SCHOOL NOTES
 (BY WHISPERING SMITH)
 Wonder how Laird Potter likes to spend the night in the country?
 The 8th grade gave a masquerade party at the home of Eleanor Gilham last Wednesday night. A delightful time was reported by all.
 Monthly examinations will be given Friday. Last month there were few, if any failures, and we hope there will be still fewer this month.
 The Lincoln school has been closed on account of scarlet fever. The High School has not been exposed however, and will continue as before.
 The High School boys are practising diligently for the Track Meet to be held at Franklin, May 14th. Better go along and root for the boys.
 We wish to compliment our principal, Miss Davis, on her good nature and ability to take a joke, but it wasn't our fault. She hadn't ought to have given us a test on April fool's day, anyway!
 All of a sudden, the class spirit that has been smoldering for so long a time, broke forth, and Monday morning the Junior class colors were seen floating over the High School in all their glory. We like to see such spirit and hope the good work will continue.
 A public program will be given Friday, April 15th, by the Literary Society in behalf of the boys who are interested in athletics. This program will be published next week and promises to be a "hummer." Admission, 15 cents. Everybody come and help the boys out. You'll get your money's worth, and more too.

LINCOLN LETTER
 LINCOLN, NEBR., April 5—(Special Correspondence).—The State Conservation Congress, held in Lincoln the first of last week, was one of the most vitally important meetings ever held in the state, and the second one of its kind ever held in the United States. The subjects discussed were subjects dealing with the very fundamentals of Nebraska's future growth and development. Good roads, conservation of water supply, conservation of public health, irrigation, soil culture, contagious and infectious diseases, protection of drinking water against contamination—and other subjects of equal importance. If it had accomplished nothing more than showing the aroused spirit of Nebraskans—the "new spirit of Nebraska"—the congress would have been worth all its cost in time, money and effort.
 The speakers were men who had given their subjects long thought, and many of them spoke from years of experience. Professor Condra, who is, more than any one man, responsible for the congress and for the aroused interest in conservation work, presided over the deliberations. Governor Shallenberger and Mayor Love made addresses of welcome. Committees made up of strong, enthusiastic men were appointed to look after various lines of work, and during the coming year this work will be pushed to the limit.

One of the crying needs of the state is a new topographical survey. The only one in existence is an old one made by the government more than a quarter of a century ago, and it is pitifully inaccurate in its descriptions of soil conditions and formations. So ridiculously wrong is it that one department of the state destroyed upwards of 4,000 bulletins containing that survey rather than distribute them and convey wrong information to people who might be considering the question of locating in Nebraska. In hundreds of instances the bulletin described as "sand hills, unutilizable," land that is now selling at from $20 to $100 an acre and raising from 20 to 32 bushels of wheat and from 40 to 70 bushels of corn to the acre.
 One of the most humane, as well as one of the most important laws ever enacted by a Nebraska legislature was the law enacted by the legislature of 1909 and known as the "indigent consumptives bill." This was H. R. 322, introduced by Speaker Pool, and provides for the proper care of and treatment for consumptives who are financially unable to pay the expense themselves. The state board of health is required to make up a list of hospitals suitably equipped to receive such patients, and the expenses of care and treatment is to be borne by the county in which the indigent victim of the white plague may live. The intelligent study of tuberculosis, and sane methods of treatment, are producing wonderful results, and Nebraska should be proud of the fact that it is among the states leading in this splendid work.
 The attention given by the legislature of 1909 to the needs of the agricultural population of Nebraska was evidenced in many ways, one specific instance being the legalization of the Nebraska Corn Improvers' Association and making it a state institution. Under the law it is the duty of the association to hold annually a corn show for the purpose of consulting and deliberating on the condition and furthering the methods of improving corn and breeding and cultivating the same in this state. The sum of $2,000 was appropriated for the expenses of this investigation. If, through the efforts of this association, it is possible to produce a breed of corn that will average a half-dozen more quarts per ear than is now secured, that seemingly small increase will add more than a million quarts a year to the corn value of the state.

 The legislature of 1909 was compelled to take care of over $17,000 of deficiencies requested to it by the Sheldon administration. The legislature of 1907 boasted of its record for economy a record very easy to make by simply refusing to make necessary appropriations and leaving a subsequent legislature to make up the deficiencies. After taking care of this republican deficit; after making more liberal appropriations for education than ever before made, and after making building appropriations that should have been made two, four or six years ago, the democratic legislature of 1910 appropriated less money per capita than the republican legislatures of 1907, or almost any other republican legislature in the state's history.
 The republican managers are saying less and less about opposing the "Oregon plan" of electing United States senators. The legislature of 1910 made it possible for the people to take the election of senators into their own hands, instead of delegating that power to the combined corporate interests of the state. The "Oregon plan" is too familiar to need explanation here. For a time the republican managers, foreseeing that the plan would deprive them of their usual donations from favor-seeking corporations, threatened to contest the validity of the law. Then they declared they would ignore it because a misplaced comma made the law unintelligible. Later they discovered that the latter claim was an insult to the intelligence of Nebraskans and they back-tracked on that. Having heard from the rank and file the managers are not now saying a word against the "Oregon plan."

One of Professor Condra's hobbies is the prevention of soil erosion, and this fact gave Governor Shallenberger an opportunity to crack a joke at Condra's expense during the conservation congress.
 "About a year ago," said the governor, "Prof. Condra and I were on a train coming to Lincoln from the northwestern part of the state. We were in the Logan valley, the morning after one of Nebraska's torrential rains, and Condra looking out of the car window and seeing the gullies cut by the water, exclaimed, 'Lord, what a waste!' "Young man," exclaimed a 300-pound woman sitting across the aisle, "those personal remarks are very unbecoming and unmannerly."

I have 320 acres 1 mile east of Red Cloud. There is a good 7 room house, size 32x18, all rooms are 16x18 excepting the kitchen which is 10x14. There are 2 porches, good cistern with well at the door, cistern will hold 2'0 bbls. of water, good brick walks, house nicely painted, all kinds of shrubbery, 30 kinds of roses, fruit of all kinds. Barn 58x38, mow that will hold 60 ton of hay, 3 cribs that will hold 8000 bu. of corn, all other out buildings that are necessary on a farm. Good living springs, 3 wells, good windmill, good feed lots. There is about 40 acres in alfalfa, 140 acres of pasture, the pasture land is in two different pastures, the balance of the land is under cultivation. This is a river bottom farm. There are 4 hen houses, one of them is now used as a store house. This place is all fenced and cross fenced. There is some native timber in the pasture.

A Word of Explanation!
 Might be the right thing at this time that the public may know why we have the John Deere Lister for sale, not that we think they are anywhere near as good as the Rock Island Tri-cycle, but the reason is simply this: Our competitor who is little in stature and smaller in principle has purchased from a local dealer a few Rock Island listers. The reason for this is they can sell but very few of their own so think they can make the public believe we are getting more for our goods than we should, so the fight is on you may be the judge.
Commencing March 26
 We call prices off and there may be a jolly time.
