could help me. I am very glad that followed a friend's advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it has made me a strong and well woman, and I shall recommend it as long as I live."—Mrs. MAY FRY, Lindley, Ind.

Nothing in the Name.

Senator Carroll S. Page of Vermont is on good terms with the senate pages, all because his name is Page. Apropos of this, he tells the story that when he was governor of Vermont he went to the chamber of the senate of the state legislature one day and about a dozen pages flocked around him just as a friend of his from the rural districts walked in.

"Governor," inquired the friend from the country, "who are all these little boys?"

"They are little pages."
Sheer white goods, in fact, any fine wash goods when new, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try Defiance Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.

Seek Prevention of Consumption.

The municipal authorities of Berlin have decided to introduce another feature in their administration of tuberculosis. Heretofore, municipal effort has been confined to the maintenance of one or two homes for curable consumptives, but it is recognized that, useful as this is, it alone cannot cope with this disease. They have resolved, therefore, to devote more attention to preventive measures.

NEWSY NOTES FROM NEW-YORK

T. Jenkins Hains Takes Up Sailor's Life

NEW YORK—Thornton Jenkins Hains, novelist, short-story writer, seaman and defendant in the Hains murder trials, has disappeared. Under some other name he is making his living as a sailor once more, but no one knows what ship he is aboard or whether he is bound. The last seen of him was in Washington. He was then heading for some distant port to get aboard a ship and leave his country forever.

Hains left his little daughter Mollie with his parents and signed a document giving to the general, his father, a lien on all the royalties coming from his books. He went to sea penniless.

Since the killing of William E. Anis at the Bayside Yacht club, over a year ago, Thornton Hains has been persona non grata with the publishers. One magazine, at least, that accepted his stories and paid for them in advance of publication, failed to print them. Men who were once eager to get stories from him and be received by him as his friend, avoided him after his trial at Flushing.

Before his disappearance Thornton went to Sing Sing to bid farewell to his brother Peter. He found Peter a ghastly wreck of a man. His silky black beard had been shaved off and his face showed cadaverously above his prison stripes. The brothers were allowed one hour together. Thornton showed mingled rage and grief at the plight of his brother, of whose acquittal of the charge of murder he had felt sure. His voice was husky when he told Peter good-by.

"And so I must say good-by," he said. "I must leave you, as the hour that I can see you draws to a close. Good-by, Pete; you know what I think and what I feel—words will not express it. The long days in prison will never be forgotten. I will never forget you, poor boy."

"Never for a moment dream that you are a criminal—never think of it, Pete, for in the heart of every true man, every human who is fit to be classed as such, there beats a throbbing sympathy for you."

"I know, and every man knows, that if there had been a law to protect your home, and a law to protect your honor as a soldier, you would not have been driven to such extremity. Of the men who caused your ruin, one is dead, the other at large, and there seems to be no law written that will bring the scoundrel to justice."

E. N. L. Young, attorney for Capt. Hains, has served papers on the district attorney of Queen's county calling for a new trial. Mr. Young's contention is that the verdict was contrary to the evidence.

Congestion on Island of Manhattan

TWENTY years from now the ground area or lower New York will not afford even standing room for its occupants. The congestion of population in that part of this city known as Manhattan, covering the site of the original settlement and extending from the battery northward to the Harlem river, already has become so dense that, were all in it to die at once, the territory in which these people live and work would not afford sufficient space for their burial.

The population per acre of Manhattan is now 157, which is more than five times that of any other city in the country. Were this population housed in one-story buildings, the average amount of ground per person would be a plot 16 feet square.

But as the average height of buildings in this territory is practically eight stories, the average size of the ground space per inhabitant is the incredibly small area of 32 square feet—a plot four feet by eight. In spite of this congestion, however, greater New York, as distinguished from Manhattan, is not the most densely populated city in the country. That title belongs to Baltimore, with 29 per acre, while greater New York with 29 per acre, comes after Milwaukee, with 23.

How rapidly the congestion in Manhattan may be expected to increase is indicated by the values of its real estate. In this respect two new records were set last week. The first established a new high record for Fifth avenue property, a lot having been sold at a price amounting to $34,000 a front foot, or $270 a square foot, a value considerably larger than that represented by an equal area covered with $50 bills.

Only 40 years ago this same property sold for one-twentieth of this price. The second record came as the result of the leasing of a piece of uptown property for 149 years. From these two factors it is evident that the desire to snap up property for long terms, together with its rapidly increasing value, will soon reduce the average amount of ground per inhabitant to less than the space necessary for standing room.

