

Simplicity

What it means in a fountain pen

The successful operation of any self-filling fountain pen depends wholly upon its simplicity. The more complicated its construction and operation, the more liable it is to break or get out of order.

CONKLIN'S Self-Filling Fountain Pen

Is simple, self-filling, and has no valves or parts to break. No pumping, no fumbling, no mess, no ink on the fingers, no ink on the clothes, no ink on the desk, no ink on the paper. Just a dip in any ink and a single touch on the Crescent-Filler fills and closes it instantly. As for the old-fashioned dropper-filler fountain pen—well, nobody wants to bother with a separate filler these days.

A trial will convince you that the Conklin writes with a luxurious smoothness and certainty that you didn't imagine was possible in any fountain pen. Come in and try it.

Last Sunday's World Herald contained an excellent cartoon of the Japanese tea garden as given in the Ak-Sar-Ben festival in Omaha last week. The figures showed the Oriental color and one would never imagine that a Red Cloud artist could produce such an eastern effect, but the signature revealed the name of Omar Butler. We are pleased with Mr. Butler's rapid advancement and so is the entire city.

Mr. Samuel Castell came in our salutation sanatorium Tuesday with samples of vegetables raised on his irrigated farm in the Shoshone country Wyoming. He was fortunate enough to be one of the men who drew a prize in the reservation and is delighted with his farm. He showed us three potatoes the smallest of which weighed 2 1/2 lbs. Also he showed a large white onion which except for the husks might have been taken for a pumpkin.

H. Newhouse. Mr. Storey is Grand Warden of the Grand lodge and will be Grand Master one year hence. Mr. Newhouse holds the position of Junior Warden in the Encampment degree and in one year will hold the highest office in that branch. The Red Cloud lodge is well represented in the upper lodges.

Strike had no Terrors for Red Cloudite.

While taking in the Ak-Sar-Ben our amiable, jovial citizen, of the heavy weight class, Mr. Johnny Ruffledge, happened to board a west bound Farm street car just as Johnie was adjusting himself to the cushions and fixing his eagle eye on the skyscrapers in the distance, he was gently tapped on the shoulder (the left side) and the Rasping shout of (fare please) was whispered in his ear forgetting himself for the instant he handed over 4 cents. The conductor in cable, having business in another part of the car, forgetting the change which had been paid, returned but our luckless fellow citizen was there with the conductor's attention half Nelson in a flash. He has announced this evening that he will not take a 4 cent fare and he will not take a 4 cent fare.
