

Shallenberger and Hitchcock

Incomplete Returns Indicate Renomination of Governor--Hitchcock also Wins.

Aldrich Republican Choice for Governor and Senator Burkett Wins Renomination--Local Results.

The Chief has positive and direct information at noon today (Thursday) that assures the renomination of Governor Shallenberger by 3,000 over Dahlman. This comes to us by phone from a personal friend at Lincoln and may be relied on as authoritative, as far as is possible in the absence of complete returns.

While early returns of the primary election indicated that Dahlman had won the nomination by heavy voting in the eastern part of the state and that he would win by a substantial majority, and while the friends of the Omaha mayor were congratulating each other over a splendid victory of the liberal forces later returns do not leave the result so much that way as had been anticipated. When Douglas county rolled up a tremendous majority for Dahlman, Plattsburgh coming in strong with almost as much of a lead, Lancaster giving Dahlman 500 over Shallenberger, and other returns equally optimistic for the liberals, the mayor's friends concluded the victory was won. When the returns from the state at large began to roll in the Shallenberger stock began to look up. In the southwestern part of the state his majorities are tremendous. In the northeast he is more than holding it level, a locality on which Dahlman counted strongly. Otoe county, which was considered as altogether for Dahlman, was about neck and neck be-

Home! What a hallowed name: how full of enchantment and how dear to every heart. How it touches every fibre of the soul and strikes every cord of the human heart with its angelic fingers. Nothing but death can break the spell. What tender associations are linked with home. What pleasing images and deep emotions it awakens. It calls upon the fondest memories of life, and opens in our nature the purest, deepest, richest, gush of consecrated thought and feeling. Home, home. There is no place like home. Home of our childhood. How affection clings and hovers round thee with her seraph wings.

A Father's Sorrow.
 Mr. M. H. Crippen of Los Angeles, Calif., father of Dr. Crippen, who is being taken back to England to stand trial for the murder of his wife. Thus pours out the anguish of his soul: "I have not the money to go to Hawley, but if I had I would gladly go and be of what ever consolation I might be to him. I have not received a word from him and do not expect to. It is hard to have to be alone and suffer, but I don't think it will last long. I am not long for this world. I feel as if I would like to go away alone and die. I did my best to educate Hawley, and his son. I did the best I could and now in my old age I am alone and overwhelmed by this disgrace."

The words of the stricken old man recall the pathetic lament of David over Absalom. Sad that the son did not think of his poor old father when he was yielding to the temptations that resulted in this international crime! But the publicity given to Dr. Crippen's flight will serve as a useful purpose. It will teach anew, first, that the wages of sin is death. Second, that there is little hope of escape from the officers of the law, and none whatever from the lashes of conscience. Third, that one does not live into himself alone.

If the child would only think of the parent and the parent's indissoluble connection with all that affects the child's career there would be less of sorrow in the old home. And there is a lesson for the parent, too. It is not sufficient to "educate" the children--moral development must go hand in hand with mental growth. The child must learn that there is more in life than money and physical enjoyment--there is duty. No person is safe until he understands that he was created for a purpose, that he must learn and pursue that purpose, conscious at all times of his responsibility to God for every thought and word and act. If Dr. Crippen's father did not sufficiently emphasize the moral element in his son's development his grief will be the more bitter now; if the fault is entirely with the son the fact that he rejected his father's advice will make his present punishment more acute. —The Commoner.

 Rumors of Dahlman's nomination have been in circulation until many were led to believe the reports would be definitely confirmed today (Thursday) but at noon there appears to be sufficient returns from the interior of the state to assure a safe lead for Shallenberger. Hitchcock, has the Democratic and Burkett the Republican nomination for United States Senator.
 C. H. Aldrich will lead the Republican ticket, having a substantial lead over A. E. Cady. Indications lead to believe that Sutherland is the Democratic nominee for Congressman in this district.
 Election returns are very slow in coming. And since there were no contests in our party in the county all our candidates are nominated. Indications show that Hartwell is nominated on the republican ticket for representative and Saylor for county attorney. Nothing definite on Hagood and Richard for float. Next week we will give the full returns.

