SUNNY SIDE.

John Rathjen moved onto the Mizer farm last week.
Geo. Baylor rented Homer Boner's farm for the coming year.
Geo. Pierce is quite sick. They had to call the doctor twice last Monday.
Mrs. Bense's nephew and niece spent Saturday and Sunday with them on the farm.
L. C. Engelhardt shelled about 2,000 bu. of corn for Rasser. Rustand Bense last week.
Gasoline seems to be all some autos need, some of them found it out when they had to walk or send for some of the necessary.
Spring is on, the farmers are getting ready to sow oats, the women are swapping eggs and setting incubators at 13c per pound and eggs at 30c a dozen, the women will all be wearing diamonds.

GUIDE ROCK.

Charles Guy is still very ill.
Oscar Monia has moved to his farm.
J. S. Gleason is building a porch or two on his house.
Alva Stickle's little two year old daughter has been very ill.
Robert Jewell is improving the last few days. He was very low for more than a week.
James Young has two very sick children but both are thought to be a little better.
Wm. Ryker has been very sick for several days but was much better the first of this week.
Tim Hendrickson is building a house for J. H. Cray on one of the farms north west of town.
Mrs. Wade and daughter are staying at H. Milner's at present. She is thinking of buying residence property here.
Hurvey Bailey after a visit with relatives here, at Red Cloud and at Cowles has returned to his farm at Mitchell, Nebr.

S. E. Ely and family came up from Reynolds and spent the first of the week with the Ely and Vaughan families here and to greet Carroll Willhan and family who arrived here Monday.

C. F. Panzer moved this week to his farm, and Frank Shadley and family will occupy the Panzer property thus giving Mrs. Thorton possession of the Maloney residence which she recently purchased.

Rev. G. W. Pool preached a splendid sermon Sunday morning. A ladies' double quartette sang a beautiful selection. They were Mesdames, Fairfield, Boies, Roland, Hunt and Misses Cooper, Vance, Dickerson and Pool.

Geo. F. Hunt and Carroll Willhan and families arrived by team Monday from Lakewood, New Mexico. They are glad to get back home and all their friends are delighted that they are back again in good old Nebraska. They drove through in six weeks lacking one day.

Mrs. Sena Hartzell Wallace the noted W. C. T. U. worker will lecture here on Thursday evening March 24 at the Baptist church and Friday evening March 25 at the Opera House. All cordially invited. Admission free. A collection will be taken. Be sure to hear this gifted lady lecture.

While sitting in a buggy waiting for another lady Mrs. E. C. Cristy was thrown to the ground striking against a tree in her fall. The horse suddenly took fright at something and cramped the buggy throwing the lady out. Her face was severely bruised but other wise she was not much hurt which seems almost a miracle under the circumstances.

GARFIELD

Miss Julia Engels is on the sick list this week.
T. W. White went to Bladen with a load of seed corn Saturday.
G. Barnes and wife stayed over night at C. Smith Friday night.
Fisher is improving the good weather by cutting stocks on Saturday.

Mr. Hall moved to town Friday and Mr. Wiggins moved in the same day.

Lewis Manley and Guy Barnes went to Guide Rock Tuesday on business.

Artie Richerson is going to do the bossing on the Wiggins place this summer.

Ed Perry and Billie Coons of Guide Rock were callers at Guy Barnes Thursday night.

Sam Shuck was on wind mill row Tuesday with a fine bunch of cattle consisting of about 100 head.

Mr. Hall had a good sale Thursday stuff sold well and it amounted to about thirty five hundred dollars.

The surprise party at Manly Bros. was a success and every body had a good time and stayed until the little hours.

Reed Davis and Kaley took their cattle to Red Cloud Saturday and shipped them to market they looked pretty good.

Charley Smith had quite an accident the other day while curving his mules and was between them one knocked him over in under the other one and it trampled him pretty bad.

Frank Amack is the puglist of wind mill row. He is practicing for the nigger heavy weight. He takes a round with the hogs for past time but he hurt his fist a little and he says that goes with the business.

Alfred Manley has quite an eye for business as he was seen on wind mill row with two nice pieces of dress goods in under his arm and we wonder what is going to happen for he went to town and got a dress pattern the next day. Congratulations Alfred.

FOR SALE:—Two typewriters good as new, one Smith Premier and one Remington. Inquire at this office.

Scene at Frank Amacks Photographed By Lou Manley

About sixty friends and neighbors went with well filled baskets to Frank Amacks and surprised his good natured wife on her birthday on the sixth! Everybody seemed to have a good time pitching horse shoes until they helloed dinner and then everybody done his best. But they were careful for the Coroner was there and no one seemed anxious to give him a job and after dinner Mr. Manley took a picture of the whole crowd and then the children and several other's pictures and he got one of Clyde Simpson which looks like the last of the Mongolians and they gave Mrs. Amack a nice rocken chair and told her to use it and let Frank do the work.

The Memory.

A chief of police reports that many of the criminals who come under his charge confess that their fall came as a result of reading exciting tales of crime. These stories are forgotten perhaps for years, or until the emergency arises, and then there flashes through the mind the plot or device cleverly suggested by those early stories. In the belief that he will not be caught, the tempted man repeats some one experience with, as he thinks, a little added cunning. The result is disgrace.

One of the most eminent surgeons in New England recently said, "I was influenced more in my early days by reading The Youth's Companion than by any other factor." Successful men from every walk of life voluntarily testify that some influence in early life, such as reading stories of really heroic men and women, has helped them to solve difficulties, and to be fearless in right doing and at crucial periods. You may look through any number of The Youth's Companion,—and a sample copy of any current issue will be sent you on request,—and you will find that while The Youth's Companion prints stories that are entertaining and oftentimes most exciting, there is never one that suggests evil conduct.
