FUNERAL OF A KING

REMAINS OF EDWARD VII REST BY THE ROYAL TOMB.

LONDON'S DAY OF MOURNING

State Ceremony Conducted According to Precedent, With Pomp of Middle Ages—Mr. Roosevelt in Procession.

London.—Sovereigns and representatives of the powers of the world paid a last tribute Friday to England's monarch, Edward VII, whose body now rests in St. George's chapel at Windsor castle, where the bones of Edward IV, the sixth and eighth Henrys, Charles I, the third and fourth Georges and William IV are entombed. Bright sunshine followed a night of thunder storms that swept the city and soaked the funeral decorations, but had no deterrent effect on the gathering of thousands, who from midnight until dawn sought points of vantage from which to watch the passing of the cortege.

Par surpassing the ceremony attending the removal of the king's body from Buckingham palace to Westminster hall, the procession included nine sovereigns, the former president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt, who alone was arrayed in non-uniform, the heirs to several thrones, the members of the royal family, the officers of the household, the officials of the government, field marshals, generals and admirals, whose names are synonymous with Britain's achievements in war, detachments of troops of all the British army and representatives of foreign armies and navies and variegated uniforms, a solid phalanx of glittering colors. The lines of red-coated soldiers were drawn as on that other great occasion of England's mourning nine years ago, with arms reversed and regimental flags dipped to the ground. The vast throngs along the streets were massed so tightly together that those once caught found it impossible to move. The great reviewing stands, covered with mourning emblems, were crowded, the rooftops black and through this multitude, from among whom not a whisper arose, the gun carriage which bore the king's body, moved to the strains of funeral marches, the tolling of bells and the booming of minute guns—very different from many another day when Edward, in the glory of his reign, went to meet his people and be acclaimed.

The order of precedence in the procession was governed by kinship, as related to the positions of the sovereigns, the special envoys of the United States and France occupied the eighth carriage and although ex-President Roosevelt was inconspicuous in the procession, King George gave him marked attention at the lunch at Windsor castle after the funeral, seating him, with eight other guests, at his own table. The German emperor sat with the queen mother and Queen Mary. That which impressed Mr. Roosevelt was the demeanor of the people, the solemn dignity of the ceremony.

From Paddington station the royal train carried the coffin and mourners to Windsor, while special trains were filled with officers and foreign representatives. Blue-jackets dragged the gun carriage through a line of purple to St. George's chapel and there simple services were said by the archbishops of Canterbury and York, assisted by other prelates. King George, with Alexandra on his arm, walked up the nave behind the coffin, with the German emperor and Queen Mary following.

King George, as the chief mourner, stood at the head of the casket. His majesty's body-guard of gentlemen-at-arms stood at the left of the bier with axes reversed. The funeral party filled the edifice and overflowed into the prince consort's chapel.

There was a moment of profound silence when positions had been taken and then the archbishops of Canterbury and the bishop of Winchester advanced to the casket. The choir chanted "Man that is born of woman" and the congregation recited the Lord's prayer, the low rumble of many voices being accompanied by Bonnod's music. The service of the church of England was followed throughout.

The archbishop of Canterbury pronounced the solemn benediction after which, with the bishop of Winchester, he knelt before the altar in a moment of silent prayer. As the clergy-men rose to their feet the hush was broken and the procession withdrew from the chapel in order of its entrance. The body of Edward VII remained before the altar, later to find a permanent resting place in the royal tomb house in Albert memorial chapel.

Memorial Services Held.
Washington.—President Taft, the members of his cabinet justices of the United States supreme court, the entire diplomatic corps and practically all of official Washington attended on Friday a service in memory of King Edward at St. John's Episcopal church. Because of the memorial services, the usual meeting of the cabinet was cancelled.

Berlin.—Memorial services for the late King Edward were held in the English church here Friday.

The Multitudes Fed

Sunday School Lesson for May 29, 1910

LESSON TEXT.—Matthew 14:13-21; 15:29-29. Memory verses, 19, 20.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Jesus said unto them, 'I am the bread of life.'"—John 6:35.

TIME.—The feeding of the 5,000 in the spring, A. D. 29; of the 4,000 a few weeks later, in the summer.

PLACE.—The first miracle at the northern end of the Sea of Galilee; the second further down on the east side, opposite Magdala (Magadan, Dalanutha).

Suggestion and Practical Thought.
The Sick Multitudes.—Matt. 14:13, 14; 15:29-31. These two miracles, though plainly separate, yet have so many resemblances that they may best be considered together, as if in parallel columns; and we must combine the accounts of all the evangelists.

On what occasion were the five thousand fed? Our Lord had just heard of the tragic death of John the Baptist, and when he heard of it, he "departed thence" (the place in which the news reached him is not named) "by ship into a desert place apart." He was filled with sadness at this murder of his cousin and herald. Moreover, the event was an indication of the perils amid which he himself walked, and he may have withdrawn to avoid them, for his hour had not yet come. Besides, Herod sought to see him (Luke), and we may be sure that Christ had no desire to see Herod. Mark also tells us that the disciples had just returned from their preaching tour through Galilee, and Jesus withdrew that they might rest and that he might give them further instruction in quiet as well as talk over their experiences with them. All these motives coincided.