Teacher and Teaching.
 The first thing to be done in teaching is to get up interest. Without interest there will be little attention, and without attention there can be but slow progress. To make a machine of a child will not do, though there is much of the mechanical in learning the rudiments. But all the more is it necessary to awaken an interest. To interest a child is to enlighten its mind, to make it active, in other words impressive. The truths will be more easily retained and may be made indelible; otherwise they are fleeting and soon forgotten.
 Another thing is emulation: a desire to be good as your fellow—to excel him. This is laudable, and we find it to some extent in school. We are not of those who approve of remunerating merit, offering rewards, using flattery and reproaches. There may be use for these means, but they should be sparingly indulged in.
 Another grand essential is to get up an honorable ambition, if possible. This is worth all the rest, which at most are but expedients. Begin on a good foundation and build as the material requires. Here the discernment of the teacher comes in: he must know his scholar. He must measure his capacity, note his weaknesses, and go on the right side of the pupil. A teacher beloved is half the battle won; hated or feared there is little progress. A soft word turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger, even in a child, and fear, which is worse than anger. Love does wonders with a child. It is what the mother has, and the teacher but takes the place of the mother. The teacher's moral quality therefore is of account as well as his intellectual attainments. If he has no government over himself, how can he be expected to govern others. We therefore insist that the qualifications of a teacher should consist of good morals, and be well disciplined; having a good knowledge of human child-like nature, possessing patience, tact and a ready delivery; impressive and winning in his speech if possible, willing to sacrifice, in love with his calling, interested himself in it; patient, happy, cheerful and hopeful.

A Boy's Composition.
 "A school ma'am is a verb because she denotes action when you throw paper wads at the girls. Switch is a conjunction and is used to connect the verb school ma'am to the noun girl. This is a compound sentence, of which boy is the subject and switch is the object. First, person singular number and awful case. A school ma'am is different from a boy, a boy wears pants and a school ma'am wears her hair banged all over her forehead. She puts paint on her face and some big fellows come and take her home. Ma says a school ma'am never gets to be older than eighteen until she gets married. It takes two school ma'ams a day to cook a dinner."

As yet we have seen no indication of that uptown express and telegraph office. No one denies that it would be a great convenience and we ought to have it. If the Burlington really desires to give us first class service it would establish an uptown office at once.

Fight your own battles. Hoe your own row. Ask no favors of anyone and you'll succeed a thousand times better than one who is always beseeching some one's interest and patronage. No one will ever help you as you help yourself, because no one will be so heartily interested in your affairs, the first step will not be such a long one, perhaps; by carving your own way up the mountain each step leads to another, and stand while you chop still another out.

Now that it has been proven that the Chautauqua can be maintained here so as to pay a profit each year we think that it is time to organize a local company and conduct the enterprise ourselves. Every year it has been a financial success so that there ought not to be any hesitancy on that account. The money used each year for fixing the grounds and the hiring of a tent would build an auditorium which would be permanent. Fifty people with fifty dollars apiece could maintain and conduct a first class chautauqua assembly here without the possibility of a doubt. We ought to do it.

There was only one thing to mar the pleasures of the chautauqua and that was the selling of drinks and confections on the ground on Sunday. We had a feeling that this did not harmonize with the day and we were not surprised when many others mentioned the matter to us. There is enough laxness connected in these times with Sunday therefore the chautauque ought to set a good example in this as in other fields of reform. Of what use is it to hold up to us high ideals of citizenship and by example disregard the sanctity of Sunday? We trust that in the future this feature of the arrangements will be omitted.

The Blue Hill Boosters know how to boost. They have the same vim and energy, the same winsome greeting and friendliness as the clubs that come from Omaha or Kansas City. We were much impressed with the thoroughness with which they performed their work while here Tuesday. Everybody in the four counties will know that Blue Hill will have a big time on the 25, 26 and 27 of this month and everybody around here is wishing that it will be possible to be on hand and help enjoy all the good things which Blue Hill has to offer. We trust that this will be the biggest most profitable and enjoyable season ever held in that progressive city. Success to you.

The advantages derived from a chautauqua are many. As far as the individual is concerned he receives new aspirations and ideals, has something to think about and returns to his labor with a broader vision of life. Eight days vacation is certainly not long for anyone and the cost is small. We heard one person say that a vacation that did not cost but two dollars was the kind that he could afford once a year at least.

The city is a gainer because it brings the very best class of visitors. There is no need of spending extra money for police protection because chautauqua visitors are law abiding and really honor the city by their attendance. They appreciate the fact that Red Cloud is striving for things worth while. As an advertisement the chautauqua has no equal.

The big public question, this year will be road improvement. It seems strange that there would be any "opposition party" to those who want better roads, but if you think there is no opposition, start a road campaign in your locality and find out. As a matter of fact, the road problem is of far more importance to the farmer than either the tariff or silver questions. A good road costs money. It is a business investment requiring a large outlay of cash at first, and the interest on this investment comes back not only directly in the form of cash, but indirectly, as the farmer along the road is able to save horse power in hauling his crops to market. The chief question is, how is the money to be raised? Who is to handle and pay it out? It is a financial matter rather than a question of engineering skill. It ought to be debated and re-debated in every schoolhouse in the land.