Society Box Holders in New Theater

THERE has been a great amount of speculation as to where the members of the fashionable set of New York would be found when the new theater, the $2,000,000 institution, endowed by a coterie of wealthy men of New York, is opened next November. There are only 23 boxes, a much smaller number than in the Metropolitan Opera House, with which the new theater is closely allied, and with so few places and so many eager to occupy them, it was a serious matter to settle the seating question.

As now planned, two opera comique performances will be given each week one at night, the other at a matinee. At other subscription performances plays are to be given by a company now being engaged. As yet it is incomplete, less than half a dozen actors having signed contracts.

There are 35 founders of the new theater, and it was agreed by them to apportion the boxes by lot. After this was done the other applicants negotiated with the founders for a place in the boxes for certain performances.

There are 232 single seats directly above the boxes, and these were as eagerly sought as the boxes themselves. In them on subscription nights will be found those socially prominent who were unable to find room in the boxes, which will rank in importance to those in the parterre row at the Metropolitan.

Mr. James Hazen Hyde, one of the founders, who has been living abroad for three years, is the owner of box No. 23, which is located in the very center of the arch, and which, relatively, is the same as box No. 35 at the Metropolitan, which is owned by Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan. Mr. Morgan, also founder of the new theater, received box No. 7 in the allotment.

Gotham Property Is Held by the Few

THAT New York is the home of the greatest property holdings which the world has ever known, and that the whole 326 square miles of its area with a valuation which makes the national debt seem trifling in comparison, is held by less than two per cent. of the population, are only a few of the astonishing facts made known by official figures just compiled. According to these figures the assessed valuation of the taxable property in New York is now almost $7,000,000,000, $6,800,000,000 being the exact figure given.

The actual sale value, however, is probably more than twice this amount or about one-tenth of the estimated wealth of the whole United States. As an indication of the great value placed on real estate here, the figures show that two-thirds of the taxable property in this city consists of land. Less than 100,000 persons, or one-fiftieth of the city's population, own not only every particle of this land, but all the other taxable property included in the report as well.

Taking the actual value of the land as $10,000,000,000 this means that the property owners in this city hold on the average $100,000 worth of real estate each. On this basis the average value of the ground alone throughout the entire city is $31,000,000 a square mile, or $72,000 an acre. This, of course, is only an average, since in some parts of the city an acre of ground amounts to many millions. The average value of property, not including the land itself, is $50,000 an acre, so that each member of the select 100,000 constituting two per cent. of the whole number who own all New York has on an average $150,000 worth of property. The other 3,400,000 of the city's population are merely tenants.

INTOLERABLE ITCHING.

Fearful Eczema All Over Baby's Face—Professional Treatment Failed.

A Perfect Cure by Cuticura.

"When my little girl was six months old I noticed small red spots on her right cheek. They grew so large that I sent for the doctor but, instead of helping the eruption, his ointment seemed to make it worse. Then I went to a second doctor who said it was eczema. He also gave me an ointment which did not help either. The disease spread all over the face and the eyes began to swell. The itching grew intolerable and it was a terrible sight to see. I consulted doctors for months, but they were unable to cure the baby. I paid out from $20 to $30 without relief. One evening I began to use the Cuticura Remedies. The next morning the baby's face was all white instead of red. I continued until the eczema entirely disappeared. Mrs. F. E. Gumbin, Sheldon, Ia., July 13, '08." *Vetter Drug & Chem. A Broad Discrimination.

There is an elder of a certain church up-state who thinks that things are only half done or not well started in which he has no voice. At a prayer meeting he offered thanks for the safe return from their vacation of the minister and his wife. WHEN YOUR BACK ACHES

It is a Warning That the Kidneys Are Sick and Need Help.

A bad back makes every day a dull round of pain and misery. It's a sign the kidneys are sick and cannot keep up their never-ending task of filtering the blood. Lame back, backache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders are warnings that must not be overlooked. A. G. Smith, 405 E. Mills St., Liberty, Mo., says: "I was racked with pain, stiff and lame, had dizziness and a terrible condition of the kidney secretions. I got so miserable I went to bed, but the doctor did not do anything for me and no one expected me to recover. Doan's Kidney Pills first relieved, then cured me, and I have had no kidney trouble for seven years since."
