ANNUAL OF EDITORS

THIRTY-NINTH YEARLY SESSION IS HELD IN OMAHA.

FEASTING AND FUN GALORE

Editors and Wives Given Hearty Welcome and Treated to the Best in the Metropolis.

New Officers of the N. P. A. Newly elected officers of the Nebraska Press Association are:

John M. Tanner, president, South Omaha.

H. G. Taylor, vice-president, Central City.

C. C. Johns, secretary-treasurer, Grand Island.

Miss Eunice Haskins, corresponding secretary, Stella.

The thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Nebraska Press association, held in Omaha, June 5, 6 and 7 was largely attended, editors with their wives and sweethearts being present from all sections of the state.

Some of them came 500 miles and all of them brought the results in experience of another years work in chronicling the happenings of every city, big and little, in the state.

On the floor of the assembly hall the women were numerically stronger, because, while every married editor brought his family, there were some women who conduct newspapers themselves, and with these present the fair sex predominated.

Omaha newspaper interests welcomed the visitors through Roger Craven of the World-Herald. "It is not distance that lends enchantment to the country editor," said Mr. Craven.

"Seeing you here convinces us that you look the part you are credited with playing in leading the thought of the state. We welcome you most heartily to the metropolis of the state and hope to make your visit one of pleasure and profit."

A. B. Wood of the Gering Courier, president of the association, delivered his annual address and urged more zeal and enthusiasm in the work of the association.

The welcome of Omaha to the visiting journalists was extended on behalf of the city by Mayor Dahlgren and for the Commercial club by G. E. Haverstick, chairman of the executive committee.

At noon Monday the men were entertained at luncheon at the Henshaw as guests of the Omaha Daily News and the visiting women were similarly feted at the Loyal by the American Press association.

Monday evening the Nebraska newspapermen, members of the Nebraska Press association, fittingly opened King Ak-Sar-Ben's seventeenth ceremonial season at the Den. Eight hundred men assembled to enjoy the festivities as presented in the show.

Colonel T. W. McCullough of The Bee, took the gavel after the knights had taken the oath of fealty before the high tribunal. Colonel McCullough declared that a bright prospect was in view for Ak-Sar-Ben and urged every knight to get out and boost.

Each editor who spoke showed his training in listening to long speeches by refusing to talk more than three or four minutes, but each one had a bright thought at his tongue's end.

Frank D. Reed, editor of the Shelton Clipper, "the paper which put out an extra for the Omaha Boosters on their trip," avowed his belief in Nebraska and declared he had been preaching the gospel of this state.

C. W. Pool, ex-speaker of the Nebraska house of representatives and editor of the Tecumseh Journal-Tribune, thanked the Omaha people for the entertainment given the editors and voted that Omaha had more than fulfilled its promises of a good time to the editors if they would come here.

Senator J. M. Tanner of South Omaha, also spoke briefly to the meeting in behalf of both the editors to Omaha and of Omaha to the editors.

E. E. Correll, of Hebron, voiced the general spirit of gladness that was with the crowd of editors, thanking the Ak-Sar-Ben and Omaha business men for the entertainment and consideration given them, and declaring that the Nebraska Press association would be more than glad to repeat its visit to Omaha on the strength of the first day's meeting here.

On Tuesday South Omaha and the management of the Union Stock yards vied successfully with the hospitable efforts of Omaha in the entertainment of the Press association, which held its second day session Tuesday in the Live Stock exchange at the Union Stock yards.

Over 100 editors with the ladies of their families arrived from Omaha immediately before noon in special cars. The company was immediately escorted to the Union Stock yards.

Rome Miller Welcomes Editors. Rome Miller bid the editors three welcome in behalf of Omaha and advocated the "get together" spirit.

"Demagogues and politicians have attempted from time to time to blacken the fair name of Omaha. I am certain that no city in the union with the same population has cleaner morals than our city, and men who know have told me that nowhere is the standard of morality so high among the business men as in Omaha," declared the hotel man. Help us, he said, that we may get our own charter.

Distinguished Newspaper Woman. The attendance of women at the Nebraska Press convention in Omaha was very large, but the proud distinction of owning and conducting a newspaper all by her self belongs to one of the feminine visitors. Miss Chattie Coleman, of Stromsburg, Neb., is the sole owner, proprietor, editor-in-chief, business manager and advertising manager of the Stromsburg Headlight, and she confesses that she has cleaned rollers, set up ads and about everything else that is to be done on a newspaper.

where the visitors were taken in a tour of inspection through the different departments of the great plant. At 12:30 a dainty lunch was served in the dining hall of the Exchange building, where about 400 of the visitors partook of the company's hospitality.

