Score 2 to 0, 9 to 8.
Special patriotic services were observed at the Congregational church Sunday. The church was decorated with flags of every description and pictures of Washington and Lincoln were hanging on the wall. Mr. Cressman is progressive and spares no pains nor expense in making these special days interesting and instructive in every detail. His two sermons were as probably as good as any oration delivered in the state.
Attention is called to the first report of our new light and water commissioner found elsewhere in this issue. Mr. Burgess is proving himself to be the right man in the right place. The city owes him the most hearty good will for changing the city water back to a liquid. Just a little work and the necessary "know how" gave us clear water a gain. We are pleased with his work and ability displayed thus far and believe him to be a capable, efficient man.

Preserving Fence Posts From Decay.

Every farmer is familiar with the rotting of his fence posts at the surface of the ground. The labor of replacing them and how to secure new and durable posts are sources of constant annoyance and expense. Even the more durable woods, such as chestnut, white oak and cedar, decay in eight or ten years. It is true that there are a few kinds of wood in the United States, such as locust and osage-orange, which give much longer service, but their supply, never very large, is rapidly becoming exhausted, and the farmer must now look to some other source for his posts. Perhaps directly on his farm there may be a patch of woods which includes such trees as black oak, beech, maple or pine, and cottonwoods and willows may grow along the banks of his streams. These are trees which heretofore have been thought of little or no use for posts, because of the rapidity with which they are attacked by decay. In their natural condition, they will rot in two or three years—too soon to pay for the labor of setting them. The Forest Service in its study of prolonging the life of fence posts has found cheap and simple methods of preserving them in a sound condition for an indefinite time, even though they are the poorest and naturally least durable woods.

Decay is not a simple process like the crumbling of stone or the rusting of iron. It is caused by low forms of plant life which thoroughly permeate the wood, discolor it and cause it to become disconnected and "rotten." To preserve the timber in a thoroughly sound condition, it is only necessary to render the wood unfit for the growth of these organisms. This is done by injecting into it substances poisonous to plant life.
One of the most widely used preservatives is creosote, one of the by-products of coal tar. When it is injected into the wood decay will be retarded indefinitely and an old field pine or a cottonwood fence post when properly treated will easily give a life of twenty years or longer. Such a preservative treatment costs about ten cents per post. The creosote can be applied by painting the wood with a brush or dipping it into the liquid, but much better results will be obtained if it is actually injected into the wood instead of merely coating the outside. If the "brush" method, or painting, is used, the creosote should be applied at a temperature of about 180 degrees F. Two coats should be given at least twenty-four apart. If the posts are dipped directly into the preservative, the creosote should be heated to about the same temperature. The best results of all can be obtained by first heating the posts in a bath of hot creosote and then either transferring them quickly to a bath of creosote at a lower temperature, or else shutting off the heat and allowing the posts to remain in the oil as it cools. By such a method, the sapwood will become thoroughly permeated with the creosote. Full details and specific directions for the treatment of different kinds of posts may be obtained by application to the Forester, Washington, D. C.

To THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COMMISSIONERS OF THE CITY OF RED CLOUD, NEBRASKA, July 1, 1909.
GENTLEMEN:
I herewith submit my report for the month of May, 1909.
LIGHT DEPARTMENT
Total revenue from lights . . . $400.00
Amount collected . . . 400.00
Amount delinquent . . . 47.98
WATER DEPARTMENT
Total revenue from water . . . $129.73
Amount collected . . . 129.73
SUPPLY DEPARTMENT
Total revenue from supplies . . . $25.69
Amount collected . . . 25.69
As you know, I did not take charge of the water and light plants until May 1st, and the balance of the month was spent by me in familiarizing myself with the system and straightening out many defects I discovered. This report therefore does not show what the plants can or will do, and is merely a statement of the amounts collected by me. My report for the month of June will show fully what I have been able to do with the plants, and I will also in that report incorporate a daily statement of the daily expense of the plants for the month of June.
I recommend that I be furnished with a new water book; it is very essential that I be provided with same without delay.
Respectfully yours,
GEO. W. BURGESS
Light and Water Commissioner.