What miracles preceded the two feedings of the multitude? In each case a great crowd gathered around Jesus. In these cases those thronging faces were particularly eloquent, for so many of them were suffering faces. There were the lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, all cast down at Jesus' feet.

What was the result of this healing? What it should be whenever Christ blesses men: "The multitude wondered. . . and they glorified the God of Israel." They were ready to listen with all their hearts to Christ's teaching, and remained persistently, the five thousand all day and the four thousand for three days.

The Hungry Multitudes.—Matt. 14: 15; 15:32. "Our Lord's compassion was moved by more than the sicknesses of the multitudes; by what? By their hunger. In the first instance the crowd were passover pilgrims, in large part (John 6:4), with no homes near-by to which to go. In the second case the multitude were in their own country, but the villages were few in the Decapolis.

The second miracle, with so many circumstances like the first, has been considered by certain critics to be only the first miracle disguised by a different tradition. But there are pointed differences that rule out the idea.

The Challenge to Faith.—Matt. 14: 16-15; 15:33, 34. Who suggested feeding the multitudes? Jesus, in each case. John tells of an earlier conversation with Philip, in which our Lord asked that disciple, whose faith seemingly had special need of strengthening (see John 14:8, 9), "Whence are we to buy bread, that these may eat?" But John, ever careful to guard his Master from misunderstanding, adds that Jesus said this merely to test Philip, since he himself knew well what miracle was to come.

What supplies were available for feeding these nine thousand and more? In the first case, only a lad's simple luncheon, consisting of five loaves (or rather, round flat-cakes, like large crackers) or coarse barley bread, together with two of the little dried or pickled fishes caught by millions in the lake and eaten along with the bread. In the second case, seven "loaves" could be mustered and a few of these little fishes.

The Hungry Fed.—Matt. 14:19-21; 15:35-39.—How did the Saviour arrange the multitude? In an orderly way on the grass, in "garden plots."

What was the first step in the miracle? In each case Christ asked a blessing, in accordance with his custom; thus "instructing us not to touch a meal until we had given thanks to him who giveth us this food."—Chrysostom.

What was the second step in the miracle? Christ broke off pieces of the bread and gave them to the disciples, for them to give to the multitude. This was the least ostentatious way of performing the wonder.

What was the third step in the miracle? The separate giving of the fishes (see Mark). "Some would give the poor only the barest necessities, bread only; our Lord adds fish."—Spurgeon.

What was the last step in the miracle? Preserving for future use, at Christ's command (John 6:12), the fragments of the feast.

Gather up the fragments of opportunity, as "Uncle John Vassar" did. One day, waiting for a friend in a Boston hotel, he determined not to waste the time and went right up to a fashionably dressed lady, beginning, in spite of her haughty repulses, to speak with her about Christ and the new birth. He read the Bible to her and offered prayer. Later, with tears in her eyes, she told her husband about it. He asked, "Why didn't you tell him it was none of his business?" She replied, "Dear, if you had been there and heard him, you would have thought it was his business!"

After returning home, I was under a physician's care for months, but grew gradually worse. Finally I got so bad I could not hold the urine at all. I also had intense suffering from back pains. Doan's Kidney Pills made improvement from the first, and soon I was well and strong."

A Quick Cat.

Some years ago the proprietor of a hotel in southern New Hampshire told the following story: He said that when he was a boy he had occasion to go into the garret of his house one morning and that the family cat followed him up the stairs. One of the windows was open, and when they entered the garret a frightened mouse jumped out of the window, and the cat, jumping after it, caught it in mid-air and, whirling round, jumped back again into the same window.

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a shallow check, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

For the Critics.
Creston Clark, whose untimely death at Asheville robbed America of a serious and capable actor, was somewhat impatient of criticism. To a Philadelphia critic he once said: "You chaps are unwilling to accept a man for what he is. You want to change him to your own taste. But each of you has a different taste. To whose inclination, then, is he to bend?"

"No, no! Take the artist for what he is. That is the right critical attitude. Don't be like the farm urchin I once saw—an urchin who, as he stoned a frog to death, repeated severely: " 'Til I arn ye to be a toad.'"

Appreciation.

"That successful poker player certainly paid a tribute to his winning game when he selected his handsome home."

"How so?"
"Don't you know he built it on a bluff?"

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"My daughter was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, head and limbs, and could walk but a short distance at a time. She came very near having nervous prostration, had begun to cough a good deal, and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills she has improved so much that she feels and looks like another girl."—Mrs. C. Cole, Fitchville, Ohio.

Irasburg, Vermont.—"I feel it my duty to say a few words in praise of your medicine. When I began taking it I had been very sick with kidney and bladder troubles and nervous prostration. I am now taking the sixth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find myself greatly improved. My friends who call to see me have noticed a great change."—Mrs. A. H. Sanborn, Irasburg, Vermont.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.