After dinner 700 employees of the Union Stock yards deployed before the visitors. A photograph of the assembly was then taken, after which the ladies of the party were taken for a trip to Fort Crook and the delegates retired to the Exchange dining room for a business session. Officers were elected as above given.

At the lunch, Senator J. M. Tanner, of South Omaha, acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers. Senator Tanner, in behalf of the men engaged in the live stock industry, the local newspaper men, the South Omaha Commercial club, the bankers, merchants and citizens in general cordially welcomed the Nebraska visitors.

Bruce McCulloch, editor of the Journal-Stockman, paid a high tribute to the womanhood of the state, whom, he said, had done their full part in making Nebraska what it is today.

James H. Van Dusen, in a neat speech paid a tribute to the honorable profession of the press, of which, he said, he had one time been a member.

When the business session convened Charles C. Rosewater, general manager of the Omaha Bee, took up the subject of "Advertising." Mr. Rosewater went into practical details of the business, and his address was listened to with close attention.

The speaker said that while the association had a social side, it was certainly not the main object of the delegates. He declared that newspapers live by their advertising, no matter how high their editorial ideals may be. Advertising was a matter of paramount importance and the possible source for a large amount of revenue to any publisher.

Will M. Maupin, of Lincoln, read a paper entitled "Nebraska as it should be known." The paper was replete with information on the state and closed with a poem.

Several motions in favor of the publicity bill were voted down because of the rule of the association forbidding interference in questions of a political nature. Will Maupin put the association on record as favoring a bureau of publicity and reform.

Through gatherings like the editors' convention, Mr. Hammond avowed, the people of the state and the metropolis are brought to a better understanding.

Mr. Hammond decried what he termed was an attitude of fear for the point of view of the press toward capital that was implied in Mr. Wadley's address.

"As the press becomes acquisitive, it becomes conservative. What I mean is that the prosperous press of today will treat property rights with all due respect," Mr. Hammond said.

Festivities at the Field club broke up at a late hour and the editors were automobiled back to the city for rest preparatory to the work of Wednesday, which will bring adjournment of the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Nebraska Press association.

On Wednesday the system or organization proposed in the morning by F. O. Edgecombe for the Nebraska Press association was provisionally adopted at the afternoon session. The plan provides for a permanent secretary, who shall be the present incumbent, C. C. Johns, of Grand Island. The membership is to be divided into two classes. All members who want the benefit of the work of the paid secretary shall subscribe to a fund to maintain the office. In towns under 1,000 people they shall pay $6 a year; in towns up to 4,000, $12, and in larger towns than 4,000, $15.

The memorial committee reported resolutions of sorrow for the death of H. C. Wells, of Crete, Rosa Hudspeth, of Stuart, Mrs. D. H. Cronin, of O'Neill, and Mrs. C. C. Johns, of Grand Island.

C. C. Johns, who has begun his fourth term as secretary, was given a handsome gold watch as a token of appreciation. A resolution was adopted against the printing of envelopes by the government in competition with local offices, and resolutions of thanks were passed for all the people who have contributed to the entertainment of the convention.

Colonel T. W. McCullough, of the Omaha Bee, delivered the farewell address, which he said was no farewell, but a passing greeting until the next occasion. At the morning and afternoon sessions a number of addresses were made and papers read. A. W. Ladd, of the Albion News, conducted a round table.

A luncheon was given at noon at the Rome hotel, and in the early evening at the same place the editors were regaled with song and joke as the closing festivity of what was considered by the visitors as the most successful convention in the history of the meetings of the Nebraska Press association. The three days' session wound up with a luncheon given by the Omaha Ad club in the summer garden of the Rome hotel.

A trial package of Munyon's Paw Paw Pills will be sent free to anyone on request. Address Professor Munyon, 53d & Jefferson Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. If you are in need of medical advice, do not fail to write Professor Munyon. Your communication will be treated in strict confidence, and your case will be diagnosed as carefully as though you had a personal interview.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour, they do not grip, they do not weaken, but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation.

In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are 26 feet of human bowels, which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged the whole system becomes poisoned, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produce rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation or any liver ailment can expect to have a clear complexion or enjoy good health.

If I had my way I would prohibit the sale of nine-tenths of the cathartics that are now being sold for the reason that they soon destroy the lining of the stomach, setting up serious forms of indigestion, and so paralyze the bowels that they refuse to act unless forced by strong purgatives.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverish it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope; they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic.

Regular size bottle, containing 45 pills, 25 cents. Munyon's Laboratory, 53d & Jefferson Sts., Philadelphia.
